HOYNE RAIDS CITY HALL

HUGHES' REPLY TO DR. ELIOT HITS WILSON

RAPS FALSE PLEDGES.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 10.—Charles E. Hughes, speaking in the great armory here where Woodrow Wilson first was nominated for the presidency, tonight assailed Mr. Wilson's policy as president toward the promotion of American trade abroad, and replied to published statements of Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard, indorsing the president's policy.

"Dr. Eliot pierces the heart of the matter," Mr. Hughes said, "and he finds that the record of the administration means this: 'No intervention by force of arms to protect on foreign soil American commercial and manufacturing adventurers who of their own free will have invested their money or risked their lives in foreign parts under alien jurisdiction.'

"MEN WHO SERVE WORLD."

"Think of the import of that, you who represent the best genius of the world and are thinking of using it abroad. Think of that, you who, it is suggested, are to be asked to finance the chief undertakings of the world. Think of that, merchants, salesmen, tellers, clerks, and dealers, who in 'serving the world' take your place remote from your friends and safeguards, in communities where revolutions are frequent and only the respect for your flag and the power it symbolizes may stand between you and ruin, or even death."

Mr. Hughes read the Democratic platform plank of 1912, declaring for the protection of American rights abroad, and asked if it were "molasses to catch flies." He declared that the protection it promised had been "deliberately and deplorably refused." He quoted from a recent speech of the president outlining the administration's ideas with respect to the development abroad of American enterprise and asserted that it was impossible to "square the fine words now used with the actions" of the administration.

DEVELOPMENT SCORNED.

"Dollar diplomacy," Mr. Hughes said, "was what encouragement to the development of American interests abroad was dubbed, something shockingly reprehensible."

"In consequence I may say," the nominee added, "that in respect to American interests abroad we have had not only diplomacy without dollars but diplomacy without sense.

"During the last three years and a half one would suppose that any American who went to foreign lands to advance American industry and commerce was presumably a bad fellow who had lost his rights. Protect him? Why, didn't he go abroad to make money? Didn't he take his American enterprise beyond our borders? What a shameless proceeding! Let him stew in his own juice! Or let him come home! That is the sort of encouragement Americans have had.

FINE WORDS STILL COME.

"We now hear fine words as to our duties to the world. We are told that we are now to serve the world, that we have the best genius in the world, but 'we have never thought of using that genius outside our own markets.' It is said that we may have provided machinery for branch banks abroad.

"But what avails such words when we do not protect American lives and American property abroad? The adequate protection of American citizens and their interests abroad according to their right under international law is the cornerstone of a policy to promote American enterprise throughout the world. This protection has been deliberately and deplorably refused by this administration."

Mr. Hughes then quoted Dr. Eliot.

"President Eliot says the administration has gone far to establish nonintervention by force of arms for the protection of miners and commercial adventurers in foreign parts as the American policy," Mr. Hughes continued. "If you want to have a concrete example of that policy, look at the record in Mexico."

WAR NOT A NECESSITY.

"A self-respecting policy, worthy of the American name, maintaining American honor, assuring protection to the

Baker Slugged, Cut Rate Bread Cause, He Says

Louis Becker Complains to Federal and City Authorities.

HE RUNS TWO STORES

Complaint was made to the federal and city authorities yesterday against a west side association of bakers. Louis Becker, the owner of two west side bake shops, charges that he was slugged and suspects the slugger attacked him because he had refused to raise the price of bread.

Becker sells bread in his two shops at 847 Maxwell street and 1502 South St. Louis avenue for 4 cents a pound. He says the master bakers want him to raise his price to 6 cents a pound.

Refused to Join.

"A month ago I attended a meeting in a hall at St. Louis avenue and Twelfth street," Becker said last night. "Members of the association asked me to pay $125 for a membership and I refused. They told me I would regain this amount and make much money by the increase of prices which they said they were going to put into effect. I told them that I was making a good living and was satisfied and would not increase my prices."

"Then they ordered me out of the hall and told me that I would be forced to raise my prices."

Three Men Enter Store.

"Yesterday afternoon three men entered my store at 1502 South St. Louis avenue, and while two of them guarded the door the other man blacked my eyes. A short time later one of these men told my son that I had been beaten because I had refused to join the association."

Becker has sworn out a warrant for assault and tomorrow policemen will be detailed from the Maxwell street station to guard his stores.

He said that the same crew of sluggers had beaten Sam Levin in his bakery at 1307 Millard avenue for refusing to raise the price of bread to 6 cents a loaf.

TWO AMERICANS KILLED BY GERMAN FIRE IN BRUSSELS.

U. S. Minister Investigating Fatalities Attending Attempt to Shoot Down British Airship.

AMSTERDAM, via London, Oct. 11, 6:22 a. m.—Two Americans have been killed in the Avenue Georges Henri, Brussels, by German gunfire directed against British aeroplanes, according to the Echo Belge. The paper says that the American minister at Brussels is in possession of pieces of the projectiles and is conducting an investigation.

LOLITA ARMOUR BUYS HOME.

J. Ogden Armour's Daughter Pays $150,000 for 20 Acre Winter Place at Santa Barbara.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 10.—One of Santa Barbara's show places, the forty-five acre estate of Charles P. Eaton of Montecito, has been purchased by Miss Lolita Armour of Chicago. The consideration is stated as $150,000. The place was bought as a winter home, according to the real estate operator who negotiated the deal. The Armour family for several seasons has occupied a bungalow at Elmirasol, the ultra-exclusive Santa Barbara suburb. Miss Armour, from residence at Santa Barbara, has become a golf and polo enthusiast and spends much time on the Montecito golf links.

BERLIN MAY BE WARNED: 'SHUN WATERS OF U. S.'

REJECT PLEA OF ALLIES

(By the Associated Press.)

Long Branch, N. J., Oct. 10.—President Wilson and Secretary of State Lansing discussed in detail at Shadow Lawn tonight the German submarine attacks on merchantmen Sunday off the New England coast. The conference lasted until late tonight and will be continued tomorrow morning.

It was indicated by officials today that facts so far collected through government agencies have disclosed no grounds for drastic action by the United States government because of the attacks themselves. No evidence has been found that international law was violated by the German submarine or submarines.

MAY WARN GERMANY.

It was understood, however, that the president and secretary discussed the wisdom of pointing out to Germany the inadvisability of operating her submarines in close proximity to the territorial waters of the United States.

Administration officials took the position that the transferring of submarine warfare so close to America's shores was fraught with grave danger because of the possibility of mistakes being made by submarine commanders. Reports that strong sentiment exists in Germany for the resumption of submarine warfare on a broader scale caused some alarm among officials.

REJECT ALLIES' PROTEST.

The announcement of Counsellor Polk of the state department in Washington today that the United States had refused to accept the contention of the entente allies that neutrals should deny the use of their harbors to all submarines preceded the arrival of Secretary Lansing here.

The American reply to the entente note was sent on Aug. 3 and was a curt refusal of the demand that this government deny harborage to belligerent submarines. Its text was withheld from the public until today on the president's orders. The president and Secretary Lansing went over the note in tonight's conference.

The arrival of James W. Gerard, American ambassador to Berlin, in New York shortly before Mr. Lansing left that city for Shadow Lawn added interest to the meeting between the president and Mr. Lansing because of the fact that the secretary saw Mr. Gerard at luncheon in New York.

CITE PROTEST TO BRITAIN.

In discussions of the submarine attacks on Sunday, officials here referred to diplomatic correspondence between the United States and Great Britain beginning in 1914, in which the American government protested against the patrolling of the American coast outside the three mile limit by British warships. This was pointed to as providing a precedent for protesting against the proximity of German submarines to the American coast.

In the correspondence with Great Britain, the United States took the position that it always had maintained that patrolling by belligerent cruisers in "proximity" to ports of the United States was inconsistent with the treatment to be expected from the vessels of a friendly power in time of war. Great Britain did not admit the legal correctness of the position of the United States, but promised to do everything possible to avoid annoying American shipping. While no formal announcement was made, it was considered probable the United States would take a position with regard to German submarine operations similar to that assumed in connection with the warships' coast patrolling.

STILL GATHER EVIDENCE.

There was absolutely no indication that the president and Secretary Lansing had any ground for thinking Germany had violated its promises not to

Yarrow Advises Them to Turn Bars Into Lunch Rooms.

LESSON IN RUSSIA

"The Tribune" last night received the following statement:

TO THE SALOONKEEPERS OF THE CITY OF CHICAGO.

Gentlemen: The Dry Chicago federation is frankly planning to put you out of business. The use of intoxicating liquors has been condemned in the court of the world's intelligence as one of the chief causes of crime, child misery, home wreckage, poverty, disease, and premature death.

When a prohibition law in enforced as it is in communities where the saloon influence has not demoralized and debauched the sacred functions of government, it has always had undeniable beneficent results. We admit that prohibition does not entirely prevent the sale of liquor. No law prohibiting anything in all the history of mankind has resulted in absolute suppression of the thing prohibited.

Results in Russia.

In Russia, after fourteen months of prohibition, these remarkable results are reported:

Crime (all kinds) has decreased 62 per cent.

Absenteeism in factories has fallen 60 per cent.

Suicide rate has dropped enormously.

Efficiency in factories increased 10 to 15 per cent.

Practically every inhabitant is at work.

Savings deposits have increased 8 per cent.

Fire damage has fallen off 38 per cent.

Wages in some districts raised 500 per cent. (This applies to peasants working as day laborers.)

People are eating better and costlier food.

Better clothing is worn by the poorer classes.

Open Campaign Oct. 16.

Now gentlemen, on the 16th of October the Dry Chicago federation begins a campaign which will make Chicago dry in the spring election of 1918. On that day at noon in the Hotel La Salle Bishop Thomas Nicholson is to be introduced as the president of the Dry Chicago federation and Richmond P. Hobson will deliver the keynote address of our campaign.

May we advise you to begin at this time to rearrange your own plans? The more decent among your number may with profit turn your saloons into restaurants and social centers with popular club features. With such a change and with a clean, efficient management, there is no reason why you should have any loss of revenue. With the lawless, indecent saloonkeeper we have no interest. Most sincerely yours,

PHILIP YARROW,
Superintendent Dry Chicago Federation.

CLEMENT STUDEBAKER III. BADLY HURT IN AUTO CRASH.

Son of South Bend Manufacturer Sent to Private Hospital at Cambridge, Mass.

Arlington, Mass., Oct. 10.—Clement Studebaker III., son of Clement Studebaker Jr., manufacturer, of South Bend, Ind., was seriously injured here today when an automobile which he was driving collided with a car driven by Vincent St. Denis of West Medford.

Studebaker, who is a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was taken to a private hospital in Cambridge.

St. Denis escaped with minor injuries. Both cars were badly damaged.

CITY MUST REMOVE ASHES.

Size of Apartment Building Makes No Difference, Judge Walker Rules.

Judge Walker decided yesterday that the city has to remove ashes from all apartment buildings regardless of the number of flats they contain, unless it amends the present ordinance.

Since 1891 owners of buildings containing more than five flats had to remove the ashes at their own expense.

The decision was given in a mandamus proceeding brought by George J. Williams, owner of a building at 4744-4760 Vincennes avenue, which contains twenty-seven apartments.

MARRIED WOMAN TAKES HONORS IN LAW SCHOOL.

Mrs. Belle Spencer of Chicago Heights Gets Average of 98½, Highest for Kent Freshmen.

Mrs. Mary Belle Spencer, wife of Dr. Richmond Van Spencer of 1445 Fifth avenue, Chicago Heights, hung up a new record for herself at the Chicago Kent College of Law. She won first honors in the freshman class with an average of 98½.

"This is the first instance of a married woman winning highest honors in any class in the school," said Guy Guernsey, secretary of the college, last night.

"It was not very hard," said Mrs. Spencer last night. "I did not have to neglect my home, nor weary my eyes with excessive study. I love the study of law, and hope some day soon to hang out my shingle in Chicago and do all I can for humanity. Most of my studying I did on the train going to and from Chicago Heights."

KINDERGARTENS IN ALL SCHOOLS

Trustees Vote to Install Rooms for the Young All Over the City.

Every public school in Chicago is to have a kindergarten. The finance committee voted unanimously yesterday to add kindergartens to the schools which do not have them now. In many schools which have half day kindergartens all day sessions will be established so that every child in Chicago may find a kindergarten in its neighborhood.

Acting Superintendent of Schools Charles D. Lowry said the action of the committee established a red letter day in the history of the school system.

Make It Regular Feature.

"It will make the kindergarten a regular feature of all of our schools," he said.

Part of the money may come from a $15,000 appropriation planned for the health department in taking cultures from school children. The recommendation has been on the point of passing at several sessions, but nearly every member of the finance committee turned against it. Action was deferred for two weeks because of the absence of Mrs. F. E. Thornton, chairman of the health and sanitation committee.

More Get Kindergartens.

Kindergartens will be established in the following schools for the first time:

Beaubien, Burke branch, Crerar, Grant, Keeler Avenue, Key, Le Moyne, Nettlehorst, Reilly, O. A. Thorp, and Yates.

Two sessions will be established in the following, most of which have long waiting lists of children anxious to get into kindergarten:

Audubon, Budlong, Chicago Lawn, Columbus, Darwin, Felsenthal, Field, Irving, Lawson, Lewis-Champlin, McLaren, Nixon, Park Manor, Peirce, Ravenswood, Riis, Shields, Waters, and Whitney.

Charles R. Young objected to the proposal to give the health department $15,000 for its work in the schools.

"I don't think this expense ought to be loaded on the board," he said. "The city ought to pay for this work."

Action was deferred two weeks until Mrs. Thornton could be present.

Plan Branch Libraries.

Quarters for branches of the public library will be provided in public school buildings to be built in the future, if plans discussed at a meeting of members of the library board and the school board are followed.

BERNHARDT'S PATH STREWN WITH FLOWERS ON ARRIVAL

Will Not Present War Play in the United States—Two Chicago Opera Singers on Same Boat.

New York, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Mme. Sarah Bernhardt arrived today on the Espagne after a three years' absence from America. Bundled snugly in a warm civet coat and in excellent spirits, the actress was carried down the gangplank by four proud French sailors while a group of young society girls scattered flowers in her path.

After a short rest Mme. Bernhardt took the train for Montreal. She said she would not present "Les Cathedrals" in the United States because of her promise to do nothing which would disturb a neutral country.

Also passengers on the Espagne were Lina Cavalieri, the Italian prima donna, on her way to Chicago, where she will join the Chicago-Philadelphia opera company; Maria Montessori, founder of the school of child education bearing her name, and Charles Dalmores, the tenor of the Chicago Opera company.

SHOOTS SELF WHILE WALKING WITH GIRL.

Clyde A. Briegel, One of Cabareting Quartet, Wounds Self Probably Fatally; Taken to Hospital.

Clyde A. Briegel, 30 years old, of 6227 Dorchester avenue, a traveling salesman, shot himself in the side last night while walking with Miss Alice Learn of 1323 East Sixtieth street, in East Sixtieth street between Dorchester and Kenwood avenues. A short distance ahead of them were Duane Morithop of 4811 Lake Park avenue and Miss Sarah Dunlevy of 6009 Harper avenue. The four had been cabareting.

Briegel was probably fatally wounded. He was taken to the Illinois Central hospital.

A watchman whose name the police did not learn is reported to have heard Miss Learn say as an explanation to him for the shooting that Briegel had shot himself after she had rejected his proposal of marriage. At the station the young woman denied this.

EXTRA

BULLETIN.

Early this morning it was reported that the city hall forces had determined to send back to police stations the thirty policemen now assigned to State's Attorney Hoyne. The basis for the action was said to be a charge that the prosecutor had "outrageously abused" the police aid given him.

Further steps, such as asking the resignation of Joseph P. Geary, minority member of the civil service commission, who was appointed at Hoyne's request, were said to have been considered.

Corporation Counsel Ettelson made an unqualified anouncement that Mayor Thompson and Chief Healey will appear at the grand jury rooms this morning. They demand that they be allowed to appear before the jury.

State's Attorney Hoyne yesterday afternoon attempted a triple raid on the city hall. At two points he was checkmated, but at the third he considered himself successful.

He sought to seize all the city hall records on saloons, gambling, and vice. To carry out the plan he shot three raiding squads into the building simultaneously. One went to Mayor Thompson's office. The second went to Chief Healey's office, and the third to the office of Second Deputy Funkhouser.

Each party consisted of assistants of the state's attorney, investigators, and policemen assigned to the state's attorney's office. They were armed with subpœnas duces tecum to produce before the grand jury at once all letters, books, papers, and other records having to do with saloons, gambling, and vice.

FORESAW CLEAN SWEEP.

It was the plan that the three offices aimed at should be stripped of correspondence and records. The cleaning out of the detective bureau by Hoyne's men last year and the equally successful descent upon the Sportsmen's club ten days ago were recalled.

But the city law department intervened.

SAVES THE PAPERS.

"O, but you don't take anything on a paper of this sort," said a mild mannered little man who had appeared from somewhere. "This subpœna directs Chief Healey to produce certain documents before the grand jury. He will take them there, not you."

Conferences began and continued for more than an hour. The interim gave another advantage to the city hall. The grand jury had adjourned.

The double barreled argument won. Not a scrap of paper was taken from the chief's office or the mayor's office. By agreement a guard representing both sides sat all night outside the locked vaults of the two offices.

GET FUNKHOUSER DATA.

At the third point of attack the state's attorney's forces won because of the absence of the man in command for the city hall. Second Deputy Funkhouser was served with a subpœna.

"Wait until I see the chief, please," he asked, and left his office on the tenth floor to go to the chief's office on the fifth floor. When he returned two drawers of a filing case and a revolving index were gone. They included copies of the daily reports of morals inspections sent to the chief and the addresses of places listed or complained of as immoral resorts.

This bit of conduct by the state's attorney's aids was declared entirely illegal, and there were intimations that some counter action would be begun against his office because of it. But the raiders were jubilant. They indicated they had obtained possession of one of the main objects of their raid.

HEALEY CALLS RESERVES.

Chief Healey spent most of the time on the job in his own office close to his files. Some of the visitors showed a tendency to be rough. They took hold of papers on which stenographers were working and picked up books.

"We'll take this," said one of them, holding a big volume.

Chief Healey told Sergt. Naughton to watch things closely while he went to the telephone.

Within ten minutes there marched into the office a squad of fifteen uniformed men headed by Capt. Morgan Collins. Under Healey's directions, they were distributed through his offices, and the demonstrations of the north siders ceased.

A little later Capt. Charles Larkin of the detective bureau showed up with a dozen plain clothes men, who were scattered through the halls to watch the crowds, supposedly, but they inspected every man they thought from the state's attorney's office as he left the chief's office or the mayor's office.

When the enemy had left the premises enough uniformed men were retained to place two at each of the two vaults under guard. With them throughout the night sat two pairs of detectives from Hoyne's office.

LEAVE WITH LESS NOISE.

Ettelson went from the chief's office to the mayor's office and back again to the chief's office, finally coming to rest for a final conference with Mr. Thompson and Hoyne's representatives. When that concluded all the north side detachments with the exception of the vault guards slid quietly out of the city hall, less demonstrative in their words and actions than when they opened battle.

When the smoke of the photographers' flashlights had cleared away sides were interviewed. Mayor Thompson came first. Sitting alone in his office he received the reporters with a smile. He spoke of "Hoyne's brigade" and the sending of a squad of policemen and lawyers to obtain "what a messenger boy would have been given" if he had been sent.

"These are high handed methods," he said. "I want the public to judge them. We will comply with the law. Let the state's attorney do the same."

Then, smiling again, he said:

"Of course there is no politics in it."

HOYNE CLAIMS VICTORY.

State's Attorney Hoyne questioned the motives of the city hall in withholding the records he sought. He indicated his belief that he had won a victory in getting the Funkhouser records. He manifested satisfaction with the outlook for his obtaining possession of all the records he seeks when they are produced before the grand jury.

He spoke of "something rotten in Denmark" and intimated that he may ask the grand jury to determine whether the men who refused to let his men have the documents they asked should be punished for contempt of court.

But the city hall had something on this point.

"I doubt," said Mayor Thompson, "whether the grand jury even knew these subpoenas were issued. They are, in my opinion, Mr. Hoyne's subpoenas, and not the grand jury's."

THESE ARE SUMMONED.

The forthwith summonses were made out in the names of William Hale Thompson, Charles C. Fitzmorris, his secretary; Charles C. Healey, William Luthardt, his secretary; and Sergt. John Naughton, his assistant secretary, and Maj. M. L. C. Funkhouser. All of them were served, service for the mayor being accepted by Corporation Counsel Ettelson.

In spite of this service Mr. Ettelson was told that neither Mayor Thompson nor Chief Healey would be wanted before the grand jury. Both expressed a willingness to appear, and they may insist upon continuing as custodians of the documents subpoenaed when they are taken into the grand jury room. It is possible they may contend that their appearance in this manner would constitute the only legal response to the subpoenaes served on them.

CLIMAX OF SENSATIONS.

Mr. Hoyne's raid was the most sensational turn taken by his long continued attacks on Chief Healey, renewed recently by his slot machine charges against the Sportsmen's club, which were followed up by his assertion that he "had the goods on Healey" in connection with violations of the Sunday closing law, the restoration of saloon licenses, the existence of immoral resorts, and the operation of racetrack hand books.

The descent upon the three offices was said to have been sugested to the prosecutor by Francis D. Hanna, former morals inspector, who was discharged by the trial board several months ago. He now is employed as a reporter on a morning newspaper. He accompanied the raiders to the city hall and it was he who, in the absence of Maj. Funkhouser, showed them what records to seize in the second deputy's office.

SORTIE CAREFULLY PLANNED.

The whole thing was most carefully planned. It was timed accurately for 4 o'clock, an hour when Mayor Thompson was presiding over a meeting of the city council and Corporation Counsel Ettelson, Chief Healey, and other officials were listening to the proceedings.

Each of the three Hoyne parties was made up of so many lawyers, so many investigators, and so many policemen. And the observation tower for the engagement was in the same block as the city hall—in the county building office of the state's attorney, directly through the passageway from the mayor's office and the chief's office.

PERSONNEL OF SQUADS.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

CHIEF'S OFFICE.

SECOND DEPUTY'S OFFICE.

BUSY IN COUNCIL.

The council had reached an interesting point almost at the moment these squads reached their stations. Ald. Michael Kenna had presented an order for a special permit and it had been read by the clerk. It was an order giving Mr. Hoyne, as a candidate for reëlection, the right to string a banner across Clark street from the Ashland block, where he has his campaign headquarters.

"Pass!" laughed Mayor Thompson.

And most of the aldermen joined in the laugh as the clerk showed unanimous consent for the action.

Three minutes later—barely past 4 o'clock—a messenger appeared looking for Chief Healey. Another appeared looking for Charles C. Fitzmorris, secretary to the mayor. Both hurried upstairs.

A few reporters met them and walked with them toward their offices. Chief Healey was stopped by Dwight McKay, assistant state's attorney, and Mr. Fitzmorris by A. E. Rankin, chief of the squad assigned to the mayor's office. The subpoenas were read and then the two proceeded toward their offices through lanes of policemen and investigators.

LUTHARDT HOLDS THE FORT.

The chief found William Luthardt, his secretary, "sitting on the lid." Luthardt had been served with a subpoena, but was holding back the state's attorney's men until the chief arrived.

The chief looked around the office and smiled at the invaders.

"Welcome!" he said. "You can have anything you want. What is it?

Mr. McKay started to tell him. The chief asked him to repeat slowly. McKay did so. Then the chief asked for Sergt. John Naughton, who has charge of the clerical branch of the office. He was told that the visitors had a subpoena for Naughton, but he could not be found.

"Send the file clerk in!" ordered the chief.

"But we don't want the file out here," broke in McKay. "We want a file that's in your inner office."

"There is no file in there," answered Healey. "What you ask for is out here. It will have to be taken from these files."

He and McKay still were talking when Chester E. Cleveland, first assistant corporation counsel, entered and asked to see the subpoena. It was then he told McKay that the state's attorney's men had no right to seize anything in the office.

McKay hurried out of the office. He returned. He again demanded the files. He was told the papers he wanted would have to be selected from among all the others in the files.

"That's an all night job," he protested. "We'll take the whole shebang, cabinets and all, to the north side in a couple of trucks."

Frank D. Ayers, assistant corporation counsel, had arrived and he repeated Mr. Cleveland's construction of the law. Charles Center Case, in charge of Hoyne's county building office, arrived and conferred with McKay. Apparently he had instructions.

SHOWS SIGNS OF ANGER.

In the mayor's office Assistant State's Attorney Duval became engaged with Cleveland. Duval was even more insistent that he had the right to carry away the documents called for by the subpoena. Cleveland showed signs of anger.

Once when Duval attempted to pick up some documents Cleveland said:

"A public officer ought to obey the law. You have no right to remove these things. We'll bring them over to you in the morning."

"No, we'll take them now," Duval replied.

"Is the grand jury in session?"

"Yes."

"Well, you haven't any right to raid this place. Where is your warrant? A subpoena duces tecum is merely an order for documents. You haven't any right to keep a bunch of detectives here."

"We'll take that right," retorted Duval.

"We'll obey the subpoena without being dragged over there tonight," replied Cleveland.

"A forthwith subpoena," interjected Assistant State's Attorney Bliss, "doesn't mean in an hour and a half or tomorrow. It means now."

Mayor Thompson entered about this time. Saloon license revocations, a mass of correspondence, and other documents had been brought from the vaults and stacked on desks.

When the mayor entered Duval, Arkin, and Bliss of Hoyne's legal staff went at once to his private office and talked with him. Hurry calls were sent for several assistant corporation counsels, but before they arrived Duval was out again.

STARTS TO TAKE PAPERS.

"The mayor says take anything we want," Duval said to the mayor's secretary, and started to pick up the packages.

Cleveland again interfered. He reiterated his statement that he would send the documents over "tomorrow."

"When you have to back down," snapped Duval, "do it gracefully. We are going to take them now. Call a car, Charley, addressing Fitzmorris.

The car was called, but before the documents were moved Corporation Counsel Ettelson laid down the law as he saw it. In a little while Arkin, McKay, and others came out and began arranging for guards on the vaults.

WHAT HOYNE WANTED

Prosecutor Declares He Sought Records and Letters on Vice, Gambling, and Sunday Violations.

"WHAT were you after in your raid on the city hall?" State's Attorney Hoyne was asked.

"After certain correspondence and documents which we believe will fit in with other evidence we have."

"Won't you specify more definitely?"

"The subpoenas drawn by Assistant State's Attorney Berger show what we went after. They call for 'each and all documents, papers, letters, and copies thereof written to and by the chief of police, captains of police, members of the police department, officers, and employés of the city of Chicago, individuals and citizens, relating to gambling, gambling houses, houses of prostitution, slot machines, violation of the Sunday saloon or tippling house closing law conducted or alleged to have been conducted from April, 1915, to date.'"

"How did you know the chief of police had any correspondence or documents you needed in your grand jury investigations?"

"We had information to that effect. Our information was positive."

"Did Mayor Thompson have the same kind of correspondence?"

"I am not sure of that. I had some information to that effect from persons who did business with the mayor's office."

Berger Reports Victory.

At this point in the interview Assistant State's Attorney Berger came in, fresh from his victory against the Funkhouser trenches. He reported with "Veni, vidi, vici" brevity, and Mr. Hoyne laughed a Von Hindenburg laugh.

"Good!" said the prosecutor.

He believed at that time that his arms had been triumphant along the entire city hall front. News did not reach him until later that the onrush of his detectives had been checked in the mayor's and chief's offices.

"Suppose your raiders had met with resistance?" it was suggested.

"It wouldn't have paid 'em to resist," he said. "It would have been a dangerous proceeding. However, I got what I went after, so there is no use in discussing that hypothesis. I have no desire to interfere with the city government."

"When will you lay the evidence you obtained in your raids before the grand jury?"

"We will work on it for the greater part of the night. I can tell in the morning better about the time it will reach the grand jury."

"When do you expect an indictment against Chief Healey?"

"I will lay the evidence against him before the grand jury before the end of this week. I expect an indictment. No one can tell what a grand jury will do. An indictment is up to the grand jury."

"Will any matter go before the grand jury that relates to the mayor?"

"No. As far as I know, the mayor is not in this—not unless he chooses to step in."

"Will you give out the letter written by Chief Healey to Capt. W. P. O'Brien, the suspended officer who was in command of the Cottage Grove avenue district?"

"Not at present. It was a tissue of evasions and in no way responsive to the letters written by Capt. O'Brien to the chief. But O'Brien is not the only captain who will tell the truth. There are a number of other police captains who will 'spill the beans' before this case is over."

Issues Second Statement.

At 10 o'clock at night Mr. Hoyne issued the following statement:

"There is something rotten in Denmark when the chief of police and the mayor of Chicago are unwilling to let the light of day hit records in their offices. Whenever a grand jury subpœna has been issued heretofore by the state's attorney's office it has always been obeyed. It ill becomes the chief and the mayor to evade the present subpœnas. They are quibbling over technicalities and will have to answer to the grand jury tomorrow at 10 o'clock."

"The city law department's point is not well taken," commented Assistant State's Attorney Berger, who has charge of the grand jury. "Subpœnas duces tecum have been issued time and again for taking property into custody when the grand jury was not in session. Moreover, the grand jury technically is always in session from the day it convenes until the last day of its monthly session."

Contempt Action Hinted.

"What does Mr. Hoyne mean," Mr. Berger was asked, "by saying the mayor and chief will have to answer to the grand jury tomorrow?"

"I have no comment to make," he answered.

Mr. Berger left it to be implied that Mr. Hoyne meant that according to his construction of the situation the mayor and chief were guilty of contempt.

Mr. Berger said the raid on the mayor's office netted nothing, but three books were obtained from Chief Healey's office. He intimated they held evidence not immaterial to the state.

"We got a wagon load of documents in Second Deputy Funkhouser's office," said Mr. Berger. "While the arguments were going on in the chief's office and mayor's office we were looting Mr. Funkhouser's office."

RALLY TO HEALEY

Friends Subscribe $5,000 to Be Used for Defense if Chief Is Indicted.

If Chief Healey is indicted he will not lack for a defense fun, according to a friend who telephoned THE TRIBUNE last night but asked that his name be withheld from publication.

"Some of us held a little meeting today," he said. "We feel that he is innocent, but we also know that an innocent man can be indicted. We know that he is a poor man. Therefore we undertook to see whether we could raise enough money to provide for his defense. In a few minutes we had a fund of $5,000 subscribed. Charley Healey for the thirty years or more that he has been on the force.

"More funds will be raised if that becomes necessary. The chief has nothing but some little he has saved from his salary. About ten years ago in order to save his wife's eyesight he went into debt. All the money he could raise was spent on her. He was compelled to go through bankruptcy, but since that time he has paid off 90 per cent of the debts that were discharged by that bankruptcy. Not only that, but he paid interest on them. His one concern now is that his wife, who cannot see to read, is kept from meddlers who might tell her of this trouble. The shock might kill her.

"We'll stand by a man like that in a time of financial need."

"HIGH HANDED," SAYS MAYOR

"Let Hoyne's Brigade Take Anything It Wants," He Remarks, "Except My Hat and Coat."

AFTER the "Hoyne brigade" had left the city hall Mayor Thompson gave an interview to the reporters. The mayor declared it was "high handed" proceeding.

"If the people of this community want that kind of thing, well and good," he said, pounding the table. "Actions, I guess, speak louder than words. I am surprised that the state's attorney should send a lot of police and assistants over here while the mayor was presiding over the council meeting.

"As far as I am concerned, if the grand jury would send over a messenger boy I would turn over everything I've got, but I am informed by the lawyers that what was going on here was not according to law. I understand Hoyne's brigade was trying to use rather high-handed methods. I am ready to give the grand jury any information they want, but Hoyne's men ought to act as the law prescribes.

Tells of Conference.

"In our conference the lawyers were discussing the law, some believing Mr. Hoyne's action was not for the purpose of doing things legally, but illegally, and therefore we should stand strictly on the law, while others argued that we should give the broadest interpretation and do more than the law required.

"Personally it doesn't make any difference to me. What the public wants is light. If, as the lawyers say, the state's attorney used high handed methods—methods he had no right to use—it is only just and fair that the public should understand it."

The mayor was asked at this point wherein Hoyne's action was considered illegal. He began to give an explanation and then called on Corporation Counsel Ettelson.

"I understand they wanted to take everything and sort it over tonight," remarked the mayor to Mr. Ettelson.

"Why, they wanted to move the city hall over to the north side," laughed Mr. Ettelson. "We're ready to obey the law, but we don't propose to turn our documents over to Hoyne's men tonight. The subpœnas order us to bring the papers with us to the grand jury and we're ready to do that."

The mayor smiled.

"I'm looking forward to talking to that grand jury if they'll give me the opportunity," he said.

The mayor then asked Mr. Ettelson a series of questions, evidently designed to bring out the "illegality" of the raid.

"What these lawyers and policemen wanted to do, then, was to take the papers and files with them?" he began.

"That's what they wanted," replied Mr. Ettelson.

Could Call on Hoyne.

"Can I ask the state's attorney for the same kind of papers?"

"If there is some appropriate legal proceeding pending you can subpœna them," Mr. Ettelson said.

"And doesn't the state's attorney have to obey the law?" continued the mayor.

"That's the assumption," smiled Mr. Ettelson.

The mayor was silent a minute and then pounded the table.

"We're going to comply with the law," he exclaimed, "only we don't like the idea of the state's attorney's office sending over here twenty-five detectives and twelve assistants to get our papers and documents."

When the mayor was informed of the raid earlier in the afternoon, while he was presiding over the council meeting, he said:

"Let 'em take whatever they want, just so they don't take my hat and coat."

There were rumors that some court action may be taken before the grand jury convenes today to prevent the records going before the grand jury.

"We may take some action in the Criminal court building tomorrow," said Mr. Ettelson.

THRASHER SAYS VICE INDICATES CORRUPT POLICE

Report Declares Old Levee Was Reviving Until Committee of Fifteen Acted.

That a corrupt police department is the chief menace to law and decency in Chicago is the conclusion reached by Samuel P. Thrasher in submitting a report covering three months' investigations to the Committee of Fifteen yesterday at the Union League club.

"Without police collusion organized vice could not thrive as it does in Chicago," said Mr. Thrasher. "Incontrovertible evidence has been revealed which proves to me that the greatest menace which confronts Chicago is an inefficient and corrupt police department. Whatever may be said of the administration and those higher in authority even than the chief of police, the evidence tends to show that policemen are largely responsible for the existence of organized vice as we find it."

Cites Figures on Increase.

Supporting his theory that graft exists, Mr. Thrasher submitted figures showing the development of vice flourishing without seeming restraint until Committee of Fifteen officials took action.

Owners of 287 buildings occupied by disorderly resorts were served with informal notices by the committee. Of these 245, either previously ignorant of the business prosecuted on their premises or fearful of exposure, immediately took action to evict their disreputable tenants. Forty-two owners were served with the formal notice threatening action under the injunction and abatement law.

Two Cited for Contempt.

Rules to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt of court have been obtained against Daniel V. Gallery, owner of the Snug saloon with alleged disorderly house addition at 1920 South Wabash avenue, and Maurice Eisenberg, owner of a similar place at 1939 South Archer.

Mr. Thrasher reported that seven panders have been convicted during three months, and the discharge of three chauffeurs secured, who were soliciting for immoral houses. He also reported the mayor's recent action in revoking six saloon licenses of places which the committee's investigators showed were violating the law.

Identify Goods as Stolen.

Seven persons appeared yesterday and identified goods belonging to them among the jewelry, diamonds, and clothing recovered early in the day in the rooms of Adam B. Rochaski, 2039 Le Moyne street.

ALLIES' AGENTS HEAR 3 U-BOATS LURK OFF COAST

Reports of More German Submarines Brought In—Hunt for Raiders Started.

New York, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Information reached officials of the entente allies tonight three German war submarines are operating off the American coast, the U-53, U-154, and U-161. These officials said the information had come to them from sources in which they placed confidence, in spite of the apparently authentic report last night that but one had been concerned.

The captain of the freighter Christian Knudsen, reporting officially today, says he saw before his ship was sunk the conning towers of two U-boats four miles distant from the U-53. Two officers of the Greek liner Patris say they saw a boat they recognized as the U-53 signaling early Monday morning, presumably in communication with sister submersibles.

Aeroplane Hunt for Raiders.

It is reported today that the allies are using aeroplanes in their endeavor to destroy the raiders. These "submarine hawks" have been sent out from Halifax and they are reported to be sweeping Atlantic waters some distance out.

A British official said today that Capt. Rose of U-53 probably would head for gulf ports and attempt to resume raiding. But he called attention to the near presence of ships such as the Adriatic, the Philadelphian, and the Minnehaha as a possible inducement to Rose to linger off New York. The Minnehaha is scheduled to sail tomorrow with a cargo of more than 10,000 tons of war materials, intended for Germany's enemies.

Shipping Agents Newly Alarmed.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 10.—Shipping agents here, who have been holding their vessels in port on account of German submarine activities off the New England coast, received another alarm today when a tugboat captain reported that he saw something resembling a U-boat between Boston Light and Minot's light early this morning.

Steamboat inspectors to whom he made his report were skeptical.

The tieup of shipping bound from this port to Europe was still noticeable tonight.

Doubt Sinking of K'ngstonian.

Newport, R. I., Oct. 10.—Eleven American torpedo boat destroyers are continuing the search for the crew of the British steamer Kingstonian, which was reported to have been sunk by the German submarine U-53.

Reports tonight that no victims of the submarine are awaiting succor between Montauk Point and Nantucket Light led to a growing conviction that no such steamer as the Kingstonian was sunk.

Berlin Denies Lack of Warn'ng.

BERLIN, Oct. 10, via London, Oct. 11, 1:10 a. m.—A semi-official news agency prints a dispatch about the sinki of the Stephano, and says:

"In view of the circumstances, there could have been no torpedoing or sinking without warning. On the contrary, the vessel was unquestionably stopped by the U-53, according to the rules governing cruiser warfare, captured, and sunk because it was impossible to bring it to port after the safety of the passengers and crew had been provided for."

Submarine Off Georgia Coast.

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 10.—The presence of a submarine of undetermined nationality off Tybee bar off Savannah today was reported to local custom house officials and to the British consul here, it was learned tonight.

Officials at both the custom house and consulate refused to say where their information came from, but each emphasized the statement that it was "entirely unofficial." No American undersea boats are in these waters.

GOMPERS ASSAILS MEXICO'S DECREE TO REDUCE STRIKES.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 10.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, protested today to the Mexican members of the Mexican-American joint commission against drastic decrees of the Carranza government issued with the idea of reducing the number of strikes.

The commissioners informed Mr. Gompers that the decrees were not of a sweeping character and that they were designed to meet specific cases involving the paralysis of public service concerns in Mexico City.

The American members of the commission spent the day discussing with Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, assistant chief of staff of the American army, plans suggested for border control and in hearing compl'ints of representatives of corporations holding property in Mexico.

LAYS U-53 RAID TO WILSON ACTS

Roosevelt Says "Ostrich Policy" Has Brought Us Europe's Contempt.

New York, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—"The day of the ostrich—elocutionary ostrich—policy for the United States has passed," Col. Theodore Roosevelt asserted in a statement issued tonight.

The U-boat raids off the coast of New England, Col. Roosevelt charged, were the direct result of President's Wilson's submissive policy toward the nations at war in regards to the rights of neutrals.

The first mistake, he said, was made when President Wilson permitted the violation of Belgian neutrality, and this has been added to since by the Lusitania and other incidents.

Shows Europe's Contempt.

The boldness of the Germans in sending a submarine to waylay shipping on the American coast was the culmination, he said, of European contempt for the United States.

He blames the latest crisis to the fact that President Wilson, after declaring that the United States would stand as the champion of the rights of neutrals, has deserted the neutral nations and left them leaderless and the prey of the belligerents.

Tragedy of Our Inaction.

"Now that the war has been carried to our very shores there is no American who does not realize the awful tragedy of our indifference and inaction," Col. Roosevelt said. "Nine-tenths of wisdom is being wise in time. By taking the right step at the right time America's influence and leadership might have been made a stabilizing force.

"President Wilson's ignoble shirking of responsibility has been clothed in an utterly misleading phrase—the phrase of a coward—'he kept us out of war.' In actual reality war has been creeping nearer and nearer until it stares at us from just beyond our three mile limit, and we face it without policy, plan, purpose, or preparation."

TWO GERMAN U-BOATS SUNK IN THE ARCTIC BY RUSSIANS.

CHRISTIANIA, Oct. 9, via London, Oct. 10.—A Russian torpedo boat yesterday sank two German submarines after the submersibles had attacked the Russian wireless station at Sepnavolak on the Murman coast, according to information received here today from Petrograd. Several persons were killed by the gunfire of the submarines.

The Murman coast is the northern seaboard of Kola peninsula, in the Arctic ocean. It lies west of the entrance to the White Sea, in which is the important Russian seaport of Archangel.

U-Boat Sinks Ten Vessels.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 10.—A German submarine operating in the English channel between Sept. 30 and Oct. 5, says a telegram received here today from Berlin, destroyed seven merchantmen belonging to hostile countries and three neutral steamers. Another submarine on Oct. 4 sank three English trawlers off the east coast of England.

GOVERNMENT OF BRITAIN TO INSURE WHEAT SUPPLY

Will Take Distribution from Private Enterprise and Fix Prices on the Commodity.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The British government has decided to appoint a royal commission, with Lord Crawford as chairman, to take steps necessary to insure adequate and regular supplies of wheat and flour.

This announcement was made today in the house of commons by Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade. Mr. Runciman said it had become clear that supplying and pricing of wheat for Great Britain could not be left to private enterprise.

As importation in the future would be in the hands of the state, he explained the full benefit of the reduction in cost of carriage would accrue to the state.

STATE'S ATTORNEY IN JAIL; INDICTED AS WIFE SLAYER

Oscar D. McDaniel of Buchanan County, Mo., Held Pending Decision on Bail Appeal.

St. Joseph, Mo., Oct. 10.—Oscar D McDaniel, state's attorney for Buchanan county, tonight remained in the county jail after his indictment by a grand jury on a charge of having murdered his wife.

At a hearing late today Judge Ryan listened to arguments of Bart M. Lockwood, special prosecutor, and attorneys for Mr. McDaniel on the question of allowing bail for the accused man pending his trial, which was set for Oct. 18, and announced that he would give a decision tomorrow.

The grand jury's true bill was returned in Criminal court today after a thirteen day investigation of Mrs. McDaniel's death. She was beaten to death as she slept on the night of July 14.

FIRE DAMAGES MAIN HALL OF UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN

Madison, Wis., Oct. 10.—The main hall of the University of Wisconsin, which houses more than 1,000 students, was threatened with destruction by fire of unknown origin today, but the flames were quenched after the dome of the building burned and a section of the roof had been damaged.

The blaze started while the students were attending classes, but all got out of the building safely.

FROST IN CENTRAL STATES.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—Frost was predicted by the weather bureau for tonight in all sections east of the Mississippi river except the south portions of the South Atlantic states and the gulf district.

GERARD CONFERS WITH LANSING; PEACE NOT TOPIC

Mission of Homecoming Ambassador Important, but Its Nature Is Kept Secret.

New York, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—James W. Gerard, ambassador to Germany, accompanied by his wife, arrived here today on the liner Frederick VIII. from Copenhagen. This was the ambassador's first homecoming since his appointment to the most difficult post in the diplomatic service of this country, more than two years ago.

The importance of the mission that brings him across the Atlantic at this time was clearly indicated by the conference which took place in this city between Secretary of State Lansing and Mr. Gerard after the homecoming ambassador had been formally welcomed by the city.

Secretary Lansing and Ambassador Gerard met at the home of Col. E. M. House, 115 East Fifty-third street, where they lunched. The conference that followed lasted two hours, and at its close Secretary Lansing said:

"We lunched together. All I can say is that our talk was satisfactory."

Bound to Silence.

Ambassador Gerard was equally reticent.

"I must decline to speak of my mission here, or of what passed between the secretary of state and myself today. Under all the circumstances I am irrevocably bound to this policy of absolute silence," he said.

The manner of both secretary and ambassador spoke volumes as to the importance of their conference. It can be stated with certainty that the report made today by the ambassador is one of the greatest portent in the diplomatic history of this country.

"Is there hunger in Berlin?" Mr. Gerard was asked.

"There is no scarcity of food," he answered. "Gasoline, however, is hard to get. I obtained my own automobile fuel from Holland. The taxicabs in Berlin are using benzol as fuel."

Ambassador Gerard, while refusing to state the diplomatic purpose of his visit, unhesitatingly confirmed the announcement that he carries no message from Germany to President Wilson requesting his good offices in an effort to bring about peace.

Has "Time of His Life."

Apart from the diplomatic gravity that surrounds his visit, the ambassador had, probably, the time of his life today. A New Yorker to the core, he fairly reveled in his first glimpse of home after the years of intense strain and worry of his service at Berlin.

"The town looks just like heaven to me," were the first words in response to the reporters' greeting. "I have enjoyed every minute of this wonderful day and propose to enjoy every minute of my stay. The formal welcome accorded me this morning was a compliment I shall never forget."

The ambassador intimated that his stay would be short and that within three weeks he would probably be on the way back to his post. He will go to Washington in a few days, but will not see President Wilson until the latter's return from the western trip upon which he starts tomorrow.

DUTCH VESSEL'S SINKING ROILS HOLLAND PRESS

For U-53's "Illegal Act Germany Must Be Made to Pay," One Paper Says.

AMSTERDAM, via London, Oct. 10.—The Dutch press is highly indignant at the sinking of the Holland-America line steamer Bloomersdijk, which, it is declared, was absolutely illegal and contrary to maritime law.

"We ask with astonishment," says the Nieuws Van Den Dag, "what reason the submarine commander could have for torpedoing a neutral vessel with a neutral cargo for the neutral population of Holland. There was no possibility of a mistake, for the commander of the submarine must have been aware of the character of the vessel and for that illegal act Germany must be made to pay full compensation."

Demand Protest to Berlin.

The Handelsblad demands that the government send a strong protest to the German government.

The Telegraaf regards the raid as "a sop to the Von Tirpitzites" and thinks that probably the Germans are allowing their submarines to operate along the fringe of American territorial waters to test the extent of American patience.

The Tijd says it learns from a trustworthy German source that the U-boats operating in the Atlantic obtain their supplies from large commercial submarine supply vessels stationed at a fixed time and place in the Atlantic.

"The news of this submarine warfare," the paper asserts, "will result in a compromise between the German chancellor and his opponents in the reichstag."

Say U. S. Should Protest.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The submarine campaign continues to be the chief topic in the English newspapers. The fact that the United States had protested against the patrol of British cruisers near the American coast was not generally known here until the German submarine visit raised discussion of the whole question.

Naval writers now maintain that the Washington government, having protested against the presence of British cruisers on the American coast, cannot fairly countenance this submarine campaign, which, they hold, constitutes far greater cause for complaint and protest than any which could have been based on British naval movements.

VILLA TO ATTACK PARRAL SUNDAY, WORD AT BORDER.

Bandit Chief Credited with Saying He Will Not Molest Foreigners in Mexican City.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Francisco Villa, bandit chief, has definitely notified officers at Parral that he will attack the city Sunday. This information was conveyed to El Paso

Foreigners need have no fear, added Villa's warning, for they will not be molested. The Villa band is moving southward toward Parral, it was said.

Notification reached El Paso Monday night that 2,500 additional troops have reached Chihuahua, materially strengthening the garrison there.

LATEST U. S. NOTE TO BRITAIN

Text of the American Reply to the Allied Demands in Which This Government Refused to Bar Harborage to Belligerent Submarines.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—The text of the American reply to the British note refusing the demand of the allies that the United States deny harborage to belligerent submarines, which was sent on Aug. 31 and which was withheld from publication until yesterday on the president's orders, is as follows:

"The government of the United States has received the identic memoranda of the governments of France, Great Britain, Russia, and Japan in which neutral governments are exhorted 'to take efficacious measures tending to prevent belligerent submarines, regardless of their use, to avail themselves of neutral waters, roadsteads, and harbors.'

"These governments point out the facility possessed by such craft to avoid supervision or surveillance or determination of their national character and their power, 'to do injury that is inherent in their very nature,' as well as the 'additional facilities' afforded by having at their disposal places where they can rest and replenish their supplies.

"Apparently on these grounds the allied governments hold that 'submarine vessels must be excluded from the benefit of the rules heretofore accepted under international law regarding the admission and sojourn of war and merchant vessels in neutral waters, roadsteads or harbors; any submarine of a belligerent that once enters a neutral harbor must be held there,' and, therefore, the allied governments warn the neutral powers of the great danger to neutral submarines attending the navigation of waters visited by the submarines of belligerents.

"In reply the government of the United States must express its surprise that there appears to be an endeavor of the allied powers to determine the rule of action governing what they regard as a 'novel situation' in respect to the use of submarines in time of war and to enforce acceptance of that rule, at least in part, by warning neutral powers of the great danger to their submarines in waters that may be visited by belligerent submarines.

"In the opinion of the government of the United States, the allied powers have not set forth any circumstances, nor is the government of the United States at present aware of any circumstances, concerning the use of war or merchant submarines which would render the existing rules of international law inapplicable to them

"In view of this fact, and of the notice and warning of the allied powers announced in their memoranda under acknowledgment, it is incumbent upon the government of the United States to notify the governments of France, Great Britain, Russia and Japan that so far as the treatment of either war or merchant submarines in American waters is concerned the government of the United States reserves its liberty of action in all respects, and will treat such vessels as in its opinion becomes the action of a power which may be said to have taken the first steps toward establishing the principles of neutrality, and which for over a century has maintained those principles in the traditional spirit and with the high sense of impartiality in which they were conceived.

"In order, however, that there should be no misunderstanding as to the attitude of the United States, the government of the United States announces to the allied powers that it holds to be the duty of belligerent powers to distinguish between submarines of neutral and belligerent nationality, and that responsibility for any conflict that may arise between belligerent warships and neutral submarines on account of neglect of a belligerent submarine to so distinguish between these classes of submarines must rest entirely upon the negligent power."

GERARD WAS BARRED FROM RULING GERMAN COUNCIL?

Recent Action in Berlin Another Evidence That Peace Is Not Sought Through United States.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—The Public Ledger will print tomorrow morning the following from its correspondent, William C. Bullitt, who was a fellow passenger with Ambassador Gerard on board the Frederick VIII.:

"I am able to state from German sources that four weeks ago the kaiser refused to grant to Ambassador Gerard another conference with the council at headquarters for the purpose of discussing Germany's peace terms. That council rules Germany. The kaiser presides, and at the table sit Gens. von Hindenburg and Ludendorff, Chancellor Bethmann-Hollweg, Admiral Holtzendorff, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs von Jagow, Secretary of State for the Interior Helfferich, and several of the kaiser's personal advisers.

"When Germany's peace terms are formulated they will be formulated by that council, and the fact that the American ambassador was not granted a conference at headquarters is alone proof positive that Germany is not considering a move for peace by way of the White House."

attack merchantmen without warning and without providing for the safety of the passengers and crews. It was stated, however, that evidence was still being collected and that no final decision on this point had been reached.

Secretary Lansing came to Long Branch at 5 o'clock this afternoon on the same train with Mrs Wilson and Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, the president's cousin, who spent the day shopping in New York. President Wilson was at the station to meet them.

CONFER FAR INTO NIGHT.

There was no discussion of the submarine question until 8 o'clock tonight, when dinner was finished. Then the president and Secretary Lansing went into the entire question in detail. It was said at Shadow Lawn they would confer until so late there was no possibility of an announcement tonight. Secretary Lansing expects to return to Washington tomorrow morning.

Internal politics in Germany in connection with submarine warfare, on which Ambassador Gerard is reported to have brought information from Berlin, caused much discussion among officials here today. It was stated on the highest authority here a few days ago, however, that the American government has been hearing reports for months that Germany was preparing to violate its promises, but that it would take no official notice of such reports unless they were borne out by actions.

Jusserand Sees Wilson.

Secretary Lansing's arrival at Shadow Lawn followed closely the departure Jules Jusserand, ambassador from France, who had a thirty-five minute talk with Mr. Wilson, during which the newest phase of German undersea boat warfare was touched upon.

Jusserand was not particularly communicative to reporters who met him at the station upon his arrival. He volunteered the statement that he intended to ask the president to have the United States government protest against the legality of decrees by the Carranza government which have had the effect of "sequestering $60,000,000 worth of French money in two Mexican banks."

"Will you discuss the German U-boat raids along our coast with the president?" Jusserand was asked as he started for the White House automobile which carried him to Shadow Lawn.

"I shall be glad to," answered Jusserand, "provided the president brings up the subject. I shall be glad to discuss anything with the president."

JAPAN DESIRES PEACE WITH U. S.

New Premier Says He Has No Intention to "Wave the Sword."

SCOUTS FEAR OF WAR.

[Copyright: 1916: By Associated Press.]

TOKIO, Oct. 10.—Fears of a section of the Japanese public, which have found an echo in the United States and China, that the coming into power of the new ministry may be tantamount to war, were discussed frankly today by Premier Count Seiki Terauchi, in giving to the Associated Press the first statement he has made in regard to the foreign policy of his administration.

The premier gave expression, in a sentence, to the spirit which he declared would animate his dealings with other nations. It was the assertion that Japan would not take any aggressive step toward the United States or any other country "so long as Japan's vital interests and dignity are not infringed."

"Any idea that I shall 'wave the sword' while I am prime minister of Japan is based on a false comprehension of my career and a complete misconception of the Japanese empire its past and its hopes and ideals for the future" he said.

Seeks Friendship with U. S.

"Tell the American people that my earnest and constant endeavor shall be to promote the friendly ties which have bound Japan and America for half a century," he continued.

"What will be Japan's policy toward China?" the correspondent asked.

"As the ministry was organized only yesterday, I have not discussed China with my associates," he replied. "However, speaking generally, Japan's ambition is to have China benefit, like Japan, from the fruits of world civilization and world progress."

Though he was unable to dwell on a detailed program, the premier continued, he could affirm that America's interests in China would be harmed in nowise by Japan, which had no intention of violating China's sovereignty or preventing interested nations from having equal opportunities.

Alliance with Russia.

"Will the Japanese alliance with Russia be the basis of policy in the orient?" he was asked.

"Japan, true to her obligations, naturally will be bound in her future policies by her alliances with Great Britain and Russia," he responded, "but that does not imply disregard of fostering amity with others, notably America, whose friendship and coöperation we have every reason to cherish. The empire faces a situation which demands strenuous and unified exertions to secure reforms of the national life, to nourish the strength of her resources, and to place the nation on an unshakable foundation of secure and lasting peace in the far east. Our supreme efforts abroad should be to maintain faith with foreign powers, and be strictly fair and upright. Japan's progress as a world power, which is inevitable must be marked with prudence and caution, especially in the period of world crisis."

BRITISH CLOSE CABLES TO 'INTERNATIONAL NEWS.

Action Due, Official Statement Says, to Garbling of Dispatches After Leaving London.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The British official press bureau tonight issued the following:

"The following statement is placed at the disposal of the press for publication:

"In the house of commons on June 27 last the secretary of state for the home department stated that attention had been drawn to an alleged telegram relating to the Jutland battle which appeared in certain American newspapers as having been sent from London by the correspondent of the International News Service. No such message was included in any telegram sent from this country.

"The home secretary referred to previous cases in which messages which purported to be from the London correspondent of the International News Service bore no likeness to the cablegrams actually dispatched.

"On the first occasion referred to the manager of the International News Service in New York gave categorical assurance that such an incident should not happen again. On the second occasion he made like promises.

"On the 3d of September cablegrams were published in the United States, purporting to have come from London 'by the International News Service,' giving various false statements about the air raid of the previous night.

"In view of this continued garbling of messages and breach of faith on the part of the International News Service, no representative of the International News Service shall be permitted to use the official press bureau and the agency shall be debarred from the use of all other facilities for the transmission of news until further notice."

FRENCH ADVANCE MILE AND A HALF; NEAR CHAULNES

Resume Drive to Encircle German Base—Take 1,200 Prisoners.

PARIS, Oct. 10.—French forces south of the Somme river today resumed their drive on Chaulnes, one of the four objectives of the giant offensive begun in July.

Gains of a mile and a half north of the beleaguered city were made, the official report says, and the town of Bovent, the north and northwest outskirts of Ablaincourt, and the greater part of the Chaulnes woods were captured.

Prisoners to the number of 1,200 were taken in the operation, which is believed here to be the beginning of a thrust to encircle the city and force the Germans to fall back as they did at Combles.

By the thrust today the French in the Chaulnes woods, on the north, are only a mile from the city, those at Aolaincourt, about one and three-quarters miles, and those in Bovent two and one-half miles.

French War Report.

The official report follows:

North of the Somme there was great artillery activity on both sides. A surprise attack south of Sailly-Saillisel brought us fifty prisoners, two of them officers.

South of the Somme we attacked on a front of five kilometers between Berny-en-Santerre and Chaulnes. Our infantry vigorously carried the enemy position which was their objective and went beyond it an appreciable distance at certain points.

The hamlet of Vovent, the northern and western outskirts of Ablaincourt and the greater part of Chaulnes were captured.

The enemy sustained considerable losses, notably around Ablaincourt. Twelve hundred prisoners were taken.

On the remainder of the front there is nothing to report.

British War Report.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The official communication from Gen. Haig's headquarters in France issued tonight reads:

The work of improving our new positions south of the Ancre continued today without special interest. Two hundred and sixty-eight Germans were brought in, including five officers.

An enemy aeroplane was brought down north of Neuville-St. Vaast. Yesterday our own aircraft were again active. One of our machines is missing.

German War Report.

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—All the attacks made by the Anglo-French forces on the Ancre and Somme rivers yesterday, says the official statement issued by the German army headquarters today, were fruitless. The announcement follows:

Army group of Prince Rupprecht—Yesterday the enemy again delivered strong attacks on the long battlefront between the Ancre and the Somme. All his efforts were fruitless. Attempts of the French to advance east of Vermandovillers were frustrated.

Army group of the German crown prince—On both sides of the Meuse [Verdun front] there were spirited encounters with artillery and mine throwers.

SWEDEN TO CONCILIATE GREAT BRITAIN IN BLOCKADE.

Majority of Government Persuades Premier Hammarskjold to Give Way to Formal Agreement.

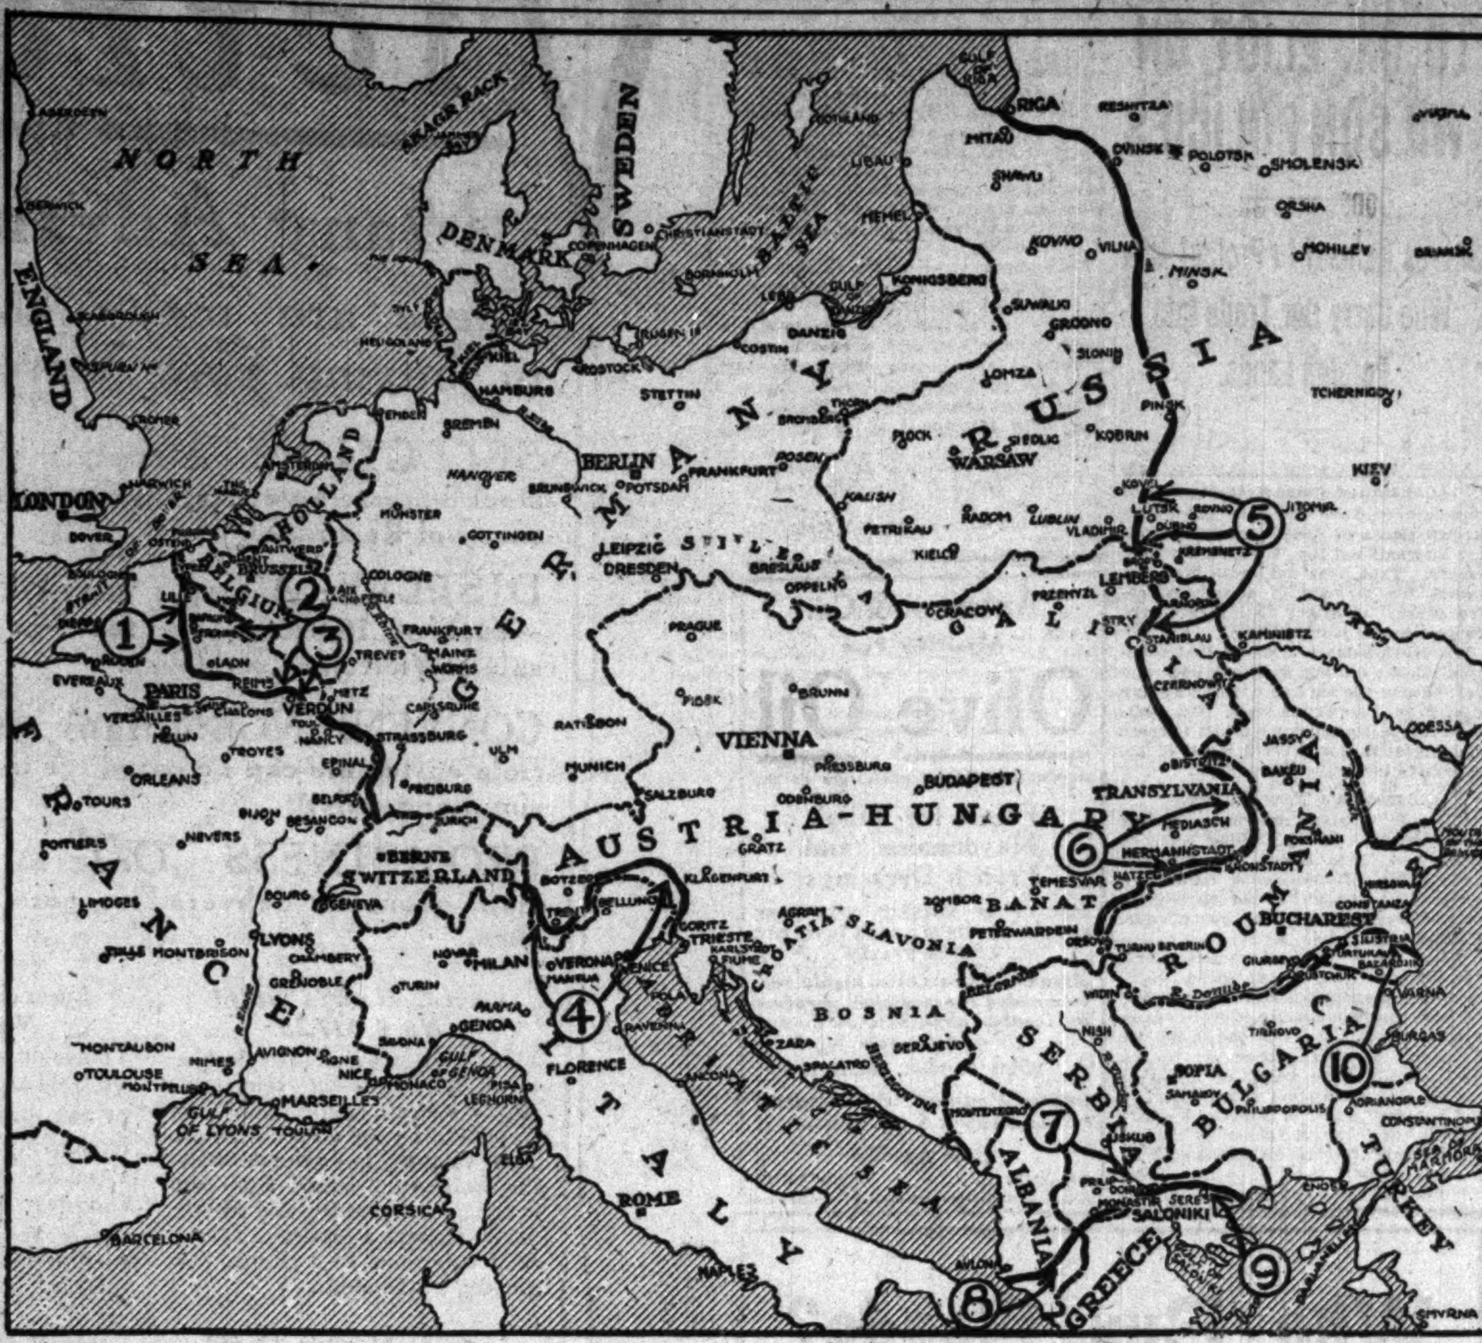
STOCKHOLM, via London, Oct. 10.—The Swedish government, or at least an overwhelming majority of its members, are now in favor of a conciliatory policy toward Great Britain's demands with regard to her blockade declaration, the control of the destination of goods, the forwarding of parcels post, and other matters.

The Associated Press learned today from an absolutely reliable source that Premier Hammarskjold is going to give way completely to this current feeling in his cabinet, and that within a short time a formal agreement will be entered into between Great Britain and Sweden, so as to enable Sweden to receive all the goods she wants for her own use and for exportation to entente allied countries.

NEW YORK GETS MORE MILK.

New York, Oct. 10.—Approximately 60 per cent of the city's normal supply of milk was received here today, according to reports issued by the department of health and by John J. Dillon, state commissioner of foods and markets and agent for the Dairymen's league.

DEVELOPMENTS ON EUROPEAN BATTLE FRONTS



1—Paris reports advance by French south of Somme river in which Bovent, outskirts of Ablaincourt, and part of Chaulnes wood were captured, thus outflanking important town of Chaulnes. Twelve hundred prisoners were taken.

2—Berlin reports all attacks by Anglo-French forces between Ancre and Somme rivers were fruitless. London states British positions were improved and 268 Germans captured.

3—Berlin reports spirited encounters with artillery and mine throwers on both sides of the Meuse in the Verdun sector.

4—Rome reports capture of mountain position on Trentino front and repulse of Austro-Hungarian attacks. Only minor engagements in Isonzo and Corso sectors.

5—Berlin reports German advance northwest of Lutsk. In Galicia village of Herbutow was stormed. In Carpathians Russian counter attacks were repulsed.

6—Berlin reports Austro-German forces are continuing their advance on both sides of Kronstadt in eastern Transylvania, capturing 25 cannon and 1,175 prisoners.

7—Berlin reports allies made slight advance north of Cerna river, east of Monastir. At all other points on Macedonian frontier they were repulsed. Sofia confirms these reports.

ITALIANS STORM AND TAKE MONTE PASUBIO POSITIONS.

Austrians Driven Off in Attacks in the Travignolo Valley—Other Advances Are Checked.

On Monte Pasubio, after artillery preparation, our troops stormed and took enemy intrenchments in the sector of Cosmagnon and Sette Croci and captured 176 men, including six officers.

In the Travignolo valley the enemy attacked our positions on the second peak of Colbricon in force. They were driven off with heavy losses and were pursued. An attack against our advanced line on the northern slopes of Monte Sief also was repulsed.

The enemy shelled Goritz, causing damage to buildings and a few casualties among the inhabitants.

In the course of small engagements on the Carso front forty-three prisoners were taken.

Last night hostile aeroplanes raided the lower Isonzo, dropping bombs on villages in the Grado lagoon and elsewhere. Three persons were killed.

FORM NEW GREEK CABINET; VENIZELOS AT SALONIKI.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Telegraphing from Athens yesterday, Reuter's correspondent said Prof. Lambros had succeeded in forming a cabinet.

The correspondent describes this as politically the most colorless cabinet Greece has ever known.

Former Premier Venizelos, accompanied by other members of the provisional government, arrived at Saloniki on Monday, according to a dispatch from that city to Reuter's.

TURKS REPORT ADVANCE IN THE CAUCASUS CENTER

Official Communication Says Also That Large Quantities of Loot on Left Wing Were Taken.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 9, via London, Oct. 10.—The war office today made public the following statement on operations in Mesopotamia and the Caucasus:

On the Felahie (Mesopotamian) front there was the usual exchange of fire.

We drove back toward Karadoukor an enemy force which was attempting to entrench between Deviataband and Hamadan (Persia).

On the right wing of the Caucasian front there were skirmishes and intermittent firing of artillery and infantry. In the center we again advanced our position slightly. On the left wing we took some prisoners and a large quantity of arms and equipment in patrol engagements.

Death by Fall Mystery.

An open verdict was returned by a coroner's jury at an inquest held yesterday over the body of Leif Hancke, 22 years old, 2114 Thomas street. He was found by the police Sept. 25, at North Wood and West Division streets, with a fractured skull. At the Norwegian Lutheran Deaconess home and hospital, where he died two days later, Hancke told the doctor that he fell.

GERMANS DRIVE RUSSIANS FROM VILLAGE IN GALICIA.

Berlin Reports Capture of Slav Positions at Two Points and Repulse of Counter Attacks.

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—German troops under command of Prince Leopold of Bavaria yesterday stormed the Galician village of Herbutow, east of the river Narayuvka, it was announced at German army headquarters today in the following statement:

Army group of Prince Leopold of Bavaria—Near Kolostrow, on the river Stokhod, northwest of Lutsk, we drove the Russians out of an advanced position and repulsed their counter attacks.

German detachments stormed the village of Herbutow, east of the Narayuvka river, with quite slight losses to our troops. We took prisoners four officers and 200 men and captured a few machine guns.

Army group of Archduke Charles—In the Carpathians, Russian counter attacks failed before the positions on Baba Ludova which we captured Oct. 8.

Brundage Lawyers Close.

Attorneys for Edward J. Brundage, successful candidate for attorney general on the Republican ticket, finished their arguments yesterday before Judge Baldwin on the demurrer to the petition for a recount of the Cook county vote, sought by Richard J. Barr. Attorneys for Mr. Barr will present their argument this morning.

TEUTONS STORM HILL PASSES IN TRANSYLVANIA

Press Roumanians Back, Taking Much Loot—British Win Two Macedonian Towns.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Austro-German troops under Gen. von Falkenhayn are continuing their advance in Transylvania, according to the German official statement received here today.

All the passes in the Hargetta and Carole mountains have been captured and on both sides of Vronstadt the troops of the central powers are reported to be pressing the Roumanians back.

West of Vulcan pass on the Roumanian frontier Negrului mountain has been captured, Berlin says:

British Take Two Towns.

Bulgarian forces opposing the British troops in the region to the east of the River Struma, in Macedonia, have retired to the hills northeast of Seres, says the British official statement issued today. The British have occupied the towns of Kalendra and Homondos.

Berlin admits the Serbs have achieved success east of the Monastir-Florina railway, gaining small results near Skochivir.

German War Report.

The German official report covering operations in Transylvania and Macedonia follows:

Transylvania—On the eastern front progress was made everywhere. The exits from the Hargitta and Carole mountains into the upper and lower Alt valley have been won.

On both sides of Kronstadt our troops are closely pressing the Roumanians.

As a result of three days battle at Kronstadt, 1,175 prisoners and twenty-five cannon, including thirteen heavy guns, numerous ammunition carts, and other war supplies have been brought in. In addition we have captured two locomotives and more than 800 wagons, most of them loaded with provisions. The enemy suffered heavy losses.

West of Vulcan pass the frontier mountain of Negrului was captured.

Macedonia—The enemy continued his attacks against the Bulgarian troops in the Cerna salient east of the Monastir-Florina railway. Near Skochivir he achieved small results. Otherwise he was repulsed everywhere.

French Official Report.

The French official report on activities in Macedonia says:

On the Struma the enemy evacuated Chavdor, Mah, or Manli, and Haznatar. In the center there were patrol encounters and moderate artillery fire.

On the left wing our offensive continues successfully. There has been especially sharp fighting in the Cerna bend between the Serbs and Bulgarians. In the course of these actions 816 prisoners, including five officers, have been taken.

Monastir and Prilep have been bombarded by our aeroplanes.

British War Report.

The British war report on operations in Macedonia says:

Struma front—Kalendra and Topalova are reported by cavalry reconnaissance to have been evacuated by the enemy, who has fallen back to the hills northwest of Seres. Kalendra and Homondos have been occupied.

Doiran front—Our patrols have been active and our artillery continues to bombard the enemy trenches.

GERMAN REGRET TO NORWAY

Apologizes for Torpedoing of Steamer Sjolyst, and Is Ready to Pay Full Indemnity.

LONDON, Oct. 11, 2:45 a. m.—Germany has notified Norway that it regrets the torpedoing of the steamer Sjolyst, which was sunk on April 9 while in ballast, according to a Reuter dispatch from Christiania. Germany declares its readiness to pay full indemnity. This has resulted from the protest registered by the Norwegian government.

EXPECT HUGHES AND T. R. DRIVE TO 'CINCH' WEST

Republican Managers Figure Big Returns from Next Week's Campaign.

Hughes and Roosevelt, hitting into the west next week, will start the tide that is to sweep the Republicans into victory next month, according to expectation of Republican managers at western headquarters. They consider the next ten days the crucial period of the campaign.

Mr. Hughes is now on his way into the transmississippi states, reaching Charleston, W. Va., tonight, visiting Kentucky tomorrow, and then proceeding into Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas, and the Dakotas.

Colonel to Fire West.

Col. Roosevelt's western trip begins Saturday night, and after a speech at Louisville he will proceed directly to Albuquerque, N. M. There he is to make a speech on Mexican issues that is figured by Hughes managers as certain to land New Mexico and Arizona in the Republican column, possibly Texas, and prepare the strongly pro-Roosevelt west for later appeals the colonel will make for the Republican candidates at Denver and other western points.

Col. Roosevelt will get to Chicago Oct. 28, and preparations are already making to have the Roosevelt meeting the biggest political night that Chicago has known. Present arrangements are for the colonel to speak at the Coliseum.

Confident of Coast States.

Western Manager Alvin T. Hert last night said conditions throughout the west are getting much better each day. He had reports from the Pacific coast, following the trip of Charles W. Fairbanks, that were entirely satisfactory.

"We will carry every Pacific coast state, beyond the shadow of a doubt," Mr. Hert said. "Local differences have been settled, all factions are working harmoniously, the women are with us, and we anticipate no trouble in a single coast state."

Mr. Hert also received advices from New York that the campaign in the East is progressing in an entirely satisfactory manner.

"New York is now a cinch," he said. "We cannot lose the state, and with it will go the solid electoral vote of New England."

MRS. MAC VEAGH'S ESTATE UP IN WASHINGTON COURT.

Son Petitions for Letters Testamentary for Property in District of Columbia.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—[Special.] Eames MacVeagh, son of former Secretary of the Treasury Franklin MacVeagh, today petitioned the District Probate court for letters testamentary in the estate of his mother, Emily H. Eames MacVeagh, a resident of Chicago, who died here May 17 last.

The petition was necessitated by the fact that Mrs. MacVeagh owned a Washington residence at 2829 Sixteenth street northwest, valued at $300,000, and contained personal effects and furnishings estimated at $50,000.

Mrs. MacVeagh's will was admitted to probate in Chicago Aug. 28 last. The Washington legatees under the will included Mrs. Delia Spencer Field, widow of Marshall Field, and three other women friends of the deceased, to whom small gifts of jewelry and paintings were left as keepsakes.

HELD ON FLIRTING CHARGE.

S. D. Dago, Negro, Insists He Was with Wife at Time Girl Alleges He Annoyed Her.

Sidney D. Dago, a Negro, 45 years old, 3516 Calumet avenue, was arrested yesterday on complaint of Miss Eleanor Long, 733 North Trumbull avenue. She charges he tried to flirt with her, but he declares he was walking with his wife, Mrs. Belle Dago, at the time the girl said she was annoyed.

Miss Long said she was walking along State street, near Madison street, and for nearly a block the Negro persisted in talking to her. At State and Madison streets she called Patrolman Schoenfus.

Dago was booked on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Cicero	3,557	1,365	4,922
Total	319,196	156,321	475,517

Judge Baldwin heard opening arguments yesterday in the Barr-Brundage contest over the Republican nomination for attorney general. Counsel for Mr. Brundage contended that certain sections of the primary law are void, and that Judge Baldwin has no right to interfere, inasmuch as the day has past for the official certificate of nomination by the state canvassing board

Halbert Gardner, Progressive candidate for governor of Maine in 1912, was at Republican national headquarters. He is on his way west to speak for Hughes and Fairbanks.

Miss Harriet E. Vittum, director of women's work at the western Republican headquarters, departs this morning for a speaking trip that will take her to Davenport, Moline and Rock Island.

Women of the Hamilton club, who are headed by Mrs. Harry Atwood, will hold an open luncheon and meeting at 12:30 today at the Hamilton club. Mrs. Jacob Bauer and Mrs. Margaret Crumpacked will be among the speakers.

The registration bureaus of the Republican and Democratic county committees are hard at work getting ready for the second day of registration next Tuesday. If a voter didn't register last Saturday, next Tuesday is his or her only chance to get right with the registration books.

Gov. Charles S. Whitman of New York will speak today noon at the Columbia theater under the auspices of the Hamilton club.

Democratic managers are figuring on changing the meeting at which President Wilson will speak from the stockyards pavilion to some other large hall.

Judge Windes ordered a recount of the votes cast for F. C. McNicholas and Hubert Kilens, candidates for state representative from the Fourth senatorial district. Attorneys for McNicholas contended the time limit had expired at the date of the filing of the contest suit. Their request that the case be dismissed on that ground was refused.

Mrs. H. O. Havemeyer of New York will appear on the stage of McVicker's theater at 4 o'clock this afternoon and speak for fifteen minutes between acts on the aims and purposes of the Woman's party. Not only in Chicago but throughout the twelve western equal suffrage states theaters will be used between now and election time to wage the women's fight on Wilson and the Democrats.

The professional woman's branch of the Woodrow Wilson Independent League of Illinois was organized yesterday by a group of women representing physicians, lawyers ,and business women. Headquarters will be maintained at the Woodrow Wilson Independent League of Illinois, sixth floor City Hall Square building. Miss Henrietta Krighel was made general secretary and will be in charge of the headquarters work.

OCT. 28 TO BE DESIGNATED AS 'WOODROW WILSON DAY.'

President, at Shadow Lawn, Will Read Message to Voters to Be Spread Over Country.

Long Branch, N. J., Oct. 10.—Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the Democratic national committee, took lunch with President Wilson today.

At their conference arrangements were made for a political rally to be held at Shadow Lawn Oct. 28, which has been designated as "Woodrow Wilson day" by the Democratic campaign managers. On that day the president will deliver a speech here and will read a message to American voters which will be read at meetings now being arranged in towns, big and small, in every section of the country.

The president plans to leave here at 1:50 o'clock tomorrow afternoon for Indianapolis, where he will speak twice Thursday afternoon. He will return here Friday and deliver a speech at Shadow Lawn Saturday at a celebration of "Pennsylvania day."

DEMOCRATS MAKE NEW RAID ON U. S. CIVIL SERVICE JOBS.

Secretary Baker Rules 170 Army Field Clerks Be Placed Under Direct Military Supervision.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Another raid on the civil service was made today when Secretary of War Baker ruled that under the new army act field clerks are taken from the civil service and placed under direct military supervision.

This order affects 170 army clerks, all of whom have heretofore been appointed after civil service examinations.

This newest Democratic raid on the civil service means that the sum of $218,400 yearly is to be added to the amount placed at the disposition of the spoilsmen, for this is the total amount paid annually to the 170 clerks affected. The salaries of these clerks range from $1,000 to $2,000 per annum.

He has been suffering from throat trouble for some time.

WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE GIVES ABSENT TROOPS VOTE.

Passes Bill Seven Hours After Convening—Citizens Away from Home Aided by Another Measure

Madison, Wis., Oct. 10.—Seven hours after it assembled in special session today the Wisconsin legislature passed through both houses a bill to permit soldiers on the border to vote, and the measure was on its way to the governor for his signature.

The bill provides for a special messenger from the office of the secretary of state to take the ballots to the border and return with them to the homes of the men for counting. The balloting will be conducted by officers of the guard.

A second bill to permit citizens absent from the state to vote by mail also passed both houses.

Formal adjournment will be taken Wednesday after the bills are signed.

GIRL'S STORY CONVICTS MEN

Miss Julia Gallison, 14 years old, who was brought to Chicago by Alexander McLaughlin, will return to Brockton, Mass. Miss Gallison admitted stealing $400 from her sister. She was being held here pending the trial of McLaughlin and Michael Ritter, charged with contributing to her delinquency.

The men were found guilty yesterday by Judge Fisher. Sentence will be imposed later.

known rights of American citizens under international law, is absolutely necessary. That does not mean war. It means the security of a self-respecting peace. It means that regard will be paid to our just demands."

Mr. Hughes faced a crowd that occupied all the seating space on floor and balconies of the big hall and stood many deep to the rear of the seats. The audience frequently interrupted him to cheer and applaud. He devoted much of his speech to his reply to Dr. Eliot.

America's New Policy.

"Dr. Eliot says 'America has now turned its back on the familiar policy of Rome and Great Britain of protecting or avenging their wandering citizens by force of arms and has set up a quite different policy of her own,'" Mr. Hughes said.

"Now note the characterizations, 'wandering citizens,' 'American commercial and manufacturing adventurers,' 'miners and commercial adventurers in foreign parts.' On the one hand we have the beautiful phrase as to the 'best genius of the world,' on the other the stinging description which describes the advance guard of American enterprise in the language spoken by the administration's record as interpreted by its best friend.

"Who are the 'commercial adventurers'? Who are the 'wandering citizens'? Are they a portion of those who represent American enterprise abroad? Have some been tried and outlawed without a hearing? Or does this pleasing description embrace all Americans who, representing the best genius of the world, are performing the American duty of service in foreign parts?

"Had that policy, as defined by Dr. Eliot, been written in the Democratic platform four years ago," Mr. Hughes said, "the Democratic party would not have had the ghost of a show had there been six tickets in the field. That is worse than molasses to catch flies. It's a bitter death."

The audience cheered. Mr. Hughes assailed the administration for the enactment of the Adamson law.

"They told us four years ago, in eloquent phrase," he said, "of the new freedom. But recently, after surrendering to the demand of force for legislation before investigation of the facts, they have introduced us to the new slavery."

Tonight's address was the second of the day. The first was delievered at Hagerstown, Md., before an audience in the grand stand at the Interstate Fair grounds.

ILLINOIS G. O. P. CHIEF SPEEDS UP DOWNSTATE AIDS

Chairman Sterling Puts Ginger in Campaign—Drives for the Woman Vote.

Illinois has started to "come to life" for the Republican national ticket. The downstate has shown signs of shaking off its apparent lethargy, and the Cook county organization, with the first day of registration out of the way, has buckled down to business.

Such were reports at Republican state headquarters yesterday, improving in marked degree the atmosphere at the Great Northern hotel.

"We are beginning to get results from the special train touring the southern counties," Chairman Fred E. Sterling said. "The boys on the firing line are in action, local conditions that were unsettled by hard primary contests have been composed, and men who are doing the work are up on their toes.

"There isn't any doubt about Illinois. By this time next week, when the big Republican territory in western and northern Illinois gets aroused, the bystander will be ready to admit Democrats haven't a reasonable chance to carry the state."

Lining Up Women First Task.

The big business on hand is organization of the downstate women's vote. The Hughes alliance has undertaken this in the larger cities. The state committee is reaching after rural counties, urging chairmen and precinct committeemen to get busy in making it plain that all women have the right to vote for president.

In all speeches from the special train during the rest of the campaign special appeal is to be made to women.

Committees to Co-operate.

Arrangements have been made between Western Manager Alvin T. Hert and Chairman Sterling whereby there will be full coöperation between the two headquarters in stirring up women for Hughes and in dealing with situations that have arisen in manufacturing centers downstate.

Cook county is in good shape for Hughes and Fairbanks, according to the statement of County Chairman Homer K. Galpin. "The first duty of the county committee," Mr. Galpin said, "was to get out a full registration. This Republicans did with exceptional success. Our reports are positive that the Republicans have a long lead on the first day's registration. We will do even better on the second day.

"The work of organizing the registered vote is now in full swing. It is a safe bet now that Hughes will carry Cook county."

The state special is now "farthest south" in Egypt. The schedule for today follows, last night's meeting having been held at Cairo with a big crowd: Mounds, 8:30; Anna, 9:25; Carbondale, 10:15; Carterville, 10:45; Marion, 11.25; Creal Springs, 12:45; Grantsburg, 1:30; Metropolis, 2:15; Brookport, 3:00; Golconda, 5:10; Johnson City, 8:10; West Frankfort, 8:45.

JURORS SHUN MURDER TRIAL; THINK INNOCENT EXECUTED.

Two New York Talesmen Say Recent Sing Sing Case Makes Them Oppose Death Penalty.

New York, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Because they believe that Thomas Bambrick, the young gangster recently executed at Sing Sing for the murder of Policeman Dappin, died an innocent man, two talesmen summoned today at the trial of Michael A. Rofrano before Supreme Court Justice Barlow S. Weeks said they could not conscientiously serve as jurors. They had become opposed to capital punishment, they said. Both said they believed Bambrick was innocent.

RENAMED

Little Bobby Whitehall Is Now Robert Hall Harrison and He Has a Brand New Father and Mother.

Robert Hall Harrison

Orders for the adoption of the two baby sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Legrande Whitehall of 4711 Prairie avenue were issued yesterday by Judge Thomas Scully in the County court.

The estranged parents of the children, Richard and Robert, both signed papers releasing all claim upon their children to their new foster parents.

The older child, Richard, was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. George Gordon Beck, 667 Cornelia avenue. His name was changed to Richard Preston Beck.

Robert, the younger, found a new home with Mr. and Mrs. Blaine G. Harrison of 1501 East Sixty-eighth street. The Harrisons have named their adopted son Robert Hall Harrison.

DEMANDS HAPGOOD PROVE CHARGE AGAINST HUGHES.

Denies Agreement Between G. O. P. Candidate and "German Propagandists" on Mail Issue.

New York, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—William R. Willcox, chairman of the Republican national committee, was quick to challenge Norman Hapgood today to produce proof of the charges he made that an agreement between Charles E. Hughes and "German propagandists" had prompted Mr. Hughes, in his speech at Philadelphia Monday night, to declare that he would not tolerate improper interference with American mails, American property, and blacklisting of Americans exercising only their rights.

Absolute denials of the Hapgood story were made by Chairman Willcox, and an authorized denial from Mr. Hughes was given out at Republican national headquarters.

In the statement given out Mr. Hapgood was quoted as saying that if anybody accused him of "making up" the story he could "prove his good faith by documentary evidence."

Chairman Willcox immediately demanded that Mr. Hapgood produce his written evidence, when he heard of the charges.

Albany Man Pays High Figure for "Langwater Dairy Maid," a Guernsey Milker.

North Easton, Mass., Oct. 10.—Langwater Dairy Maid, a Guernsey cow, sold at auction here today for $6,150. Charles L. A. Whitney of Albany, N. Y., was the buyer. F. Lothrop Ames of this town was the former owner.

MISS PAUL TAKES REINS IN CHICAGO FIGHT ON WILSON

Miss Alice Paul, at the head of a compact body of energetic lieutenants, assumed command yesterday of Chicago headquarters of the National Woman's party in the Stevens building, announcing the following executive staff: Speakers, Mrs. Gilson Gardner; press, Miss Joy Young; shop, Mrs. John Jay White; publicity, Miss Virginia Arnold; indoor meetings, Miss Elizabeth Elder; outdoor meetings, Mrs. Minnie E. Brooke.

The first action at headquarters was to issue several thousand flyers that carried this message:

Appeals for Hughes.

Mrs. Florence Kelley, speaking at the School of Civics, Twenty-fifth street and Michigan avenue, opened the "stump" campaign for the women with a strong appeal for support of Hughes. She said, in part:

"You women should remember that Mr. Hughes has pledged himself for the federal suffrage amendment, and that it is the only way full suffrage can be given to all the women of this country.

"Some people say Mr. Hughes cannot keep this pledge because of his party, but I want to say that we had much to do with Mr. Hughes when he was governor of New York, and I cannot remember that he ever broke his pledge.

Two Points for Hughes.

"I am a member of the Socialist party myself, and as a resident of New York I cannot vote in this election anyway, but the women who can vote should remember these things of Hughes," she continued. "He has pledged himself for the federal suffrage amendment, and he wrote the decision for the California eight-hour law for women, a decision which was adopted by the Supreme court sustaining the law. It is a splendid law, applying even to nurses in hospitals."

MRS. TROUT NEW SUFFRAGE HEAD?

Former President of Illinois Association Expected to Be Re-elected.

URGED BY HER FRIENDS

Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, former president of the Illinois Equal Suffrage association, probably will be elected president again at the annual state convention next week in Springfield. Mrs. Trout has not stated definitely that she would be a candidate, but her friends have been urging her to run. Yesterday Mrs. Harrison M. Brown of Peoria, the present state president, stated to the board of officers that she would not be a candidate for reëlection.

Most of Mrs. Trout's friends believe she will decide not to run. Mrs. Brown has been in office one year, and it has been the custom to reëlect the president. Mrs. Trout would not run against Mrs. Brown, and she was anxious, too, to spend much of her time on her Florida farm.

On the other hand, she is anxious to lead the legislative work in Springfield during the coming session of the legislature. She has been apprehensive over the attacks made on the suffrage act. As leader of the state, it has been shown her, she would have more influence with the legislature, and it is believed she will consent to run for the office. If she runs it is not likely that another candidate will attempt to secure the office.

The convention will open Thursday, Oct. 19, and continue for three days.

PAY TRIBUTE TO RILEY AT "OLE SWIMMIN' HOLE."

Indiana Literary Men and Others Meet on the Spot Made Famous by Old Poem.

Greenfield, Ind., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—On the banks of Brandywine creek, overlooking "the ole swimmin' hole," which the late James Whitcomb Riley made famous, lifetime friends today paid tribute to the memory of the Hoosier poet. A large stage was erected on the banks of the creek, hills to the east forming a natural amphitheater. Arrangements for the celebration were being made when the poet died, and the observance was in the nature of a memorial. A number of Indiana's foremost literary men were present.

WALSH CLAIMS WEST IS STRONG FOR PRESIDENT

Names Eight States "Almost" Sure for Democrats—"Fighting Chance" in Illinois.

Indiana,	Nevada,	Colorado,
Missouri,	Kentucky,	Arizona.
Montana,	Nebraska,

Because of the women vote, he said the Democrats have a fighting chance in the following states:

Washington,	Illinois,	Wisconsin,
	Utah,	Oregon.

Senator Walsh explained he had no definite information in any of these states, but based his forecast on "information that may be denominated as of a general character."

"More recently," he added, "the drift of sentiment has been unquestionably in our favor. Probably as much will be admitted by every intelligent and candid observer.

Where He Sees Hope.

"The most significant circumstance in connection with our work is that the Republicans feel obliged to fight to hold such states as Wyoming and Utah. Both Hughes and Fairbanks have spoken not in one city but in a number of places in Utah. We are expecting to gain a senator in each of these states, one in North Dakota and one in New Mexico, with a chance of picking up another in Washington.

"The Wilson contagion is in the air. Willing workers are proffering their services in great number and the demand for literature, lithographs, buttons, and advertising matter, as well as for speakers, is something unprecedented. The same story comes from all quarters."

Fightoing Chance in Illinois.

Arthur W. Charles, chairman of the Illinois Democratic committee, followed Senator Walsh with a statement in which he attempts to show by 1910 statistics that Democrats have a fighting chance in Illinois.

Charles Boeschenstein, Democratic national committeeman for Illinois, and now engaged in passing the hat for the western headquarters, issued a public appeal for campaign funds.

In issuing his appeal he took up the Bryan cry of 1896, 1900, and 1908, and the recent Wilson cry that Wall street is putting up money for Republicans, and Democrats must rely on the plain people to come across with plentiful funds.

"Wall street," Mr. Boeschenstein says, "and every form of 'big business' that fears an honest administration, are fighting harder this year than ever before in their cry against Democratic success next November."

POLITICAL NOTES BY WIRE.

OMAHA, Neb.—Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio, speaking here, attacked the Democratic administration for passage of the Adamson eight hour law, for its Mexican policy, and its foreign policy, and asserted the president and vice president had "transcended the tenets of political propriety in declaring a change of administration would mean war."

EL PASO, Ill.—Gov. Dunne in a speech cited Senator Hull's criticisms of Lowden as an argument why the Republican candidate should be defeated. Mr. Hull, he said, had called the Lowden record barren and declared that the Oregon man's election would be a menace to the state.

MARION, Ill.—Col. Frank O. Lowden's campaign tour of southern Illinois was ended with a rally at West Frankfort as a climax to a day of twelve speeches at as many towns in the fruit belt.

YOUR NEW AUTOMOBILE!

How to Keep Its Fine Body Surfaces Like New.

Depreciation in automobile values is more a matter of appearance than of mechanical wear and tear. Why people pay so little attention to the care of the body surfaces is hard to understand. Most cars look a year older after two or three months under ordinary treatment.

It is a very simple matter to keep the auto body practically like new for several seasons—simply by cleaning and polishing it the right way.

Tobey Polish, the old secret shop formula of The Tobey Furniture Company (Chicago & New York), is a perfect preparation for auto body requirements. It is recommended and exclusively used by many leading dealers and makers.

It cleans off all dirt and grease, easily and quickly; no hard rubbing; does not gum; wipes off dry; does not catch the dust. Does not coat over the surface—simply maintains and beautifies the original finish.

—Stephen Decatur.

LET GEORGE DO IT.

The plain citizen who has nothing at all to do with our enlightened government except to pay its bills may be pardoned a mild curiosity about the dark and devious financing which is planned, notably the $130,000,000 bond issue. This is the issue planned to pay for Mr. Wilson's latest Mexican exploit, one of the factors which has bestowed on the country current expenses $364,000,000 in excess of ordinary revenues—a mere million a day.

In the first thirty-three months of the Democratic tariff there was an increase of 13 per cent in imports into the United States, as compared with the last thirty-three under the Republican tariff. Yet the government revenue therefrom, instead of rising 13 per cent, actually fell off no less than 27 per cent. The disinterested observer might think it was the tariff change which necessitated our higher internal taxes imposed to meet growing expenses.

Not so. We are informed that the cruel war in Mexico makes it necessary. Therefore a bond issue is slapped on the meek and lowly taxpayer. But even that leaves $234,000,000 to be met; so we have a new revenue act, one effect of which is to tax private enterprise, thus raising $205,000,000, and the remaining $29,000,000 we obtain by the simple expedient of taking it out of the general fund.

Ignoring the obvious grounds for complaint, the ultimate consumer has a right to ask under what reasoning the Mexican experiment is to be charged against capital, why future generations should pay the cost of this year's excursions in politics. Additions to capital account are warranted only by something of permanent consequence. If Mr. Wilson's merry party along the Rio Grande has assured a permanent peace with Mexico, perhaps the new bond issue is good finance. But it requires an optimist to credit that. Possibly the war department has encouraged the treasury to feel that, having made a little start toward supplying the army with a fraction of the equipment it needs and never before has had, the government can consider this a "permanent improvement." But horses and mules are not immortal, and the woes of the first and only aero squadron have proved that aeroplanes are as fleet of life as of motion.

Then, again, it is possible that the administration decided election year was a poor time to select for boosting the extraordinary taxes still further. It is so much easier to postpone paying the bills.

Maybe the gifted secretary of the treasury has still further reasons, all of them plausible. The lowly taxpayer does not deny it, but he wants to know. Still, why should he have a voice? He does nothing except pay the bills.

THE DEMAGOGUE IN ACTION.

Senator Ollie James was considered worthy to pronounce the official eulogy on Mr. Wilson at the St. Louis convention. He is perhaps the chief spellbinder and apologist of the administration. The level of his endeavor may be estimated from the following extract from his Chicago speech:

"Mr. Hughes' past history shows he is antagonistic to an income tax. . . . I tell you, gentlemen, you know a tree by its fruits. Mr. Hughes, as governor of New York, sought to defeat this just system of taxation—a tax that forecloses no mortgage, that forces no sale; a tax that is collected where success abounds and where prosperity smiles. He sought to continue the burden upon the tables and the thatched-roof homes of the poor, but Democracy wrote the income tax into law.

"And yet this man poses to the Progressives as one that will carry out the reforms and keep the steps of progress in this nation, although every time he has had a chance he has struck upon the head with the great hammer of his veto every reform that was proposed to him as governor."

The amount of truth and sincerity in this may be tested by reference to the facts. Here is the reason for Gov. Hughes' veto:

"I am in favor of conferring upon the federal government the power to lay and collect an income tax without the apportionment among the states according to population. I believe that this power should be held by the federal government so as properly to equip it with the means of meeting national exigencies.

"But the power to tax incomes should not be granted in such terms as to subject to federal taxation the incomes derived from bonds issued by the state itself, or those issued by municipal governments organized under the state authority. To place the borrowing power of the state and of its governmental agencies at the mercy of the federal taxing power would be an impairment of the essential rights of the state which, as its officers, we are bound to defend."

And this is the veto which Ollie James, southern Democrat, believer in state rights, thus attacks and falsifies.

The Ollie James type of pretended statesman is the greatest danger any democracy develops. The James tirade was not an attempt honestly to persuade his hearers, but a poor effort to deceive them and rouse ignorant passion and prejudice.

HOLLAND'S EXAMPLE.

The position of Holland since the war began has been one of the most delicate experiences of any European neutral. Surrounded by jealous and warring nations she fears Germany and Great Britain alike, and at the hands of each she has suffered. Her foreign trade was seriously injured by Great Britain, and her integrity has more than once been in danger. Burdened with an army of refugees and with the expense of a mobilized military force, the little kingdom has been sorely tried.

For all that, her thrifty people are keenly awake to the necessities of the present and the future. Two steamer lines since the opening of the Panama canal have extended their service to the west coast of South America, while a third maintains connection between New York and the Dutch East Indies by way of the Cape of Good Hope. An agency at New York has been established to make the purchases for those colonies.

Besides this, commercial relations with the Scandinavian countries are being fostered by lectures and expositions of Dutch wares in the capitals of those nations and these overtures are being warmly welcomed there. If Holland, beleaguered on every side by the nations at war, can show these signs of indomitable pluck the United States with its extraordinary resources should display corresponding activity for its future commercial good. But is it doing this?

THE EMPLOYE'S VIEWPOINT.

The exporters of raw materials, such as copper and steel, are showing much more optimism about post-bellum business as the war progresses, exhausting the stocks of these resources which the European nations formerly held in reserve. They say that after the war their business should continue good until the nations are restocked. They look for continued prosperity and are cheerful.

But how about the American manufacturer of finished products? And how about his employé? Up to date he has not exhibited any radiant smiles over the situation after the war, for he knows that every European nation will suddenly find released for industry and trade expansion not only the returned soldiers but also the thousands of women now engaged in munitions manufacture. This is much more serious than the mere loss of a market for our goods, great as that loss will be.

What is to become of the working men and women of the United States who in the last two years have been added to the forces of chemicals and explosives factories which have swelled their exports from $33,000,000 in 1914 to $501,000,000 in 1916? What of the American motor factories which have swelled their exports from $33,000,000 to $120,000,000, practically all of which increase has gone to the battlefield? What of the producers of all potential munitions, increased in two years from $436,000,000 to $2,303,000,000?

All these people obviously will find themselves out of work unless their hands can be put to other lathes. In peace time they will find the United States once more in direct competition with the world—a world of more numerous workmen and lower wages and lower purchasing power than before the war. Against such conditions the American workman is to be pitted. It was so in a measure in 1914 when the Democratic tariff went into effect, and the results of the contest are not pleasant to recall. America has seldom experienced a more demoralized industrial outlook than existed until the war business saved industry and rescued thousands from starvation. What was true in 1914 will be still more apparent after the war, not to the raw products producer except indirectly, but certainly to the producer of finished products subject to old world competition.

The raw products do not employ a majority of American workingmen. The majority is engaged in finishing products. That majority suffered in 1914 from foreign competition in American markets. That majority will suffer far more after the war, unless the Democratic tariff is discarded in favor of a protective tariff fitted to meet post-bellum conditions. After the Underwood record American industry should see to it that the new tariff is drawn up by the Republican party, just as that party in 1896 was called on to rescue the country from the disaster into which Democratic tariff meddling of that day had hurled it.

It is well to remember what happened in 1914.

AMBASSADOR GERARD.

Very exciting are the explanations offered for Ambassador Gerard's trip to this country. But whether he is a harbinger of peace or a messenger of war, the official explanation for his return has a solid basis. Mr. Gerard is officially home on a vacation, and though we have no doubt he will make important communications to his government, we would say that even though he had no serious mission the official explanation would suffice. He must need, he certainly deserves, a vacation. No member of our diplomatic corps has had so difficult a situation to deal with. From the outbreak of hostilities Mr. Gerard has had heavy responsibilities and often extremely delicate complications to meet. The feeling against us has been strong in Germany and Mr. Gerard's difficulties have not been simplified by the fact that he has represented entente interests as well as our own.

But Mr. Gerard has carried himself with admirable independence and good sense. He has not become a violent partisan of the country to which he is accredited, though that is one of the weaknesses of American amateur diplomacy. He has shown rather the self-respecting spirit of our greater diplomats and remained a thoroughgoing American.

This is the only course that pays in the long run, and certainly the only one the American people would have its representatives in foreign lands follow.

MOTORISTS HAVE SCENIC ROUTE.

[From the Canton, Ill., Ledger.]

The east, the west, and the south all boast of the beauty of their scenic routes and trails. The middle west has, in the last few years, been unusually active in establishing marked motor routes, and the doctrine of good roads has secured a firm hold upon Illinois. Unfortunately, however, far too little attention is being paid to the scenic possibilities in this commonwealth when choosing the route for a tour.

Those familiar with the rare natural beauty of the river trails of Illinois are ever enthusiastic, but they owe it to the state and to the pleasure of their friends to link together these magnificent pictures of nature and establish what can be known as the Scenic motor route from Chicago through the downstate.

Even above Chicago, along the north shore to Milwaukee, there is not to be found the rich comparisons of bluffs, valleys, woodlands, waters, and meadows that stretch away from the highways along this scenic route, practically all of which lies directly along, or very near, the beautiful Illinois river.

Leaving Chicago, the motorist runs through one of the nation's most typical suburban districts to Lockport and Joliet. The car then traverses a singularly artistic stretch of country in the approach to what is perhaps one of the greatest spots of natural beauty in the entire middle west—Starved Rock, already the property of the state and some time to be justly celebrated. It is now a creation of the divine hand that is the objective of motorists from four states throughout the open season. From the state park the natural course lies southwest along the river to La Salle and Hennepin, where the great waterway project is certain to stimulate the interest ere long. Henry, Lacon, Chillicothe, and Mossville along the Illinois rise out of the blue haze and groves of luxuriant willows and maples in the regular order on the Peoria road to the state's largest downstate metropolis. From Peoria what is known as the lower road brings the motorist through a rugged but wholly picturesque country to Canton, from where the trail may again be quickly picked up toward Beardstown or Havana, both on the Illinois.

Nature has painted on the face of the great Mississippi valley, the garden spot of the world, no greater approach to her masterpiece—the Colorado country.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Motto: Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THE campaign for Truthful Advertising was not made in vain. Every day we see examples of candor. Frex, one advertisement begins: "It looks like a regular landslide this fall for the Hatch one-button union suit."

ANOTHER candid ad is that concerning an entertainment in Orchestra hall: "Rev Dr. Charles F. Aked, recently member of the Stockholm peace conference, will give an address on 'The Occasional Duty of Playing the Fool.'" Famous Agonizers.

Sir: Would ask if the black stock is the latest agony in neckwear for temperamental persons. Notice that both Maurice Browne and Charles Chaplin are wearing it. H. B.

HOWEVER perplexing the latest diplomatic issue may prove to be, Dr. Wilson will no doubt succeed "in reaching an accommodation" without the aid of "the congress."

ON BEING QUARANTINED.

Thou tiny germ, thou microscopic pest,
That, lodging in my offspring's tonsilled throat,
Quick drove me from my now placarded house,
Thou gett'st my goat.

I gathered up the clothing flung to me,
Illogically chosen in the rush,
With safety razor, tooth and shaving paste,
But nary a brush.

I live a suitcase life—and chloroform
My wasting appetite at restaurant table,
Exiled from wife and home and friends—it's awful,
Now, ain't it, Mabel?

Come, noble serum, get thee to the trench,
To make short shift of these accurst bacilli;
Formaldehyde, come, end the quarantine,
And knock 'em silly. G. B. M.

DESPITE the strong undercurrent for Wilson, it must be to him a disturbing thought that few Democratic presidents have been re-elected.

[The Filipino servant reports.]

My dear Masters:—I have the honor to write and send of a letter for you masters, telling about Baguio, and especialy the house. While you were here in some days before, there were some flies coming from the garden while the gardeners were working it and sometimes they brought some pertilizers, that is why the flies become thick and more sometimes, because they fly from the pertilizers into the house while it rains, sometimes. Then, Master Lindel got medicine for killing the flies, so they became fewer, and some of them were died, and by killing and poisoning After several days while master Lindel has come to Manila, I used the medicine in every rooms where the flies are, and I keeped the windows shuted so the flies can't go out, and after several hours, some flies were died, and I'm allways found the wonder and thick died flies in the three rooms for two days ago, and I sweeped them twice every day. Masters, now the flies are very few, and the gardeners are finishing the garden. Masters, I think while you come bock in Baguio, the gardeners had finished the garden, and the flies will be nothing. Very respectfully your houseboy,

Sir: Why do two women, seated side by side in a crowded car, discuss their most intimate personal affairs in tones that rasp the nerves of the most distant passenger? Having long brooded over this phenomenon in aggrieved and hopeless silence I pass it on to the Column for solution.

HOW IT IS DONE.

NEAR Scott, Miss., the Mississippi Delta Planting company has a plantation of 40,000 acres, on which there are 5,000 employés. Under the direction of Dr. H. R. Miller they are getting rid of malaria on this tract without any great expenditure of money.

Dr. Miller says, in the Railway Surgical Journal, that their plan has "decreased my work in treating active cases of malaria 40 per cent. It has improved the working efficiency of the tenantry approximately 25 per cent."

For the employer this is a good investment. The conditions should attract the cream of the labor. The physician should not complain where his work is lessened 40 per cent.

These are some of the methods employed. The use of patent chill tonics is not allowed. By curing the symptoms of malaria—the chills—but not the disease, chill tonics cause hematuria and chronic malaria. Dr. Miller says: "Hemaglobinuria [also called hematuria], the scourge of the delta twenty years ago, is now but rarely seen. This is almost entirely due to the discontinuance of the use of chill tonics."

The importance of remaining indoors at night is impressed on the people. "The house of each white employé is thoroughly screened with 16 or 18 mesh wire. Every bed in the tenant houses has a bar, that does not open on the side, of 16 mesh. Each manager is supplied with three grain quinine capsules, compound cathartic pills, epsom salts, and castor oil, and instructed in their use. In 1915 the force used 50,250 quinine capsules, 480 six ounce bottles of epsom salts, and 19,500 cathartic pills.

To prevent malaria they gave twelve grains of quinine at bedtime for two nights each week during the flight of anopheline mosquitoes. The first flight of anopheline mosquitoes in that locality occurs in May, the last in October or November, with the first good frost. There is no reason for giving prophylactic quinine when there are no mosquitoes to infect—that is, from the last of October until May 1.

To thoroughly cure a case of malaria they follow this plan. The patient, if an adult, is given epsom salts; if a child, castor oil. This is followed by five three grain quinine capsules, given at bedtime. The quinine is repeated every night for four nights. Then it is given two nights a week for six weeks. Late in the fall the dose of quinine is followed by a dose of dilute muriatic acid in water—one drop of the acid for each grain of quinine.

The company employs a sanitarian, who advises as to breeding places for mosquitoes, draining, oiling, and screening.

Malaria is doubly important just now, since mosquitoes will soon disappear and human carriers will be the sole source of malaria. Last year blood examinations of employés showed that 40 per cent of 1,200 to 1,600 employés were malarial. These examinations were made in the winter. None complained of malaria, or even suspected that they had it. This winter, through having treated the cases more thoroughly, they expect to find fewer carriers. The carriers found will be given quinine by injection.

INTESTINAL FERMENTATION.

X. Q. writes: "1. What was the date of publication of your article on cascara recently referred to?

"2. Is there any place where the bran bread which you recommend can be obtained by persons who cannot conveniently have it prepared at home?

"3. Is the bran cereal cooked or uncoked?

"4. Should any definite change be made in the diet of a person near 60, an underweight with no tendency to increase?

"5. What is the most likely cause and remedy for a marked increase in tendency to production of gas in both stomach and intestines at the above time of life? And for decreasing ability to eat fruit, the fruit juices seeming to check digestion of other food?

"6. When should fruit be eaten where there are these difficulties of digestion, before or after or along with other food, or entirely between meals?"

REPLY.

1. I have written about cascara more than once. What do you wish to know?
2. Yes. There are many makes of bran bread on the market.
3. Can be eaten either way.
4. Generally speaking, the only change necessary is to slightly decrease the amount eaten.
5. Intestinal fermentation is probably the condition. Eating too freely of sugars and starches the cause. To eat less sugar, bread, pastry, desserts, potato, and fruit the remedy.
6. More important than the time of eating fruit is the quantity eaten. Apples especially are liable to produce gas when eaten too freely.

PEANUT BUTTER AND OLEOMARGARINE.

P. J. H. writes: "1. Please tell me the value of peanut butter and of oleomargarine as a food, both as compared to butter, and digestibility as well as food value. 2. Also, is canned milk as nourishing and as digestible for an adult as new milk?"

REPLY.

1. Both peanut butter and oleomargarine have high food value. Good butter is best for growing children. For adults they are about on a par, provided they are all of good quality.

2. Fluid milk is better than canned milk both for grown people and for children. This assumes that the fluid milk is clean, fresh, cold, and not infected. As between a good grade of canned milk and a poor grade of fluid milk, take the former.

DIVORCE is frowned upon to such an extent by the national orthodox Church of Russia, of which Emperor Nicholas is not only the temporal but also the ecclesiastical chief, that it must have cost him much to have given his sanction last week to the dissolution of the marriage of the younger of his two sisters, Grandduchess Olga, to Duke Peter of Oldenburg. The union thus severed has lasted just fifteen years and has remained without issue.

It is merely another of a whole series of divorces which the czar has been called upon to give his consent to among the members of the imperial family, where such things were formerly unknown. Thus, he was obliged to permit, ten years ago, the divorce of Princess Stana of Montenegro from her first husband, Duke George Romanoffski, in order to admit of her becoming the wife of Grandduke Nicholas Nicholaiovitch, generalissimo of the Russian armies recently operating against the Turks in Asia Minor, and who has just been transferred to the command of the Muscovite forces which are to coöperate with the Roumanians against the Bulgarians.

The emperor also has had to sanction the divorce of Natalie Scheremeterska from Capt. von Woulfert of the Chevaliers gardes, in order to enable her to become the morganatic wife of his brother, Grandduke Michael Alexandrovitch, second heir to the throne. She now bears the title of Countess Brassoff, bestowed upon her by the czar.

Then the emperor was called upon to give his approval to the marriage of his first cousin, Grandduke Cyril, to Princess Victoria of Great Britain and of Saxe-Coburg Gotha, after her divorce from the reigning Grandduke of Hesse, who is the czarina's only brother.

Still another divorce to which the emperor had to give sanction was that of his cousin, Grandduchess Marie Pavlovna, from her husband, Prince William of Sweden, Duke of Sudermania; while Grand Duke Paul Alexandrovitch was unable to wed Olga Karnovitch until his nephew, the czar, had given his consent, ecclesiastical and temporal, to her divorce from Gen. Pistohlkors of the Muscovite army. Formerly she was known by the title of Countess Hohenfelsen, bestowed upon her by the late prince regent of Bavaria, but now enjoys the Russian title of Princess Palay, accorded to her by Emperor Nicholas.

Nor is this quite all. For the emperor's elder sister, Grandduchess Xenia, has long been on terms quite strained with her husband, Grandduke Alexander Michaelaiovitch, and during the years immediately preceding the war the extent to which they lived apart from one another attracted a good deal of attention, both in Russia and abroad.

Grandduchess Olga, who is now enabled to remarry and of whose embarkation upon a happier union we may hear ere long, bears a good deal of resemblance to her mother, the widowed czarina, and was rather delicate as a child, owing to injuries received in the terrible railroad accident of Borki, when the imperial train in which the late emperor was traveling with the empress and their children was hurled down a high embankment. They were seated at dinner at the time, and how they escaped with their lives was a miracle.

The now widowed czarina sustained a severe shock to her nervous system and so, too, did the late czar. Grand Duchess Olga was the only one who sustained any actual injury, though three of the men servants who were waiting at the imperial table were killed.

Duke Peter of Oldenburg, who thus finds himself bereft of a very fascinating wife, is the not particularly attractive only son of Duke and Duchess Alexander of Oldenburg. Duke Alexander is the supreme chief of the medical service of the military and naval forces of Russia and surgeon generalissimo.

That he should hold such a position in the Muscovite service is somewhat astonishing, in view of the fact that he is a scion of one of the reigning houses of Germany and in the immediate line of succession to the German grandducal throne of Oldenburg. He was born in Russia, of a Russian mother, Grandduchess Catherine Pavlovna, and has spent his entire life in the dominions and in the military service of the czar. As the reigning house of Russia constitutes part and parcel of the Oldenburg dynasty, Duke Alexander always has been considered at Petrograd as a member of the Russian imperial family. Moreover, his wife is one of the daughters of the union of Grandduchess Marie of Russia with the Duke of Leuchtenburg, himself a son of Eugene de Beauharnais, stepson of the first Napoleon.

To the list of British peers of the realm who have been bereft of their eldest sons and heirs in the present war must now be added the name of Lord Tennyson, whose first born, Capt. the Hon. Hallam Tennyson, captain of the rifle brigade and formerly of the Coldstream guards, has just succumbed to wounds received in the battle of the Somme.

Lord Tennyson already is in mourning for his youngest son, the Hon. Harold Tennyson, who gave his life for his country in January last, while serving as lieutenant of the navy.

As both of these sons of Lord Tennyson were unmarried, he has left only one son, of the name of Alfred, also a captain of the rifle brigade and serving at the front in France, to succeed to the peerage bestowed by Queen Victoria upon her poet laureate.

Lord Tennyson has been governor general of the commonwealth of Australia and now holds the office of governor of Carisbrooke castle and deputy governor of the Isle of Wight. He has written a memoir of his father, has published several volumes of verses, and is a very popular and kindly man. Like his eldest son, whom he has just lost, he bears the Christian name of Hallam.

There is an amusing story connected therewith. Henry Hallam, the eminent historian and intimate friend of the poet laureate, had consented to act as godfather to the latter's eldest son, the present peer. But nobody had decided upon the name which the child was to receive up to the time when the christening party arrived at the church. In fact, nobody seems to have thought about the matter at all.

"What shall we call him?" asked Hallam, when the party had taken their places at the font.

"O, Hallam, I suppose," replied the bard.

"But why not Alfred?" suggested Hallam.

"Well," exclaimed the infant's father, "I thought of that. But suppose he were to turn out to be a fool?"

So the child was christened Hallam.

The fears of the poet have been belied, and while Lord Tennyson may not have inherited his father's poetical genius, nor his eccentricity, nor yet his amazing vanity, yet he has turned out to be a very level headed and sensible man, as well as a capable and successful administrator.

WHY DEMOCRACY OBJECTS TO A "HAMMER" CAMPAIGN

TELLING THEIR AGES.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—[To the Friend of the People.]—On registering Saturday the question in regard to my length of residence in the United States was asked. Had I answered the question it would have been equivalent to giving my age, which the law does not require. I therefore refused to answer further than to state that I have been a resident of the United States twenty-one years. This period, however, was less than the time I gave as having resided in county and state. I do not wish to be disqualified, nor do I wish to state my age. What shall I do? H. S.

Your answer as given will serve the purpose. In spite of what has been said about the necessity of giving the length of time in the United States, the answer "more than twenty-one years" will suffice. No challenge later or disqualification will follow.

SOUTH ROBEY STREET IMPROVEMENTS.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—[To the Friend of the People.]—When will Robey street, between Seventy-ninth and Eighty-third streets, be improved with water mains? P. J. G.

The contract for water mains in a system of streets, including Robey street, from Seventy-ninth to Eighty-third streets, was awarded on Aug. 30. M. J. FAHERTY,

L STATION AT EIGHTH STREET.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Rumor has it that the South Side L contemplates the construction of a station at East Eighth street. Is this true? J. H. L.

U. S. MILITARY UNIFORMS.

Elgin, Ill., Oct. 8.—[To the Friend of the People.]—A veteran of the civil war claims that when the rebels took Fort Sumter they captured all the national uniforms, which then were gray, and therefore the union forces had to adopt some other color and they used the blue. Kindly verify this for me.

S. R. B.

The prevailing color of uniforms in the American army was blue until khaki was adopted. The military dress of the United States was copied from the French uniforms and the color scheme adopted by that country was blue. As late as 1899 French styles in army equipment in this country were still in vogue. The uniforms of the American revolution were of every variety, brown and white, blue and red, black and red, green and red, blue and white, etc. The first reference we have to a typical American uniform is the revolutionary "blue and buff" spoken of as being worn at the inaugural ball on April 30, 1789. Duane's "Military Dictionary" and Hoyt's book of the same title, published in 1810, speak of the established uniform of the United States as blue.

SECURE POWER OF ATTORNEY.

Stanton, Ia., Sept. 27.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A party owes me because of inability to get money due him. He offers to assign me a certain amount of the claim he holds against another party. If I accept the assignment can I sue the party in my name and collect the amount just the same as he could? Do I have the same right to sue in my own name that he has?

You probably could sue in your own name. But to protect yourself fully you should secure power of attorney from the debtor to bring suit in his name and to prosecute the action.
TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

GERMAN PRISONERS IN RUSSIA.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The party who is responsible for having caused the publication of the picture showing some German war prisoners in Siberia has certainly shown very bad taste, to say the least, and I wish to thank you for your satirical head line, "It's Great to Be a Prisoner in Siberia!" Compare, please, the following short extracts from a voluminous report of a Red Cross society on the true conditions in Siberian war prisoner camps, as found on a tour of inspection:

"Kansk—Conditions in this camp were the worst conceivable in so far as housing, clothing, nutrition, and treatment were concerned. Straw sacks and boots were given to German prisoners for our visit, some of the boots being loaned by the Russian soldiers. Both boots and sacks were taken away when our visit was over. Hospital conditions: For our inspection a school building was fitted up and supplied with beds, but until our arrival the 250 patients had been kept on the floor of four brewery rooms. The nourishment was less than the minimum needed to sustain life, and we were assured that hundreds had starved.

Balagansk—Have only civil prisoners. We found 108 men, 46 women, and 42 children. Some were held for months in the jails of Irkutsk and driven on the roads from Firet with whippings by their escorts. One elderly man was beaten to death, and in the winter there were many cases of frozen limbs. Among these prisoners were several persons from 70 to 80 years old.

Irkutsk—All punishment consisted in beating with a whip.

Rasdolnoe—Three or four times the civil engineer had cossacks from the neighborhood summoned and all prisoners had to run the gantlet. The under officers were then laid on the floor and whipped. The colonel explained that it had happened without his knowledge, but even he summoned cossacks by night and sent them into the barracks for Austrian officers, who were dragged out of bed and beaten. A report on this procedure was sent by the American consulate in Vladivostok to the embassy in St. Petersburg, etc., ad infinitum et nauseam.

TREATMENT OF POSTAL EMPLOYES.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Headline in THE TRIBUNE, "342 Soldiers Return Jobless." Railway postal clerks were granted a fifteen day vacation during the last session of congress. Whenever a clerk makes application for a vacation the officials say they cannot get men to take their places and very few vacations are being granted, in fact on the larger lines there has not been a single leave granted. Still the government turns these men out without jobs when this same government cannot get men enough to give its employés vacations. POSTAL.

HE CANNOT ANSWER IT.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—[Editor of the Tribune.]—Col. Roosevelt's speech at Battle Creek, Mich., was a most powerful and incisive arraignment of the present administration. It will take its rank as one of the greatest political speeches ever delivered. President Wilson, it is so reported, has decided to ignore it.

Col. Roosevelt's charges can easily be proved or disproved by the history of this country for the past three and one-half years. This history is an open book. In fairness to the people of this country, President Wilson cannot shield himself or his administration by surrounding himself with the dignity of his high office. The office of president of the United States is a high office—one of the highest in the world—and an office of great dignity.

This is a republic and there is nothing of the divine right about the office of president or any other office in this land. The president of the United States and every officeholder in our country is simply a servant of the people and he is subject at all times to all open, fair, truthful, and honest criticism.

If Col. Roosevelt's indictment is truthful, President Wilson deserves the criticism; if untruthful, then it should be answered and its untruthfulness pointed out. President Wilson is before the bar of the American people—he is asking for the votes of this people. To the charges presented by Col. Roosevelt, in justice to his followers and constituents he should enter his plea and it should not be the ancient plea of "nolo contendere." L. B. LANGWORTHY.

FUTILE INVESTIGATIONS.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—A newspaper article carries the heading, "U S. Exports at Record August Total, $510,000,000, World Mark." It sounds good. A little to the left is a column, "U. S. Busy on Bread Cost."

It seems to me the U. S. would not have to get busy on the bread cost if it started at the right place, and investigated that world record of $510,000,000 to find out what brought it up to this mark.

Our present administration shouts about the prosperity we are having, but they are not shouting about the hard times the average workingman is having to pay for the necessities of life, such as bread, coal, potatoes, flour, and meat.

We today are paying as much if not more than the warring nations for these same necessities, and what becomes of all these investigations nobody knows, except that they find their way to the front page of every newspaper in big headlines and again disappear without any results, the same as the investigations on the rise in wheat.

What I think ought to be done is to investigate this world mark in exports and they may find a way to eliminate these petty investigations which come to naught, and certainly do not come under the heading of political economy.

NO SUFFRAGE BY U.S. AMENDMENT UNDER WILSON

ARTICLE NO. 23.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—The women of the country cannot expect to achieve national enfranchisement of their sex while Woodrow Wilson remains president of the United States. Contending that suffrage is purely a state question, neither he nor his party will further the movement to give women the vote by an amendment to the constitution.

If, however, Mr. Hughes should be elected the women reasonably may expect that within the next four years congress will submit to the states the pending Susan B. Anthony constitutional amendment removing sex, as the fifteenth amendment removed color, from the inhibitions of suffrage. Mr. Hughes is pledged to do all in his power to obtain congressional approval of the amendment.

They Had Banked on Him.

Suffragists were inclined to regard the author of "The New Freedom" as a distinctly hopeful possibility. To demonstrate unmistakably the strength of sentiment behind the proposed reform, they ushered in his administration with a great suffrage parade on March 3, 1913.

During March and April three deputations, representing the National American Woman Suffrage association, the College league, and the National Council of Women Voters, waited upon the president, and to all of them Mr. Wilson, without committing himself on the merit of their request for his support, replied that the tariff question must be settled before any other question could be considered.

Until the tariff bill had been passed suffrage leaders did not again approach the president. In the meantime the resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution nationally enfranchising women was reported favorably by the senate committee on woman suffrage and frequently debated on the floor. The house judiciary committee promptly pigeonholed the measure.

How President Dodged.

In November a deputation of seventy-three women from his home state, having tried in vain to secure an appointment with the president, called at the White House and insisted on presenting their request that he assist in obtaining consideration of the measure. He replied that he had already "talked with several members of congress in regard to a suffrage committee in the house," that the subject was one in which he was "deeply interested," and that they might rest assured he would give it his "earnest consideration."

A few weeks later, to a deputation from the National American Woman Suffrage association then in convention in Washington, the president declared that he was "not a free man," but was merely the spokesman of his party, "unable to start anything" or support measures which had not been "embodied as promises to the people at an election."

Congress Stand Influenced.

The president's lack of interest in equal suffrage was faithfully reflected in congress. The Democratic caucus in February refused to authorize the appointment of a woman suffrage committee in the house, and declared by a vote of 124 to 56 that "the question of suffrage is a state and not a federal question."

The following day, on the floor of the house, in reply to the protest of Representative Lenroot of Wisconsin that the action of the caucus had "denied to a great question the right to a hearing," Representative Underwood of Alabama, the majority leader, retorted: "The party that has control of the legislation in congress certainly has the right to say that it will not support a measure if it is not in accordance with its principles. The Democratic party took its position last night, when by a two-thirds vote it fixed our position on that matter."

Beaten in the Senate.

The truth of Mr. Underwood's assertion was borne out by the action of the Democratic leaders in the senate. The resolution was brought to a vote on March 19, 1914, when, as Senator Ashurst, in charge of the measure, admitted, it was certain of defeat. It failed of passage by eleven votes of the necessary two-thirds. Fourteen Democrats and twenty-one Republicans voted for it, and twenty-two Democrats and twelve Republicans against it, a total vote of 35 to 34, with a majority of one for the proposed amendment.

On May 5 the judiciary committee reported the resolution to the house "without recommendation," and in the following week the Democratic caucus adopted the president's program of legislation, in which the suffrage measure was not included.

In June, encouraged by the fact that the president had receded in the case of Panama canal tolls from his previous determination not to advocate measures not embodied in the Democratic platform, a deputation of 500 clubwomen, led by Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, wife of the pure food expert, went again to the White House.

Favors Action by States.

In the interview which took place the president declared that he had "a passion for local self-government, and that it was his conviction that the matter should be settled by the states. Three-fourths of the states, he said, ought not to "force" suffrage on the remaining one-fourth.

In the fall of 1914 organizers of the Congressional union went to the equal suffrage states with their case against the Democratic party and asked the women voters not to support Democratic candidates for national offices so long as the party maintained its attitude of opposition to woman suffrage.

Within a month after congress convened the rules committee reported out the special rule providing for consideration of the proposed amendment.

Beaten in the House.

Mr. Henry, chairman of the rules committee, said a few moments before casting his vote against it that he did not desire any one to have "an opportunity to say hereafter that we [the Democrats] have evaded this important issue."

The vote, the first ever taken in the house, stood 204 against and 174 in favor of the measure. The affirmative vote represented seventy-two Republicans out of a total membership of 123, four progressive Republicans, eleven Progressives, one independent, and eighty-six Democrats out of a total Democratic membership of 282.

Wilson's Various Views.

Since his interview with Mrs. Wiley's deputation, when he refused to be "cross examined," the president has expressed himself as follows:

"Women should first win thirty-six states separately; they could then 'force' it on the remaining twelve." (Dec. 10, 1914, to Miss Anne Martin of Nevada.)

He was "tied to a conviction" which he had had all his life, that suffrage ought to be brought about state by state. (Jan. 6, 1916, to deputation of Democratic women.)

He had an "open mind" and would confer with his party colleagues on this matter. (Dec. 6, 1915, to deputation of woman voters.)

He had not conferred with his colleagues; his own mind was still convinced that suffrage should be won state by state. (Jan. 27, 1916, to deputation of New York women.)

"We must not yield to arguments of political expediency; and, besides, the women cannot deliver the vote." (Message brought by a prominent Democrat to the national Democratic convention at St. Louis, June, 1916.)

Since the Democratic convention had adopted a state rights suffrage plank, he could not favor a federal suffrage amendment. (June 21, 1916, to Mrs. D. E. Hooker of Richmond, representing the Virginia Federation of Labor.)

"President Wilson wrote that plank himself," comments the Congressional union. "Now he says the plank keeps him from helping suffrage."

He was a marshal in the senior class at the University of Chicago two years ago and she was an aid. Together they marched down the aisle of Mandel hall at the head of the graduating class to receive their diplomas.

And now they are going to march down the aisle of an Evanston church together—perhaps this fall. That date has not been set.

The AGE of CONCRETE

We live in the Age of Concrete.

Without concrete modern construction would be impossible, and the Panama Canal would still be a dream.

Concrete the Wizard Material

Concrete has helped the development of our railroads. The usefulness of the automobile is increased by concrete roadways.

Concrete has improved our traffic conditions, but its hard, unyielding surface has added greatly to the fatigue and discomfort of walking. Yet, we could no more do away with concrete than we could with our railroads, subways or automobiles. We must adapt OURSELVES to the trend of modern progress.

O'Sullivan's Heels Make Concrete Soft as Turf

O'Sullivan's heels of New Live Rubber absorb the shock of walking on concrete and all hard surfaces.

When you buy your new shoes, buy them O'Sullivanized. Up-to-date shoe dealers now sell latest style shoes with O'Sullivan's Heels already attached.

HUSBAND KILLS WIFE, THEN TRIES TO END OWN LIFE

Garment Worker Shoots Man and Then Slays Self in Factory.

A murder and attempted suicide and a suicide and attempted murder were the combinations with which the police had to deal yesterday. The two who escaped death yesterday are not expected to live.

Mrs. Frieda Ahrendt, 217 Desplaines avenue, Forest Park.

Gustav Schroeder, 2028 Dakin street.

Henry Haller, 3328 Belden avenue, Iroquois hospital.

Family troubles caused the Ahrendt shooting. Mrs. Ahrendt filed a suit for divorce a short time ago, charging cruelty. They had been living together, but Ahrendt was instructed by his attorney to leave the house pending the hearing of the case. Instead of leaving he secured a revolver.

Hear Couple Quarrel.

Neighbors heard hot words exchanged and then shots. When the police broke in Mrs. Ahrendt was dead. He had a bullet in his brain, but his finger was still working the trigger as he lay on the floor. The police believe that two of the shots were fired after he lay on the floor unconscious. At the Oak Park hospital, where he was taken, it was said he could not live.

Ahrendt had a 12 year old daughter by a former marriage. She was not in the house at the time. Before the shooting he wrote his will and placed it in his sock. All of his property was left to the daughter.

Murder Ends Spree.

The other shooting occurred in the shop of the Chicago Tailoring company at 229 South Market street, and is thought to have been the result of a drunken spree. Scores of garment workers, girls and men, witnessed the affair. Several of the girls screamed and fainted when Louis Strauss, who was in charge of the department, struggled with Schroeder to gain possession of the revolver.

Schroeder had been employed by the firm for fifteen years before his discharge three weeks ago, because of drunkenness. Haller, his victim, began work for another concern yesterday morning, but returned to the old workshop to get a package containing his working clothes. It was at that moment when Schroeder appeared. He approached Strauss.

"Who took that bottle of whisky out of my pocket and got my job?" he demanded.

"I did," said Strauss.

"You lie," said Schroeder. "It was him." He pointed his revolver at Haller. A bullet struck the man in the abdomen. Strauss grappled with Schroeder and took the weapon away. As other employés attempted to seize him Schroeder took another revolver from his pocket and warned the men away. As they stepped back he pulled out a third revolver, with which he shot himself and died instantly.

Didn't Know of Tragedy.

While the newsboys in Belden avenue called their extras lustily, "All about the boy killed in the loop," Mrs. Otto G. Haller at 3328 Belden avenue was in blissful ignorance that they meant her boy.

"I can't understand why he is so late," the mother said, brushing back a wisp of gray hair from her troubled forehead. "Harry is my baby—he's a big boy, 18 years old now.

"He's been my principal prop since I have been a widow, eight years. But if anything has happened to that boy——" the mother broke off, as her two older sons entered the room with serious faces.

Then they told her what had happened.

44 SOLDIERS ASK BUREAUS TO FIND JOBS

Many Positions Open, but Not Suitable Ones, Agency Men Say.

Chicago employers were asked yesterday to make an immediate effort to place forty-four returned soldiers who have thus far failed to find jobs. The request was made by the Association of Commerce and also by J. C. Hise, director in charge of the government's employment bureau.

Of thirty-one applicants who have appealed to the federal bureau for work twenty-seven have thus far been placed. Out of 104 who have made formal application to the Association of Commerce sixty have been directed to suitable openings.

"Too many of the returning soldiers seek to do clerical work," said Mr. Hise. "That is a field always crowded and most of its positions pay less than a good mechanic or chauffeur can get."

The Jobs Desired.

A list of some of the jobs desired as given out by the Association of Commerce and the federal bureau is as follows:

Man with two years' training in millinery manufacturing wants office work.

Young man who has done office work wishes to learn railroading or the operation of an elevator.

One wants either office work or work as a house detective.

Eight desire clerical positions.

One desires position as timekeeper or general clerical work.

Four desire positions as clerks or salesmen.

Two desire positions as printers.

Three desire positions as machinists.

High grade man, legal training, wants position in law office or with first class mercantile concern in the credit department.

Man with experience as timekeeper would like position.

Man who has had experience as piano repair man would like position with reliable piano house.

Two would like position as chauffeurs in private families.

One would like employment as bricklayer.

Other Regiments Coming.

The association is making a determined effort to locate the men of the First and Second before the Seventh and Eighth infantry and the First cavalry return.

FALL WARNS OF ALIEN NATIONS' HAND IN MEXICO

Fears Conflict with Europe Over "Dancing Dervish" Wilson's Policies.

Relegation of the United States to a third class power or war with European nations on Mexican soil will result from failure of the United States to settle Mexican affairs before the end of the European conflict, in the view of Senator A. B. Fall of New Mexico. Senator Fall spoke to an audience of 2,000 in Patten gymnasium at Northwestern university last night on Mexican conditions.

Senator Fall blames conditions in Mexico to the vacillating policy of President Wilson, whom he called the "Dancing Dervish of Diplomacy." He predicted a heavy penalty exacted from the United States as soon as Europe gets a chance to turn its attention to America.

"For not intervening in Mexico," said the senator, "European nations will demand heavy damages. If we don't pay we will forfeit all claims to protection of the Monroe doctrine. That will mean we will have to give up the Panama canal, our possessions in the Caribbean sea, and our prestige on this continent."

The speaker asserted he believes if the people were permitted to know all the facts in possession of the state department there wouldn't be a vote cast this year to continue the administration in power.

"I make the charge deliberately," he said, "that there has been a deliberate and successful attempt by the administration to keep the people and even the congress of the United States from knowing the truth."

The speaker quoted from history, and from the state records to show how American lives and property had been protected in the past under less "flagrant provocation, insult, and outrage than has been the case in Mexico."

"In more than 100 cases we have landed armed forces," he said, "or used the guns of our navy for the protection of our citizens, or for the purpose of securing reparation for, or in retaliation for the injury done them or their property."

In dealing with the outrages in Mexico on American citizens, men, women, and children Senator Fall said he held in his hand a list of Americans who have been killed in Mexico. This list carried the names of 285 persons, and he called attention to forty-three more, whose names are unknown, making a total of 328 American lives lost.

Society Brand Clothes

and Men Who Stay Young

We realize the particular need of clothes modeled to express the character and to fit the forms of young men. In SOCIETY BRAND CLOTHES this need has been fulfilled. So cleverly are they designed that the element of youth is always present whether cut for longs, shorts, young stouts or other irregular sizes.

They cost no more than clothes that lack their distinctive features. They have at last supplanted the finer tailor-made-clothes. Ready-to-wear, $20 to $50.

If you seek that extra quality of fabric, ask for "Double Service" Clothes, sold at $30 and up.

A Golden Voice Re-Created

Mr. Edison has re-created the great Zenatello's voice. Come—hear it at this special concert today.

Opera boasts few voices like Zenatello's. "Like a rich, golden glow", says one newspaper critic. "An astonishing, almost overwhelming beauty," says another.

The NEW EDISON

brings you not a mere suggestion of Zenatello's beautiful tones, but the very tones themselves in all their living splendor. Re-Creation. That alone describes Mr. Edison's new art. It is music—pure, unsullied! Actual comparison with the living tone will prove it. Will you not judge for yourself?

Concert Today

There will be a special program of Mr. Edison's re-creations aside from Zenatello's. Marie Rappold, Jaques Urlus and Anna Case—all great opera stars—will be heard. Also orchestral numbers and selections of the popular hits of the day. Judge by these the wonder of Edison's new art. You are welcome. Concert from 11:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.

United States 'Royal Cord' Tires

UNITED STATES TIRE COMPANY - 'ROYAL CORD' US

'Royal Cords' actually possess not only unusual anti-skid qualities, but also remarkable durability.

For example, the recent Hudson Super Six world's record run from San Francisco to New York was made on 'Royal Cord' Tires, which gave what experienced road drivers call perfect service—3,459 miles with no tire trouble whatever.

CITY RECEIVES PROPOSAL FROM GAS COMPANY

President Insull Proffers Rate Cuts Dependent on the Net Profits.

Proposing a sliding scale of rates for gas to be cut in proportion to net profits, and offering to refund to consumers one-third of the amount collected during the last five years in excess of the rates fixed by the disputed gas ordinance, the People's Gaslight and Coke company yesterday submitted to the city a proposition for comprehensive settlement. The whole proposition is contingent upon the acceptance by the city of the heat unit standard to replace the present candle power standard.

Engineers of the gas company delivered the proposals to the city council subcommittee authorized to receive the suggestions of the public utility. Except to emphasize the assertion that the proposals have neither their approval nor disapproval, members of the subcommittee refused to comment. The proposition will come up in a day or two before the council committees on gas, oil, and electric light and on gas litigation.

The Proposition.

The gas company's proposal is, in brief, as follows:

1. The agreement to continue for five years.

2. The heat unit standard to be accepted by the city.

3. A sliding scale of rates per 1,000 cubic feet on this basis; primary rate, 75 cents; secondary rate, 65 cents; all in excess of 7,000 cubic feet a month, 35 cents. The company experts fix the average rate at 70½ cents.

4. Profit sharing: the net profits of the company each year are to be divided 85 per cent and 15 per cent. The 15 per cent shall be distributed to the 670,000 consumers by a horizontal cut in rates. The 85 per cent shall be paid to the company.

5. The company proposes to refund from its books to consumers on the books at the date of making payment, one-third of the amount of charges collected in excess of the rates fixed by the disputed gas ordinance of July 17, 1911.

Insull Says "Last Word."

"This is the company's last word in an effort to take the gas problem out of politics and put it on a business basis, Samuel Insull, chairman of the company's directorate, said. "The proposals are not to be traded on, but represent our final concessions. The stockholder will receive his dividends, and the consumer will receive horizontal rate reductions based upon 15 per cent of the net profits."

Mr. Insull also expressed indignation at the circulation of reports which sent the gas stock climbing on the stock exchange yesterday.

"Neither I nor my friends," he said, "have bought or sold a single share of stock. Our net earnings this year will be adversely affected by the high cost of operation due to the price of oil used in making candle power gas. Nor is there anything in connection with our negotiations with the city to justify the increase in price."

Aldermen Are Critical.

While members of the two council committees had little to say on the gas company's proposals pending the receipt of detailed information, it was apparent that the aldermen are in a critical mood. There appeared no disposition toward a hasty acceptance of the company's suggestions, even though they constitute a "last word." Representatives of the company probably will be called upon to explain in detail the suggestions submitted to the subcommittee, which was empowered not to negotiate with the company but merely to receive whatever the company proposed.

"Neither Ald. Lawley nor I have seen the offer as yet," said Ald. Lewis D. Sitts, chairman of the gas, oil, and electric light committee, last night. "I approve of the scheme presented by the company as published in the newspapers, though I can't say that I approve all the figures as yet."

In proposing the acceptance of the heat unit standard, the company offers to furnish free to each consumer who is wholly dependent upon flat flame burners one Junior mantle light. Additional mantles, it is proposed, will be furnished at cost, payment to be distributed over a period of six months. The present cost of these mantles, according to company engineers, is about 50 cents each.

Sliding Scale Summarized.

The sliding scale of rates is summarized in the report as follows:

	Cubic feet capacity per hour.	Minimum gas to be bought.	Minimum monthly bill.	Cubic feet at primary rate.	Cubic feet secondary rate.
A..	0 to 67	600	$0.45	2,100	7,000
B..	67 to 94	800	.60	4,000	7,300
C..	94 to 148	1,200	.90	5,000	7,000
D..	148 to 218	1,600	1.20	6,000	7,000

According to William G. Woolfolk, one of the engineers who represented the company, about 90 per cent of the 670,000 consumers come under classes A and B. The profit sharing feature is to go into operation within a year after the agreement is accepted.

Estimates by the company's experts are that the first year's net profits under the new plan would be $3,000,000. Of this amount 15 per cent, or $450,000, to go to consumers. This would mean a horizontal reduction in rates for the year to come of approximately 2¼ cents, which would bring the average rate down to 68¼ cents per 1,000 cubic feet. The rate would increase or decrease each year in proportion to the net profits.

Profit Sharing Proposal.

"The company proposes that—after deducting all normal operating expense as heretofore from gross income, and after deducting bond interest and 6 per cent on any future securities issued under authority of the state public utilities commission in exchange for new capital—the remaining earnings shall be divided between the company and the consumers in the following manner: Eighty-five per cent to the company; 15 per cent to the consumers in rate reductions as a 'consumer's dividend.'"

A saving of approximately 14 per cent will go to the consumer if the proposed plan is put in effect, according to the company estimates. The average gas bill for the year 1915 was $23.54. With the same consumption, according to the company engineers, the average bill under the proposed plan would be $20.24.

Average Gas Bills.

1907	28.69	1913	25.80
1910	28.40

A $12,000,000 plant for the manufacture of the heat unit gas—coal gas—is the plan of the company if its proposals are accepted by the city, according to Mr. Woolfolk.

"The ideal in the production of coal gas as a by-product," he said, "is to bring the cost of manufacture to the zero mark, and leave only the cost of distribution to be borne by the consumer. The $12,000,000 plant, to be built in three sections, would mean the putting on the market of a great quantity of coke. Upon the price at which that coke and other by-products might be sold would depend the price of gas."

Want More Gas Used.

By reducing the price of gas, the company officials say they hope to increase consumption so that the average gas bill, instead of decreasing, will increase. Economies effected by the heat unit standard and accompanying conditions of manufacture will, it is believed by the company, bring gas into greater use for heat and fuel.

As to the suggestion for settling the present litigation over the gas ordinance of 1911, the company proposed to pay one-third of the total of approximately $10,000,000. Concerning this proposal, the statement issued by the engineers says that the company does not concede the justice of the city's claim, but desires to wipe the slate clean of all past misunderstandings in order that "the company may start anew its processes of manufacture in an atmosphere of sympathy and understanding." If the settlement is accepted the refunds will be made to gas patrons in ten parts, running over five years, and it will not be necessary for the consumers to produce their old bills.

The company was represented in the making of the proposals by Mr. Woolfolk, Christopher T. Chenery, and Cecil Elmes. The council subcommittee consists of Ald. James H. Lawley and Ald. Lewis D. Sitts, Special Assistant Corporation Counsel Donald R. Richberg, and Edward W. Bemis.

GRANDPA DIDN'T NEED CASCARETS FOR THE BOWELS

Two hours a day sawing wood will keep liver and bowels right.

You who take exercise in an easy chair must take "Cascarets."

Enjoy life—feel bully! Don't stay sick, bilious, headachy, constipated. Remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, your breath offensive, stomach sour, and your body full of cold. Why don't you get a 10 or 25 cent box of Cascarets at the drug store and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced? Cascarets work while you sleep. You will wake up feeling fit and fine. Children need this candy cathartic, too.—Advertisement.

URGES COMBINE OF TRACTION AND LIGHT COMPANIES

Philadelphian Declares Chicago's Public Utilities Should Be Consolidated.

Chicago's chief public utilities—the gas, electric, and railway transportation companies—must be hitched together and driven like a team of horses by a home rule utilities commission to give Chicago maximum efficiency and public service at minimum cost, according to Morris L. Cooke of Philadelphia, former director of public works of that city.

Mr. Cooke, who is now director of the Utilities Bureau of America, organized four years ago by mayors of the larger American cities, told a TRIBUNE reporter yesterday why Chicago should have home rule of utilities, after he had scored national public utilities organizations in an address at the City club of Chicago. Former Mayor Carter H. Harrison was one of the organizers of the Utilities Bureau of America.

Attacks Light Association.

The National Electric Light association was the subject of particular attack in Mr. Cooke's address before more than 200 engineers, architects, and rate experts at the City club luncheon. The national organization of steam railroad interests is only as "a ladies' aid society to an Italian vendetta" in comparison with the National Electric Light association, he said.

Warning against a growing tendency of the utilities companies to gain control of educational courses, departments, and institutions, Mr. Cooke declared that the only relief can be found in more local, stringent regulation.

"We look forward to the day when all utilities properties in any given locality will be coördinated, and, whether under private or public operation, operated as a unit and only for the public good," he said.

Amplifying his address later for THE TRIBUNE, Mr. Cooke declared that the gas, electric, and railways companies should be driven together by a local supervising commission.

"The state commission should be maintained as a general bureau, but it should not have jurisdiction over Chicago's utilities, or appellate jurisdiction over the Chicago commission," he said. "It would be to the interests of the public throughout the state if the burden of supervising Chicago's public utilities were lifted from the shoulders of the state commission.

Urges Supervision.

"To obtain maximum efficiency, Chicago must have supervision of utilities, and these utilities should be so directed as to make them coöperate. Thus, the electric company should be required to furnish motive power for the railways; the gas and electric companies should be operated upon a mutual basis, and all the chief utilities should be directed as one public service. Greater efficiency would be ganied at minimum cost, without diversity of interest, under this plan."

Mr. Cooke was given chief credit in an editorial in the North American of Philadelphia for results obtained in an action against the Philadelphia Electric company before the state public service commission last spring.

Under an agreement resulting from the action charges to the city and private consumers were reduced by more than $1,000,000 the year, according to the North American.

HILL JOB TO WEYERHAEUSER

Son of Late Lumberman Elected to Directorate of Great Northern Railway.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 10.—Frederick E. Weyerhaeuser, son of the late Frederick Weyerhaeuser, multimillionaire lumberman, was elected a director of the Great Northern railway company to fill the vacancy caused by the death of James J. Hill at a meeting of the board of directors held today in the offices of Louis W. Hill, president of the railway company.

An Open Letter to

Financier

Dear Mr. Lawson:

1. No man in this country realizes the value of enterprise more than you do. No one is more aggressive, forceful and fearless. I still recall, with pleasure, your vigorous advertising campaign in the American newspapers and the profound impression it created.

2. I want to create just such an impression with the LORD SALISBURY Cigarette. I've got the solution of the cigarette problem for all classes of people and if I can make the smokers see it, the work is done. After that the Lord Salisbury will take care of itself.

3. This Cigarette, Mr. Lawson, is the only 100% pure-all-Turkish-tobacco cigarette in existence that sells for as low as 15 cents for 20.

4. Hence the Lord Salisbury Cigarette is a big commercial and economic triumph because instead of interesting and benefitting only one class of people, it interests and benefits—and will prove desirable to all classes, and for that reason it is a mighty big thing.

5. And because it is of a very fine grade of pure Turkish tobacco and sells at a minimum price, it reduces the cost of a commodity which has become an undeniable necessity. To a man like you, to whom enterprise is an hourly thought, this means a great public benefit.

Cordially yours,

W. K. Cochrane

FAST FINISH BY DOLAN DEFEATS MATTY SMITH

ERTLE HELD TO DRAW.

Racine, Wis., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—In one of the best battles ever seen here Red Dolan of Chicago and Matty Smith of Racine, at 133 pounds weight, fought ten rounds before a crowd of 3,000 fans with Dolan earning the honors.

It was an even bout until the eighth, when Dolan battered his opponent, driving him about with heavy smashes to the jaw and head. Although Smith landed jabs on Dolan, his blows were not as effective as those of his opponent. Smith was bleeding at the nose and mouth at the close of the seventh round and during the remaining three appeared weak, although he fought Dolan to the ropes at times.

The bout between Morrie Bloom and Spike Kelly, both of Chicago, was a burlesque until the eighth round, when the hisses of the crowd drove the men to do a bit of fighting. Kelly then pounded Bloom to all sections of the ring, giving him severe punishment.

LEVINSKY BEATS SMITH.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Battling Levinsky obtained the decision over Gunboat Smith in their twelve round bout at the Armory A. C. Levinsky did most of the landing and showed the greater skill. His left shots at the head and his right drives at the body bothered Smith. The latter jabbed occasionally, but was not able to follow up any temporary advantage that he obtained.

Smith scored heavily with his right in many rounds, however, but invariably broke ground immediately afterward. The bout was far from satisfactory and the crowd could not understand how men of their reputation could miss so often.

DILLON FLOORS GRANDE.

New York, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Jack Dillon knocked out Sailor Grande in one minute and thirty seconds of fighting in the second round of their scheduled ten round bout at the Broadway Sporting club in Brooklyn. One of Dillon's haymakers to the chin flattened the seagoing man. At no time did Grande appear to have a chance.

MATT BROCK WALLOPS CAMPI.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Matt Brock of Cleveland made quick work of Eddie Campi. Their bout was stopped in the second round by Referee Eddie Potts after Campi had taken the nine count twice, the five once, and was on his back again for about six more.

Campi danced around Brock for a minute or so, and when he came in the first time the Clevelander landed his famous left uppercut. Campi took five counts, got up, received another wallop, and went down for nine. Campi weathered the round by clinching.

At the start of the second Campi appeared refreshed, but about midway Brock landed for another nine. Campi got up and went down again, when the referee stopped the go.

ERTLE HELD TO DRAW.

New York, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Johnny Ertle, supposed bantam champion, will remember tonight as long as he lives. A lanky west side youth, Joe Lynch by name, gave him a fight for ten rounds at the Pioneer Sporting club that had a lot of our best citizens doing a sand jig on the chairs. Ertle's aggressiveness earned him a draw and no more. Lynch, remarkably tall for a bantam, held the champion even, and had he continued the use of a splendidly effective left jab he would have won without question.

DILLON TO SCRAP GIBBONS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Jack Dillon and Mike Gibbons have been matched for a bout in St. Paul Nov. 10. Both the "Giant Killer" and the "Phantom" have been reported as anxious to test the other's scrapping abilities for some time and the go is expected to provide an exhibition of whirlwind speed and stamina. The announcement of the signing of articles was made from the ring at the Matt Brock-Eddie Campi fight tonight.

NEW YORK COURT RULES ORAL BETTING IS ILLEGAL.

New York, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—In a decision received today by District Attorney O'Leary of Queens the Appellate division declares oral betting illegal.

The decision was rendered on an appeal taken by Morris Solomon and Julius Cahn, who were arrested at the Aqueduct track and convicted in special sessions, Queens, of having accepted a bet from a detective. They received workhouse sentences.

Justice Thomas in writing the decision, which was concurred in by the other members of the court, states: "It is not necessary that bookmaking should be in writing. In this case the accused announced odds to persons drawn to them and conducted their operations as openly as they deemed safe. No one who applied to them to bet was rejected, not even the detective."

INJURY IN FOOTBALL FATAL

"TRIBUNE" DECISIONS

G. SIMPSON ONLY CHICAGO WINNER IN 'PRO' TOURNEY

New York, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Only one of the fourteen matches in the Professional Golfers' association championship tournament for the Wanamaker prizes was carried to the home green on the links of the Siwanoy Country club today. That one brought about the defeat of Wilfrid Reid, Wilmington representative, who had made a plucky, uphill fight after being 5 down to J. J. O'Brien of Mansfield, O.

Indian Hill Pro Beaten.

Among the favorites to come through was James Barnes, former western open champion, from White Marsh, who never really got into his swing until the afternoon. He had too much length for George Frotheringham of Indian Hill, Chicago, although the Scot made it interesting enough in the early hours. Barnes' margin at the intermission was 2 up. Going out in 37 later, Barnes quickly settled all doubts.

Probably the best match of the day brought together Bob Macdonald of Buffalo and James Donaldson of Glenview. At the end of the morning round Donaldson stood 1 up and at one stage in the afternoon he had increased this to 2 up. Macdonald won, 3 and 2.

Summary of Play.

First round—Tom Kerrigan, Siwanoy, beat Charles G. Adams, Santa Barbara, 6 and 4; George McLean, Dunwoodie, beat Tom McNamara, unattached 6 and 4; Alec Smith Wykagyl, beat James Ferguson, Spring Lake, 4 and 2; James M. Barnes, White Marsh Valley, beat George Frotheringham, Indian Hill, 8 and 7; Will MacFarlane, Hudson River, beat Robert A. McNulty, La Grange, 10 and 9; Michael J. Brady, Oakley, beat James West, Rockaway Hunt, 7 and 6; Jack Dowling, Scarsdale, beat Jack Pirie, Richmond County, 3 and 2; Emmet J. French, York, beat Eddie Towne, Oxford, 3 and 1; J. J. O'Brien, Mansfield, O., beat Wilfrid F. Reid, Wilmington, 1 up; George O. Simpson, Oak Park, beat Walter G. Fovargue, Skokie, 6 and 5; R. G. MacDonald, Buffalo, beat James Donaldson, Glen View, 3 and 2; Walter Hagen, Rochester, beat James R. Thomson, Philadelphia, 7 and 6; Jack Hutchinson, Allegheny, beat Joe Mitchell, Ridgewood, 11 and 9; William Brown, Springfield, won from Fred Clarkson, Oakwood, by default; Cyril Walker, Wabash, beat Louis Tellier, Brookline, 4 and 2; Jack Hobens, Englewood, won from Michael Sherman, Sioux City, by default.

JEROME TRAVERS MARRIES MISS TIFFANY SATURDAY

New York, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Jerome Dunstan Travers, open golf champion in 1915 and former amateur golf champion, and Miss Dorris Tiffany of 126 Claremont avenue, daughter of Walter Cuyler Tiffany of Newburgh, N. Y., obtained a marriage license today at the municipal building. They are to be married on Oct. 14 at the First Presbyterian church in Newburgh by the Rev. F. E. Stockwell. Miss Tiffany is 27 years old. The noted golfer gave his occupation as cotton broker. He is 29 years old.

NOTES OF THE GOLFERS.

The Chicago Press Golf club will hold its final tournament of the season at the Skokie Country club, Glencoe, Tuesday, Oct. 18.

Mrs. Thomas Langford of Glen Oak won the N. W. G. A. open day tournament at Glen Oak with a card of 92 gross. Mrs. J. R. McGregor, Westward Ho, had low net, 95—8—87; Mrs. F. D. Burgess of Wheaton, 95—8—87, and Mrs. H. A. Mehrle, 104—17—87, tying for second low net.

Walter J. Travis, former national and British champion, was in Chicago yesterday visiting the Chicago club at Wheaton. The greens there have not been as good as in previous years and Mr. Travis prescribed a course of treatment for them. On Monday afternoon the Garden City star visited the Old Elm course, and describes it as "really superb." Last week he spent three days at the Milwaukee Country club and made a number of suggestion as to rebunkering.

EIGHTY TEAMS IN FIGHT FOR U. S. SOCCER HONORS.

Eighty clubs have entered for the annual championship series of the United States Football association. The districts represented are Rhode Island, Connecticut, Massachusetts, eastern Pennsylvania, western Pennsylvania, Cleveland, New York and New Jersey, northwestern New York, Chicago, and Detroit.

Thirty-four teams are billed to compete in the qualifying round, which must be played by Oct. 22. Wanderers will meet Slavia in the local series. The winning team will enter the first round, meeting the Joliet Steel works. Other Chicago matches in this round are Chicago Americans and Pullman A. F. C., Hyde Park Blues and Bricklayers, MacDuffs and Pullman Professional F. C.

John A. Fernley of Pawtucket, R. I., president of the United States Football association, has resigned, owing to differences of opinion with Secretary Cahill.

The draw for the second round of the Peel cup contest, set for Sunday afternoon, resulted as follows:

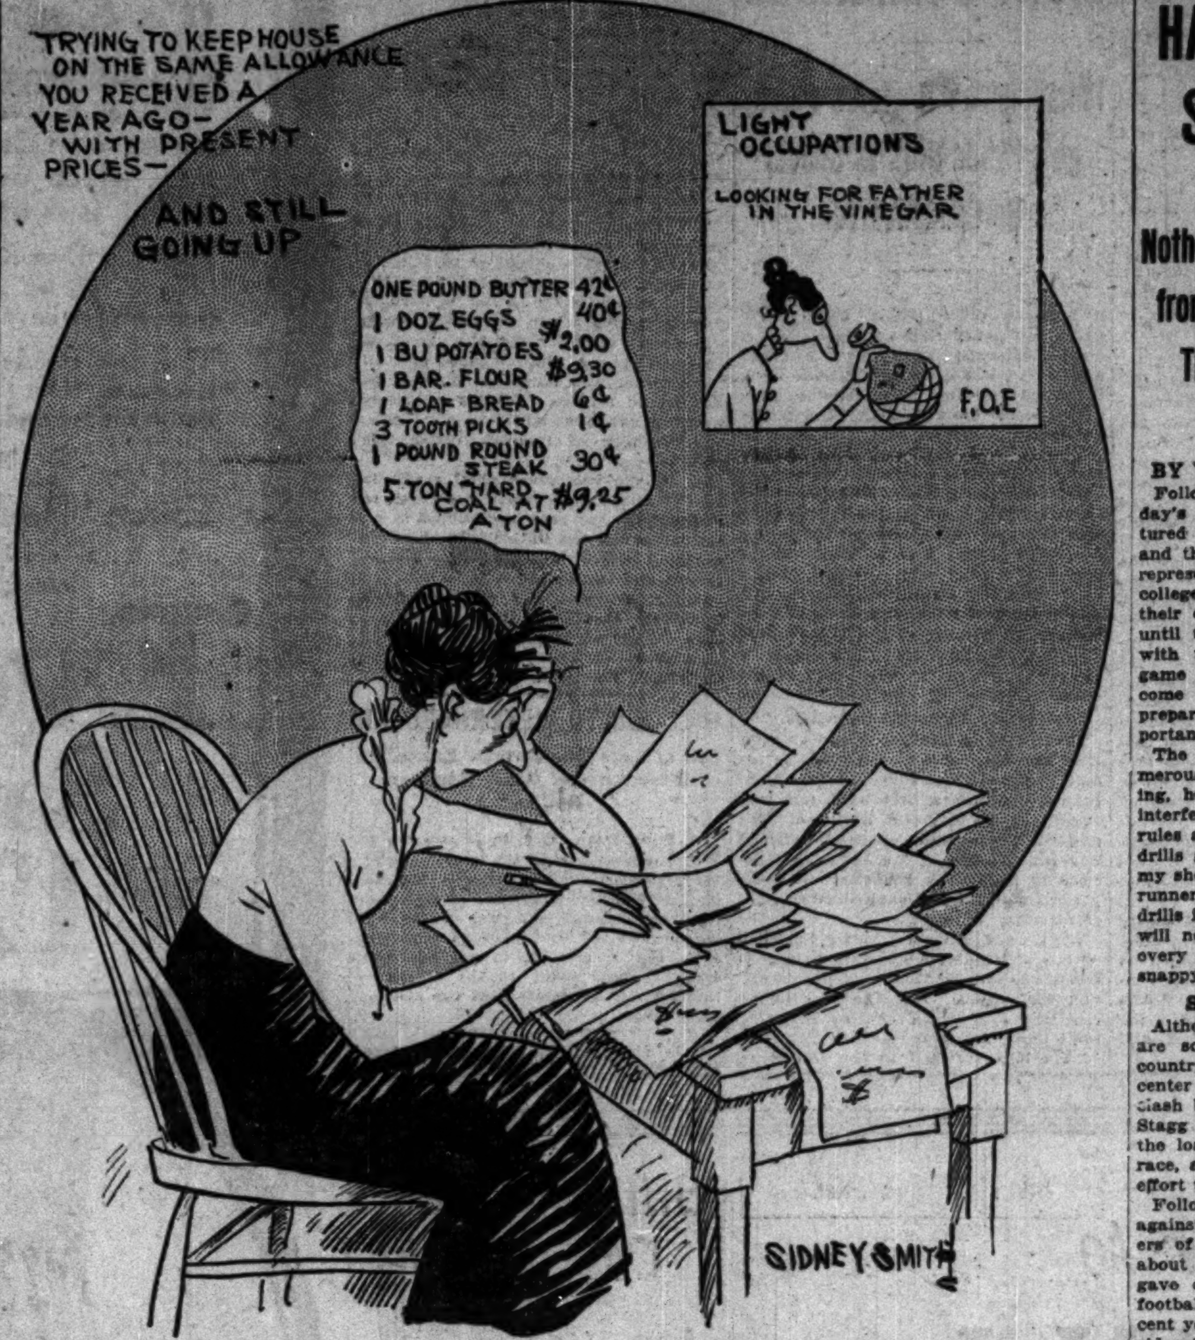
International Harvesters and Olympia; Fram and Primrose; Calumet Park and Caledonians; Washington Park and Harvey; Chicago Hungarians and Palmer Park.

Games will be played on grounds of the first named clubs with the exception of the last, the location of which has not been settled.

St. Louis, 26; Cape Girardeau, 0.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 10.—St. Louis university defeated Cape Girardeau Normal, 26 to 0, in football today.

WASTED ENERGY



MAROON LINE WEAK AS FRESHMEN RUSH FOR SCORE AT START

BY MAROON.

A 21 to 7 scrimmage between Maroons and the freshmen did not show much improvement in the varsity defense at Stagg field yesterday. The freshmen went straight down the field on the kickoff for a touchdown on short line plunges, gaining through a line sprinkled with substitutes without once losing the ball. Then the varsity opened up on a new shift which Stagg gave his men, and rushed over three scores in short fashion.

Half of the day was spent in learning the new offense which the Maroons will use the first time they meet a team that has anywhere near the strength of Carleton. Shift plays, forward passes, and spreads were taught to the varsity and then a substitute back field tried the formations against the freshmen.

Parents Overrule Kimball.

George Kimball, the giant guard, who was forbidden to play by his parents, returned from Muskegon, where he was trying to persuade them to give their consent to let him get into the Maroon lineup on Saturday. His trip was without success. Kimball's parents are not afraid that he would be injured, for his great bulk makes that unlikely, but they are opposed to the gridiron game "on general principles."

Bobie Cahn and Kitty Gordon were not on the field and will not appear in the Indiana game. It is thought that their torn ligaments will keep them on the side lines for two or three weeks. McPherson was also absent, preparing for the "exam," which will clear his ineligibility. The former University of Washington guard expects to have his ban lifted by Friday.

INDIANA MEETS MAROON PLAYS

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 10.—Defensive work in repelling the Chicago attack made up the entire program of the Indiana practice today, the varsity having the freshmen against them in a scrimmage that lasted forty-five minutes. The freshmen were given what is known of the Maroon plays, and were able to cross the goal line of the regulars for fourteen points. Just before the workout ended the varsity took the ball and one touchdown was made.

Capt. McIntosh played about ten minutes, but limped all the time from his game leg. Right End Bushman received a bad cut over his eye in making a tackle and was taken to his dressing room.

Gardner Returns to Badgers.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Moose Gardner, Badger guard for the last two years, appeared at Camp Randall eligible for conference competition. His last battle with the faculty was fought out on paper yesterday, and he successfully obtained the necessary grade.

Tonsilitis in Purdue Camp.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 10.—Tonsilitis has broken out in the Purdue football camp, Vanaken, end, and Bartlett, guard, being ill with the disease. Vanaken will have his tonsils removed this week and will not get into the Wabash game Saturday. It is doubtful whether Bartlett will play either. With these two regulars out the Boilermakers' chances of winning will be materially lessened. Coach O'Donnell drilled his men behind closed gates today, there being no spectators. He fears Wabash greatly and will instruct his men to play a defensive game.

Cut Drill to Save Wolverines.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Scrimmage for the Wolverines stopped with a jerk after less than fifteen minutes of tusseling this afternoon when Eggert, left half for the reserves, was knocked out in attempting to tackle a runner. The fact that three other Wolverines already had called for time out caused Trainer Tuthill to send the men in before something happened to spoil Yost's lineup for tomorrow's game with Carroll college. Eggert was not seriously hurt.

PLAN HAMILTON CLUB 11.

Football enthusiasts belonging to the Hamilton club would rather take part than watch the game from the side lines, and a call has been issued for all former varsity players and any others with gridiron ambitions to sign up with Albert J. Hunter, manager and captain, at the club.

ELEVENS FACE HARD PART OF SEASON'S CARD

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

Following the playing of last Saturday's football games, which were featured by two upsets, one in the east and the other in the west, the elevens representing the leading universities and colleges in the country have completed their elementary work, and from now until the curtain drops on the season with the playing of the Army-Navy game in New York, the drills will become harder and more strenuous, in preparation for the later and more important struggles.

The players have mastered the numerous forms of charging and blocking, how to take opponents off in the interference, they have learned the rules after diligent study, and the long drills given them in tackling the dummy should leave them in shape to stop runners in the open. Of course, short drills in these departments of the game will not be overlooked by the coaches every day, but they will be brief and snappy.

Spotlight on Stagg Field.

Although the usual number of games are scheduled in all sections of the country on Saturday, local interest will center around the result of the annual clash between Chicago and Indiana on Stagg field. This game will eliminate the loser from the western conference race, and both coaches will bend every effort to whip their teams in shape.

Following its miserable showing against Carleton last Saturday, followers of the Maroon team are skeptical about the result. The Midway team gave one of the worst exhibitions of football seen by a Stagg eleven in recent years. The fact is taken into consideration that it was the Maroons' first game, but they should have played better football, and this they will have to do if they expect to be the victors Saturday.

Respect for Stiehm Eleven.

E. C. Stiehm is now coach at the Hoosier institution. The former Wisconsin player turned out teams at Nebraska which were the equals of any in the west, including Notre Dame, Illinois, Minnesota, and the Michigan Aggies, when these elevens laid claim to the western championship. Stiehm knows a lot of football and if he has the material at Bloomington Indiana will be a most worthy foe for Chicago.

Illinois will be the first western team to engage in an intersectional contest, when it meets the Colgate eleven of Hamilton, N. Y., at Urbana. Owing to their overwhelming defeat of Kansas last Saturday, the downstaters loom up as a strong aggregation, and they will be even better when the easterners are met. Colgate is not considered as strong as usual this year.

FIVE LINEMEN ANSWER CALL OF PURPLE COACH.

The Northwestern line received a bracing yesterday by the appearance of five new linemen, who came out for their first practice of the year after a call for additional forwards was sent out following Saturday's Lake Forest game. The quintet who reported to Assistant Coach McDevitt are Tackles Olins and Jones, Ends Starkey and Henderson, and Guard Callins, all of last year's freshman eleven.

Head Coach Murphy sent the varsity squad through the first scrimmage since the Lake Forest encounter, and all the regulars who had places in the lineup at any time in the opening contest had a chance to show their paces again. The only one to show any disastrous effects was Tackle Ulrich, whose wrenched back did not keep him out of yesterday's fray.

FIVE MILE RACE TO CIONI.

Roland Cioni of the Dreamland Roller club won the five mile race in the Dreamland rink last night. He won from a field of star skaters and at the finish of a thrilling race held a lead of fifteen feet. Summaries:

Five mile professional—Cioni, Dreamland, first; Kimm, White City, second; Eglinton, Riverview, third; Launey, Dreamland, fourth; Blackburne, Dreamland, fifth. Time, 14:51 2-5.

Amateur, first heat, one mile—Willie Skrivans, Opal A. C., first; Butch Drechsler, Opal A. C., second; A. H. Olsen, Orell Pleasure club, third; Joe Denny, Riverview, fourth. Time, 3:25. Second heat, one mile—Harry Palmer, Riverview, first; George Graney, Lessing A. C., second; Happy Young, Riverview, third; Danny Mack, Riverview, fourth. Time, 3:27. Final heat, two miles—Skrivans, first; Palmer, second; Dreschsler, third. Time, 6:41 3-5.

Tuley Girls Take Tennis Match.

The Tuley High girls' doubles team defeated the Harrison High pair in a High School Tennis league match on Sears-Roebuck courts yesterday, 6—2, 3—6, 7—5. Misses Bertha Keller and Dora Caplan composed the winning team.

TRIBUNE FISHING BULLETIN
by Larry St. John

Ed Whitmore caught a ten and a seventeen pound pickerel and Larry St. John nine black bass at Lake Delavan on Sunday. We have no reports from the north to indicate that fishing has improved since our last bulletin. We would say conditions there are fair.

The Kankakee, the St. Joe, and the Yellow rivers are clear and low—pike should soon be biting in the Kankakee.

Fishermen should stay away from the vicinity of Grass lake, as the annual slaughter of mud hens is now on. Few fish are being caught in the Fox lake region. Fairly good fishing reported at McHenry and Cary on the Fox river and at Romeo on the Du Page.

BILLIARD GOSSIP

Pierre Maupome will represent Fred Smith of Cleveland in the Interstate league this season.

In the single line tournament at Foley's Hughes [100] defeated Barnes [135], 100 to 92. Clark [140] will play Hoppe [125].

Going out in 51 innings, Ward [47] defeated Falk [47], 47 to 14, in the fastest game played in the class A tournament at Mussey's. He made 23 points in his last 21 innings. Wartell defeated Forrest [41], 37 to 34, in class B. At the seventieth inning Forrest led, 31 to 20. Tonight Rickard and Wadsworth will meet in class B and Schiff and Noble in class A.

Tentative plans for a four-handed three cushion tournament, with Ellis, Maupome, Moore, and Morin as contestants, have been made at Flenner's. The tournament hinges on Ellis being able to compete. If it is possible for him to take part play will start Saturday night. A rapid fire tournament will be held Friday night.

Fred Willis was elected president of the South Side Three Cushion league at a meeting held at Tennant's room. R. P. Adams is vice president, O. C. Tennant secretary, and Charles Schaefer treasurer. The rooms in the league are Schaefer's, Petersen's, Berger's, Lorimer's, Tennant's, Patrick's, Adams', Hub Hart's, Willis & Hart, The Forum. Four vacancies have yet to be filled.

With a chest of silver as first prize and a cut glass punch bowl as second, players in the South Side Traveling Three Cushion league played the first half of their opening week games last night, the results being: Weldrake of Roseland, 35; Albro of Brucks, 30; Coffy, De Luxe, 35; Hunnerbein, Metcalf's, 23; Garlick of Lemmer's, 35; Frasor of Frasor's, 21; Scott of Jenkin's, 35; Rysdon of E. A. R., 34; high run, 7.

SPLIT HEATS DECIDE RACES AT LEXINGTON

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 10.—Split heat races, all of them hard fought except the victory of Early Don in the Ashland stake, were the rule at the meeting of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' association today. HUP CAR REACHES MONTANA

Livingston, Mont., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—The Hupmobile good roads car which J. C. Walter Drake of Detroit is sending to every state in the union reached Livingston this afternoon on its way from Bismarck to Helena. The party has spent the last six days in Montana fighting the gumbo, which was especially difficult for motors on account of an unusually heavy snow. The total mileage made since leaving Washington, D. C., on Aug. 28 is 6,549 miles.

MOTOR DRIVERS OPEN PRACTICE FOR TITLE RACE

BY J. C. BURTON.

Roaring motors and barking exhausts played a symphony of strife at the Chicago speedway yesterday. It was the opening overture to Saturday's speed spectacle, the 250 mile Grand American automobile race—the first practice for the final event on the racing schedule in this section of the country.

Interest centered in the arrival of the Indianapolis drivers, Johnny Aitken, Eddie Rickenbacher, Howdy Wilcox, Pete Henderson, Dave Lewis, and Frank Galvin, two of whom, Aitken and Rickenbacher, are dangerous contenders for the A. A. A. championship. With their crews, the Hoosier pilots unloaded their cars preparatory to getting on the speedway today, when they will warm up their mounts for tomorrow's elimination trials.

Louis Chevrolet Arrives.

Louis Chevrolet, who ranks as one of the oldest drivers in the game, checked in from Detroit in the morning. He has been engaged by David R. Reid, president of the Chicago speedway, to tune up the Ben Hur and drive it in Saturday's race. The Ben Hur is a sable horse of the darkest hue, a car of revolutionary design. Featured by valves of the oscillating type, the motor generates tremendous power even at high engine speed, it is claimed. This is not true of poppet valve motors, which lose power when a certain point on the torque curve is reached.

Of the field of thirty-three entries there probably will be seven scratches. Chevrolet's alliance with the Ben Hur leaves the Frontenac without a driver. Harry Harkness, the eastern sportsman and president of the New York speedway, has decided to retire his crippled Delages for the season. The two [illegible] specials will not be shipped west; Charlie Devlin, who entered his Duesenberg, has decided that he is too affluent to covet a piece of the $15,000 in prize money and George Muller's Dans L'Argent is reported hors du combat.

Reduces Field to 26.

This leaves a field of twenty-six cars, but the entry of the Blue Bird, a Duesenberg motored car, is expected in today's mail by the promoters. Willie D'Alene, who ranks fifth in the championship standing, is slated to drive the mount, although he has been named by Billy Chandler, captain of the Crawford team, as one of his pilots.

The two English Sunbeams will not start in the Grand American. They are now on the Atlantic ocean, having been shipped to England last week when Josef Christiaens, the Belgian, who brought them to America in the spring, was called to the colors. Christiaens has a most dangerous job of work before him. He will join the aviation corps of the allied armies and dodge shrapnel as he flies over the German trenches.

GOOD ROADS MEN TO PICK PERMANENT AUTO ROUTE

At a meeting of the Burlington Way Good Roads association, which will be held at Ottawa this evening, the permanent route of the Ottawa-Rockford division will be selected. There are four tentative routes between the two cities as follows:

Ottawa, Dayton, Wedron, Blakes, [illegible] Sheridan, Leland, Waterman, Elva, De Kalb, Bradt, Wilkinson, Nichols, Kirkland, [illegible] Perryville, Buckbee, and Rockford.

Same as route 1 to Wilkinson, then to Clare, Esmond, Linderwood, and Harmon, then same as route 2.

In the first cross country delivery trip ever attempted in the United States, the Autocar truck, which left Chicago Monday morning loaded with ham, bacon and other products of Wilson & Co., is now well on its way to New York. Fifty cities will be visited on the tour, the object of which is to determine the practicability of an independent and organized motor delivery service in the event of war or a railroad strike. The truck is equipped with Goodrich tires.

OLSON'S TRIPLE GIVES BROOKLYN FIRST VICTORY OVER RED SOX, 4-3

Telling Blow Off Mays Behind Passes to Wheat and Mowrey Clinches Contest in the Fifth Inning.

PFEFFER STARS AS COOMBS' RESCUER

BY I. E. SANBORN.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Ivan Olson, castoff infielder, made himself the hero of Flatbush today by smashing out a three base hit at exactly the right instant to drive home the two runs which enabled Brooklyn to dodge a third straight defeat at the hands of the Red Sox, converting it into a 4 to 3 victory.

Olson delivered his telling blow in the fifth inning behind two bases on balls which Carl Mays had given to Wheat and Mowrey, and the combination ended Carl's career for the day. Previous to that smash the Robins had assaulted Mays' soft boiled delivery for two runs, one of them earned, and that put the Carrigans four laps behind.

PFEFFER SUCCEEDS COOMBS ON SLAB.

Instead of curling up, the visitors went after Jack Coombs, the battle scarred veteran of many world's series, who was assigned the task of pitching the third game, and hit him so dangerously that he gave way to Pfeffer in the seventh round after Boston had cut his lead down to a single tally.

A home run drive across the right field wall by Larry Gardner was the straw that broke Coombs' back. It came in the seventh inning and followed a round that had netted the Red Sox two runs on clean hitting.

Jake Daubert showed that he really can hit the ball in a big series by extracting three hits, one of which would have been a home run if Jake had worn rollers on his hips. He drove the ball past Lewis along the left foul line into the corner of the lot and beat the throw home all right, but started his slide for the plate so soon that he failed to reach it by a couple of inches, and that let Thomas tag him out after he had stopped. O'Day called the decision correctly, but to the crowd it looked as if Daubert was safe by half a minute.

SEAT SPECULATORS STUNG.

What Brooklyn fans thought of Prexy Ebbets' scale of world's series prices was shown by the small size of the crowd. There were monster patches of vacant seats in the more costly sections, although the bleachers, pavilion, and medium priced localities were packed. The attendance figures probably do not show the smallness of the crowd because there were many tickets in the hands of speculators, who got the stinging of their lives. They were hawking them in New York on the arrival of the trains from Boston early this morning for their face value, and later cut the price below that.

Manager Carrigan plainly gambled a bit, as he could afford to do with two victories to his credit, otherwise he would not have sent Mays to the slab, and after sending him there would not have left him as long as he did. It was apparent as early as the third inning that the Robins quite liked that sort of stuff, but the Red Sox could afford to take a chance because they have in reserve Leonard, who has not been worked at all, and Shore, who pitched the opening game.

JEFF STOPS RED SOX COMPLETELY.

Jack Coombs gave a great exhibition for five innings, during which he set the Boston champions down without a run and with only four hits registered against him. Then his arm began to creak a bit and he could not finish with safety. Pfeffer, who was so wild in the finish of Saturday's battle, had perfect control and confidence and held the Red Sox safely with only one run anyway. Not a man reached first base on Pfeffer in any way.

Foster, whose lame arm was supposed to keep him out of the series entirely, relieved Mays after the fifth and kept the Robins from scoring any more with the help of Daubert's failure to reach the plate on what ought to have been a four base smash.

The Brooklyn defense was perfect and glittered in spots, although few hard chances were offered the home team. Stengel stopped a first inning attack on Coombs by winging a fleet runner at third base. Wheat made the most spectacular catch of the day when he went back and pulled down a long foul from Shorten's bat in the ninth.

SHORTEN RAPS OUT THREE SINGLES.

This Shorten boy, who was sent to center field in Walker's place, did the most effective work with the stick. He made three straight singles against Coombs, and one of them was a pinch hit that drove home Boston's second run. If he had straightened out his drive in the ninth a little more it would have come close to being a home run into the overflow seats back of left field.

The Carrigan defense was good with the exception of Gardner's costly throw in the fourth, which helped Brooklyn to its second run. Scott again played a great game at short and slipped into one rally with a wonderful stop and throw from back on the grass after a sharp hit had sneaked past Gardner.

The Red Sox started hitting Coombs in the first round, but the first two of them were retired. Then Shorten singled to center and Hoblitzel pulled one through to right. Shorten thought he could make third on it, but his legs were too short to beat Stengel's arm.

BROOKLYN FILLS BASES, BUT NO RUNS.

Mays got a rotten start by hitting Myers, first up. Daubert laid down a bunt which Mays tried to field, but Jake beat it to first. Stengel tried the same thing, but was thrown out by Mays, advancing the others. Wheat was passed intentionally, choking the bases. Cutshaw's rap to Hoblitzel forced Myers at the pan, and Mays finished pulling himself out of the hole by whiffing Mowrey in the pinch.

One out in the third, the Robins slammed Mays hard. Daubert singled to right and Stengel to left. Wheat skied out, but Cutshaw poked a single over first base good for a ride home for Daubert and to third for Stengel. Here Scott robbed Mowrey of a hit by his play behind Gardner.

Olson caught them all napping with a bunt toward third in the fourth inning and beat it easily. Gardner's low throw escaped Hoblitzel and let Ivan to second. Miller sacrificed him to third, pulling in the Carrigan infield, and Coombs singled through it, scoring Olson.

The finish of Mays came in the fifth. He passed Wheat with one out, then threw out Cutshaw himself, but gave another pass to Mowrey. It might have been as well if he had walked Olson, too, for Ivan caught a groover squarely and smashed it over center for three bases and two runs.

After their opening attack the Red Sox did not do much to Coombs until the sixth. Henriksen was inserted to bat for Mays after one was out and worked Jack for a pass. Hooper followed with a triple against the wall in right center, scoring Henriksen. Janvrin popped out, but Shorten was there with his third straight safety, sending Hooper across.

Coombs got rid of Lewis in the seventh before Gardner pulled a fly over the wall back of Stengel for a run that wiped out all except one lap of Brooklyn's lead. Pfeffer then took charge and retired eight men in a row, striking out three of them.

No runs, one hit.

Seventh Inning.

BOSTON—Lewis out, Daubert, unassisted. Gardner hit the ball over the right field fence for a home run. Pfeffer replaced Coombs on the slab. Scott hit a long fly to Myers. Thomas called out on strikes.

One run, one hit.

BROOKLYN—Stengel flied to Hooper. Wheat lined a fly to Hooper, who almost made a circus catch, but dropped the ball and it went for a single. Wheat stole second on a low pitch which hit the ground in front of the plate. Cutshaw popped out to Hoblitzel. Mowrey out, Foster to Hoblitzel.

No runs, one hit.

Eighth Inning.

BOSTON—Foster was called out on strikes. Hooper bounded out, Pfeffer to Daubert. Janvrin was called out on strikes.

No runs, no hits.

BROOKLYN—Olson out, Foster to Hoblitzel. Miller out, Hoblitzel to Foster. Hooper misjudged Pfeffer's fly in the sun and it went for a single. Myers struck out.

No runs, one hit.

Ninth Inning.

BOSTON—Shorten hit a long fly to Wheat. Hoblitzel out, Olson to Daubert. Lewis flied to Stengel.

Bill Carrigan's Little Joke Costs Contest, Lardner Says

BY RING W. LARDNER.

[Copyright: 1916: By Ring W. Lardner.]

Brooklyn, Mass., or somewhere, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Friend Harvey: Bill Carrigan tried to kid somebody today and started Carl Mays against the Brooklyns, and the minute I seen who was going to pitch for the Red Sox, I knew who was going to win the ball game.

All Bill had to do to win this here third game was start Dutch Leonard and the Brooklyns would not of got a foul. That is my second guess and I am probably the best second guesser in the world outside of Hugh Fullerton.

The minute Mays started to pitch the game was all upside down and topsy turvy as they say. And to prove it, Jake Daubert got a base hit in the first inning and any time he can get a base hit in any inning it means that the pitchers is the wrong selection for that day. But he did not mean to get a base hit because Hi Myers was on first base at the time and what Jake meant to do was sacrifice, so he bunted and nobody got anybody anywhere so it was a base hit.

Why Coombs Is Good.

So then nothing happened till the third when some guy from Brooklyn scored. So then nothing happened till the fourth when Olson bunted and Gardner made a bad throw and instead of Olson falling to sleep like usual, he ran to second base. So then Miller sacrificed and Coombs made a base hit on account of he being from the American league. The next two guys went out and why not?

So then nothing happened till the fifth, when two Brooklyn guys got on some way and there was two men out and Olson hit a three base hit and the two men scored while nobody was looking. After that, Otto Miller hit one on the ground to Scott and Scott throwed him out and Connolly was so surprised that he lit on his eye calling the man out.

Beaneaters Get Two Runs.

So then nothing happened till the sixth, when Thomas got out and then Olaf Henriksen batted for somebody and instead of batting he walked and Hooper tripled and Harold Janvrin popped out and Shorten singled and the Beaneaters, as they call them, had two runs.

So then nothing much happened till the other part of the inning, and then Jake Daubert hit a home run instead of a bunt, only it did not count because Jake never thought he would hit a home run, so he forgot to touch home plate and Henry O'Day caught him at it so they called him out.

So then nothing happened till the seventh and then Larry Gardner hit one over the King of tablewaters sign and did not forget to touch any bases. Right after Gardners hit Coombs was taken out and some say that he took himself out, but you cant believe all you hear. But anyway, Pfeffer stepped in and pitched darn nice ball from there to the finish.

Miller Loses New Balls.

So then nothing happened till the Brooklyn eighth, when Otto Miller fouled off three new baseballs and lost them all over the grandstand and he probably will get fired for it.

That is about all I can find out about the ball game only I wish I could learn who was responsible for the Brooklyns winning so I could kill him because it looked like a nice short series before this happened.

But in the morning we got in from Boston and the rules seemed to be not to let anybody sleep so we went to a hotel here and slept an hour and then jumped on the subway and went to Brooklyn. It was said that the press tickets were at the Bossert hotel in Brooklyn so I asked the subway guard how to get off to get there.

They Almost Miss Ring.

"Where is the Bossert hotel?" I asked him.

"I did not know there was any," was his reply.

"Where is any hotel?" I asked him.

"I never heard of one," was his reply.

So I kept riding to the ball park and I did not have any ticket or nothing and I asked the man at the gate to let me in and he asked me where was my ticket and I said I did not have one and he said you can't get in the [illegible]," so I made a unique remark.

"I should worry" was what I said. But unluckily Sy Sanborn came up just then and he had my ticket, so I had to go in and watch it.

THREE EYES MEN TO SHORTEN CARD

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

A shorter and a more intense baseball season is the plan of Three Eyes league magnates for the season of 1917. The club owners held their annual meeting yesterday at the Palmer house and were able to make the season shorter by cutting it from 140 to 126 games. Making it more intense will be up to the various club owners after the season begins, and they are supposed to work out schemes to advance the interest and intensity of the games.

Besides shortening the schedule, the most important move made was the adoption of the double umpire system, which means that next season the league will carry eight umpires, two to work in each game.

Clarence Rowland, manager of the White Sox and formerly a manager in the Three Eyes league, was a visitor.

COMFORT FOR BOSTON FANS; THEY'LL SEE FIFTH GAME.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 10.—Supporters of the Boston Americans, who were unable to follow the team to foreign fields today, found some comfort in its defeat by Brooklyn. This satisfaction lies in the fact that Brooklyn's success insures further world series play in this city, as the teams now must return here for the fifth game on Thursday. Crowds filled newspaper row and other spaces where bulletin boards displayed the game. Gov. McCall received a telephone report from New York by innings and Mayor Curley was informed frequently of the score.

JENNINGS, NAVIN, AND PARTY IN ACCIDENT, BUT SEE GAME.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Hughie Jennings, manager of the Detroit Tigers, President Frank Navin, Scout Joe Higgins, and Mrs. Jennings narrowly escaped seriously injury on the way from New York to Ebbets field when their car was struck by a trolley car at Fourth avenue and Center street. The automobile was smashed.

The Detroiters were unhurt. They commandeered the first taxi that passed and soon sped away to the ball park, arriving in time to see the first players out for warming up.

WORLD SERIES NOTES

Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 1.—[Special.]—Fourth game here tomorrow.

That Olson three bagger means everybody will have to go back to Boston for a game on Thursday.

Brooklyn still has to win tomorrow to even up the count and will have to use a good pitcher to do it.

Gardner picked a foul fly off the head of a spectator in the field boxes near third base in the fifth.

The Red Sox kicked several times against Umpire O'Day's decisions on Mays' delivery in the first inning, but after that Hank apparently satisfied them.

Hooper almost bagged a home run in the first inning when he pulled a tall fly over the fence. It went over foul by a foot and Stengel danced with glee when he saw it was not fair.

The weather turned cold over night and some of the visiting rooters failed to bring sufficient woolen things to keep warm. A chilling wind cut through the stand and even the bright sunshine could not modify things much.

Hooper misjudged Pfeffer's fly in the eighth, starting in on it before he finally located the ball in the sun. He ran back too late to catch it, but Pfeffer made only one base and was left.

Foster had to make a swell jumping plan to connect with a toss from Hoblitzel, who fielded Miller's grounder in the eighth. Hobby threw the ball high, but Foster managed to reach it and come down on first base ahead of the runner.

There was a prolonged protest by the Robins when Daubert was called out at the plate on his four base smash in the sixth. It was wholly Daubert's fault that he did not score because he had time enough. From the upper deck the fans and writer could see that O'Day was correct.

Scott played with a lame arm, but it was his left one. He injured it when he overran third base in Monday's game, but a lot of massaging last night and this morning kept him in the game.

The betting odds after this battle slumped to 2 to 1 on Boston to win the series.

Robinson is expected to send Marquard back against the Red Sox and if he has the kind of support the home team gave Coombs and Pfeffer he ought to give them a tough battle. Carrigan probably will use Leonard on the slab, and the contrast between his speed and what the Robins batted against today will be considerable.

RAY SCHALK TO MARRY FARMERSVILLE, ILL., GIRL.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 10.—Ray Schalk, catcher for the Chicago White Sox, and Miss Lavinia Graham of Farmersville will be married in two weeks, it was announced at Farmersville today.

WAITING TACTICS WIN FOR ROBINS, "TRIB" BOY SAYS

BY JOHN T. BERRY.

New York, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—I arrived in New York City on Monday at midnight, just in time to get a good view of the "bright lights of Broadway," which is a most wonderful sight to behold at night. We are stopping in New York City tonight and Wednesday, going by subway to the games today.

The third game of the series did not contain the thrills that the first game was filled with, nor the wonderful pitching of the second game. Instead, the Dodgers, seeing that they could not hit Mays so easily, resorted to bunting and waiting for passes up to the last minute to get the man on, then to slugging, which plan worked out on most occasions, Brooklyn just managing to get enough runs to win.

Support Saves Jack Coombs.

On the other hand, Coombs was hit hard, but wonderful support saved him up to the time of Gardner's home run, when he took himself out of the box and gave way to Pfeffer, who pitched fine ball after he got warmed up.

There didn't seem to be nearly as much of a crowd today, owing to the weather, which was chilly for a ball game. Nevertheless, there was a good deal of cheering when the Dodgers made any spectacular plays or hits.

Olson Redeems Himself.

Shortstop Olson of the Brooklyn team redeemed himself for past playing and accepted every chance without an error and knocked two runs in with a triple in the fifth, which proved to be the turning point of the game.

If the infield plays the same brand of ball tomorrow as today I look for the Dodgers to win, with Marquard as their choice, as he had lots of stuff in the first game and with able support I think he would have beaten Boston then by more than one run.

Acquires Gotham Geography.

After the game we came home by way of the "Brooklyn Rapid Transit" over the Brooklyn bridge, which is built across the East river that separates New York City from Brooklyn. While crossing I viewed the Manhattan bridge, which is the highest of its kind in the world. I also got a scant view of the Statue of Liberty far up the East river on an island extending about a half mile from the outskirts of New York City, called Bedloe's island.

RESTAURANT MAN MAY BUY BROOKLYN FOR HUGE SUM.

New York, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Charles L. Feltman, Coney Island restaurant proprietor and business man, may buy the Brooklyn baseball club. He admitted today he had talked the proposition over with Charles H. Ebbets and is anxious to become a purchaser. Ebbets said he had named a figure, conditional on his partners' approval, but would not say what the price was. Edward McKeever, one of the partners, said it would take $2,000,000 to buy the club.

Debutante List Still Growing.

THE debutante list is still growing. Today brings the debut announcement of Miss Virginia Waller Marshall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fielding L. Marshall of 73 East Elm street. Miss Marshall will be presented at a tea given at the Marshall residence on the afternoon of Nov. 25 from 4 to 7 o'clock. In the evening Miss Marshall's aunt, Mrs. J. B. Waller of 140 East Superior street, will give a dinner dance for her niece and the receiving party.

Another debutante will be Miss Frances Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gibbons Miller of 1236 North Dearborn street, who will be presented in December at a tea at the residence of her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Yager of 631 Rush street gave a luncheon at the Blackstone hotel yesterday for Gen. and Mrs. J. B. Aleshire of Washington, D. C., who has recently retired from the United States army, and in the evening she gave a dinner at her residence for Gen. and Mrs. Charles McCormick Reeves of Minneapolis, Minn., who are her guests. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Thomas of Minneapolis and Mrs. Ira Murphy of Washington, D. C., are also her guests.

The Bandbox at 70 East Oak street will open its second season tomorrow with a newly decorated showroom done in gray and cerise, and as usual a number of young women will act as models for the display of the gowns, which are sold for the benefit of the French war orphans. Among the young women interested are Miss Ethel Forgan and Miss Sarah Farwell, who will have charge of the out of town sales; Miss Martha Clow, Miss Helen Farwell, Miss Elizabeth Fuller, Miss Grace Tuttle, and Miss Helen Hinde.

Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Potter Palmer of 1350 Lake Shore drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Borland of 2632 Prairie avenue are expected to return this morning from Camden, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker Blair have returned from their wedding trip and are at the Virginia hotel while their apartment at 150 East Superior street is being put in readiness for them. Mrs. Blair was before her marriage Miss Alice Buckingham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Buckingham of Winnetka.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin B. Pool of 5116 Blackstone avenue will remain at their country place, Poolacres, Midlothian, until some time in November.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Nichols Jr., the latter formerly Miss Margaret Billings, will give a dinner preceding the Bachelors and Benedicts' ball at the Congress hotel Nov. 29. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen Jr. also will give a dinner preceding the ball. Mr. and Mrs. Laurence H. Armour's dinner will be given at the Blackstone.

Mrs. Henry S. Robbins and Mrs. William E. Clarke of the Chicago committee of the American fund for French wounded have chosen Nov. 9 as the date of the benefit for the war shop fund, to be given at the Playhouse by the Theater de la Renaissance under the direction of M. Gustave Rolland. The date was chosen yesterday, so as not to conflict with plans for the great allied bazaar and will be the only event benefiting the shop on East Washington street until the New Year.

Members of the Illinois Alumnæ association of the National Park seminary announce that the concert which was scheduled for earlier in the year will be given in the Florentine room of the Congress hotel Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 1.

Home Exposition to Have Beauty Pageant.

A pageant of beautiful women representing the "Five Senses" and a costume ball will be features of the home exposition to be held at the Coliseum next week under the auspices of the Home Circle, for which plans were detailed in their headquarters yesterday.

The pageant of the beautiful women will be under the direction of the Home circle of women's charitable clubs of Chicago, and will open the exposition. Five of Chicago's stateliest women will represent the "Five Senses"—the five lines of work in which women are most interested, philanthropy, arts, industry, humanity, and science, and to this group will be added a "Sixth Sense" in the person of a "Queen of the Day," who will portray "Fashion."

The young women who are to take part in the amateur model contest will be chosen from several groups that will meet in room 208 of the Hotel Sherman today, by judges who will make the awards from photographs of the applicants, the judges being Mrs. Lois Dunning and Georgio Renault, an Italian sculptor.

The costume ball will be under the direction of the Argus club. It will be held in the tearoom dancing pavilion the last night of the exposition.

Bridge Again to Be Hospital Aid.

BY CINDERELLA.

THE social service committee of the Children's Memorial hospital still believes in large bridge parties as an easy way to raise money. Therefore, the committee's large annual bridge at Lake Forest will happen as usual the last week in October.

Before she left for the Hot Springs, or was it New York, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings offered her lovely house for the game, with the generous invitation to the town guests, for a buffet luncheon beforehand.

Last year there were twenty-eight tablets in the Cummings' drawing room and it wasn't at all crowded. Also tables on the verandas and in the conservatory, from which the view of the lake and changing foliage of gold and red was almost too distracting for intellectual bridge.

This year Mrs. Cummings, Mrs. George H. Taylor, and Mrs. William Martin, who is at French Lick, expect the party to be of quite mammoth proportions, but they have not yet got their heads together over the date or the prizes.

Cards came to town yesterday from New York for the wedding feast on Oct. 28 of Miss Gertrude Farquhar Lathrop, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alanson Lathrop, and Mason B. Starring Jr., whose parents are old and prominent Chicagoans, now living in New York.

The bridegroom's maternal grandfather, Prof. David Swing, was one of the great clergymen of his day, a philosopher, and a wit. Indeed, Prof. Swing handed on so much of his originality and daring to his daughter, Mrs. Starring Sr., that to this day nobody knows what amusing things she will say or do next.

The Lathrop-Starring wedding at the Church of the Ascension will be followed by a reception and dance at Sherry's.

The Starrings keep their summer place at Lake Geneva open, but they live at the Sleepy Hollow Country club at Scarboro-on-the-Hudson. This is a gorgeous stone house that was built by the late Elliot F. Shepard of New York, son-in-law of William Vanderbilt, on a scale of size and grandeur that might impress a crowned head, if not a New York millionaire.

The grounds at Sleepy Hollow, sloping towards the Hudson, form perfect golf links, and very wonderful trees. In the lovely little cemetery close by Washington Irving lies buried.

After the death of Col. Shepard, no one individual could afford to maintain the great house, so it became a millionaire's plaisance.

Beautiful country houses are always changing owners in this country. Finley Barrell, who spent a fortune on his Lake Forest house, which is one of the show places on the eastern side of the tracks of this lovely suburb, is offering it for sale. Since the tragedy which robbed Mr. and Mrs. Barrell of their only child this summer, they have no heart for the place and have bought land in quite a different part of the town with a view to building sometime.

The Harold F. McCormick house, on the lake, a short distance away from the Barrels, is said also to be awaiting a purchaser. But who can afford to buy it?

Woodpecker Star at Masonic Banquet.

A frightened but busy little woodpecker created more interest at the banquet of Lakeside lodge of Masons in the gold banquet room of the Hotel La Salle, Monday night, than the program of songs and music and the oratorical flights of United States Senator L. Y. Sherman and the other speakers.

The bird found entrance to the banquet hall during the afternoon, according to Manager Ernest J. Stevens of the La Salle, and sought safety on top of the chandelier, forty feet above the heads of the 800 banqueters, and could not be dislodged.

Guests of the entire hotel were excited when a bellman reported to Chief House Officer Abe Abrams that "a eagle is in the gold banquet room, raising h— with the 800 men, women, and children," a report that found rapid transit throughout the big house, and caused the chief house officer and his aids to make a dash for the nineteenth floor.

"That bellman," snorted Abrams, "would call a gnat an elephant, I believe."

Pastor Given Purse of Gold.

A purse containing fifty $10 gold pieces was presented to the Rev. James Frothingham at a luncheon given in honor of him and Mrs. Frothingham yesterday. Dr. Frothingham was for twenty-five years stated clerk of the Chicago presbytery and the luncheon was in recognition of his services. He is 82 years of age and graduated from Union college in 1857. The Rev. Frank A. Hosmer, moderator, presided and the presentation of the testimonial was made by the Rev. Edgar P. Hill.

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

Suit of Buff Suede Cloth.

BY JEAN SEIVWRIGHT.

FASHION this season permits the greatest freedom to her followers, especially in the realm of the suit. Coats are made in every length from those that reach almost to the skirt hem to models that extend but a short way below the waistline. While the long jacket is generally preferred, yet there are so many modifications of this style that one will readily find a suitable mode. Sometimes the upper part of the long skirted coat is loose at the waistline, or a sash or side trimming of fur that modifies the long, sweeping lines is introduced.

Much embroidery is used on the dressy suits, many of which are originated in exquisite velour fabrics. Lovely colors are shown for fall. Wine and brown shades are much liked, as well as dull soft green and black. Fur also proves an accepted trimming, and new style touches are revealed in the cut of the collar, revers, and sleeves.

A particularly good looking suit is illustrated. The fabric chosen for its development is a buff colored suede velour, whose exquisite texture is prettily offset by the trimming of skunk. While the high fur collar recalls the modes of last season, there is delightful novelty in the revers which, contrary to custom, are cut with their greatest width at the waistline. As they do not meet in front, a streak of lovely color adds interest to the suit, which is belted and buttoned in attractive style. The fur trimmed cuffs harmonize with the fronts, while the skirt of the coat reaches almost to the hem of the skirt, which is fashioned with wide plaits. The gay lining is of buff silk with printed motifs in many shades of flaming red, blue, green, and wine that contrast most effectively with the suede cloth.

Will Hold Murphy Memorial.

It will be "Dr. John B. Murphy memorial night" at the meeting of the Chicago Medical society tonight on the sixth floor of the Marshall Field Annex building. The program will begin at 8:15 p. m. The following physicians will be the speakers:

Dr. George A. Crile of Cleveland, Dr. Charles L. Reed of Cincinnati, Dr. Frank Billings, Dr. L. L. McArthur, Dr. E. Wyllys Andrews, Dr. D. A. K. Steele, Dr. A. D. Bevan, Dr. William E. Quine, Dr. A. J. Ochsner, Dr. Jacob Frank, and Dr. W. A. Evans.

There will be tributes from numerous doctors, some of whom will be present and some of whom will send their tributes. They are Dr. Rudolph Matas of New Orleans, Dr. George E. Brewer of New York, Dr. Robert T. Morris of New York, Dr. W. W. Keene, Dr. John B. Deaver, and Dr. Edward Martin of Philadelphia, Dr. W. D. Haggard of Nashville, Dr. Charles H. Mayo and Dr. W. J. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., and Dr. J. C. Bloodgood and Dr. J. M. Finney of Baltimore.

Will Greet New Pastor.

The parishioners of Calvary Episcopal church, Monroe street and Kedzie, will give a reception tonight in the parish house to their new rector, the Rev. Henry Neely. Father Neely succeeds Father George M. Babcock, who has accepted a call to the diocese of Wisconsin, where he will be the secretary to the bishop of Fond du Lac.

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND

By MARION HARLAND

Help Pass Long Evenings.

"WILL you kindly send my address to Mrs. B. M. T.? I would gladly pay postage and would be delighted with the magazines and children's books. We are strangers here and I am of a retiring disposition. I do not make many friends and the magazines would help pass the long winter evenings. We have a few books, and if we could get magazines and other reading matter the children would be more content. My husband works every evening until 8 o'clock. Do you think some reader might have a large, unframed picture of either St. Rita or St. Anne that I could have? I have nothing to offer at present but my heartfelt thanks, and, like Tiny Tim, the hope that God will bless us all, every one.

"MRS. M. R."

A friend of dear Tiny Tim should not sue in vain for reading for her own children. The batch of magazines she asks for has been given to an earlier applicant. Will Dickensites open hearts and libraries for her benefit? It is homelike (and like the tranquil "days that are no more" for some of us) to hear from a mother who gathers her brood about her on winter evenings and reads with them. We must coax her out of the feeling of strangerhood in her new home by bringing her into touch with members of our great family. How can we do this more effectually than by making common ground of books worth reading? Share them with her. The inquiry anent the pictures is referred.

Some Music Wanted.

"Sarah M. G. offered some music through the Corner to young people. If you will send me her address I shall write to her. I am anxious to secure some, and will pay postage.

"DOROTHY L."

If we had not already passed over the address of the donor of the music to so many that we are sure not one piece remains in her bounteous hands you would have heard from us by mail. Since we cannot hope for you in this quarter we pass the request to a committee of the whole corps of music lovers. You will hear from some one who can—and will—spare contributions from their portfolios for your use.

Marketing Fiction Stories.

"Could you tell me where I can obtain a sale for short stories? My teachers have told me that I have an excellent talent for writing. G."

Address your manuscript to a fiction magazine that publishes similar stories to the kind you write. Inclose stamps for return.

Old and Deaf and Poor.

"I am an old lady past 80 years of age and hard of hearing. I read in the Corner where two ear trumpets were offered. I should be thankful to get one. I have nothing to buy one with. I have worked hard all my life until the last three years. I am unable to do anything now, being dependent upon friends. I should be grateful if you can help me to get something to hear with.

"MRS. H. M. W."

I have already, and more than once, called attention to the unpleasing fact that deafness is on the increase among Americans. Why, I do not pretend to guess. All we have to do with the painful subject at present is to hunt up an ear trumpet for the octogenarian to whom is added the affliction of dependence upon friends. Please lose no time in the merciful errand. At 80 what is to be done must be done quickly. "The night cometh!"

For Quilts and Carpet Rags.

"Have any of the readers pieces of any kind for quilt blocks for my little girl? Also anything good that I might use for making carpet rags? We would be glad to receive them. MRS. L. S."

The wee lassie is learning to put together, and her wise mother would utilize what may be called the refuse scraps for rag carpets, that nothing be wasted. A capital principle that, in more important matters than quilts and carpets. The semi-annual dressmaking and altering is now in full swing. Send for the mother's address and let her have the fragments.

Crochet Patterns Wanted.

"I read in the Corner how much it helps. Could you obtain crochet patterns or old books for one of my girls who has not been well this summer? She is anxious to learn to crochet. I inclose a stamped envelope for reply, and will gladly pay postage on the same.

"E. F. M."

Should our kind hearted fancy workers respond to the appeal for the ailing girl you will be apprised by mail. Crocheting was never more in vogue than now, and it is not strange your daughter should have caught the fever. The pretty work will do much to help on her convalescence. We are too prone to undervalue the effect of pleasing occupation for the fingers upon the mind and spirits.

Where It Was Needed.

"I wrote to you not long ago asking if I might have a belt offered through the Corner. I am happy to say that I received two belts in reply. I am taking the liberty of sending the extra one to a poor woman who is sadly in need of it. The doctor said she ought to have had one over a year ago. Women in her circumstances have to do cruelly hard work. That is why they are so often in bad health. It was most kind in the member who sent the belts. They were just what was needed. I thank God and bless the Corner for the good work it is doing and wish it all success. K. W."

We are in turn your grateful debtors for the cheering news you give us. You are altogether right to bestow the belts according to your judgment. The Corner is enriched by the appreciation of the recipients and doubly recompensed by the knowledge that we have had the privilege of ministering to the afflicted.

Nice Bed for Baby.

"I received a nice bed for my baby from Mrs. M. C., who sent it over to my house last week. I wish to express my hearty thanks to the Corner, and also to the two other women who wrote to me. GRATEFUL MOTHER."

We are happy with you that the baby's bed got to you safely, and unite with you in grateful acknowledgments to the blessed donor.

Healthful Food for the Children

The same healthful qualities that exist in ripe grapes, a natural, wholesome food, are conveyed to cakes, biscuits, muffins and pastry made with Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder.

Hence, Dr. Price's insures food that is always safe, and is the baking powder which should be used in the preparation of flour foods for the children. Many of the cheaper baking powders are made from materials derived from mineral sources which have no food value.

GIRLS! BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR AND STOP DANDRUFF

Every bit of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

For 25 cents you can save your hair. In less than ten minutes you can double its beauty. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant, and appears as soft, lustrous and charming as a young girl's after applying some Danderine. Also try this—Moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.—Advertisement.

BY KITTY KELLY.

As hard it is almost to get into the little Boston theater as for the Biblical camel to get through the needle's eye. Yesterday, which was one of the Triangle days, I aimed at it, at 3 o'clock. Already I was told, as I stood waiting for a vacant spot, 2,000 people had been through that 287 seat house. Judging by the chuckling atmosphere of amusement prevailing and the lobbyful of waiters when I left at 4 o'clock the 2,000 plus stayed through its time.

Miss Barriscale dons the popular slavey shoes, and wears them very well. Likewise she draws back tight her crinkly hair and hides herself behind a gingham dress, the plainest of the plain.

She is the "Orphint Jane" of the cheap boarding house, with small share of sunlight in her life. Not that she is abused, but that she is one of the no-chancers. The location is a small denominational college, and later I think it's a mistake to have the annual reception, a dance, for dancing isn't denominationally done generally, I believe. There is a youth, grinding his way through school and fairly exuding serious purpose, who comes to Miss O'Grogan's to board.

Straightway before him Miss Jane burns the incense of her worship, expressed in such minutiæ as blacking his shoes till they shine as mirrors, which service he receives with a crushing condemnation of the vanity that looks to personal appearance.

There are other instances of her devotion and his unappreciative reception, making a tale of laughing heartache, so poignant a blend it is of youthful pride and idealism and smugness and longing. Both studies of the boy and girl have a lot of highlights of realism.

Besides that, even if it is a "slavey" picture still it is one that is different. There are new incidents, new situations to smile at and to remember. Youth's tragedies are bitter, and you see the bitterness of them, but with the mellowed memory of the grownup who can reverse their stings.

And then there's a Cinderella transformation when Jane lets down the spun sunshine she wears on her head and the old photographer sends her to college herself.

Miss Bessie Barriscale

Occasionally there's a crude spot in atmosphere, and one doesn't exactly approve of Jane's continued habit of entering Mr. Adams' room without at least the preliminary of knocking. But there are delightful character studies and charming bits of picturing to compensate, so that really "Plain Jane" is one of the season's happiest little comedies.

It has sentiment without being sentimental; it has humor without being farcical, and it tells a bit of a story, not much of a one, but enough.

Producerial Courtesies.

Coincidence, thy other label is Mr. William Fox. Metro has been hard at work Romeoizing Francis X. Bushman and Julieting Beverly Bayne into a pretentious and expensive eight reel transcription of the bard's well known love story. It is just about ready for presentation.

Lo! William Fox anounces a magnificent production of "Romeo and Juliet," with Theda Bara as the star sweetheart. Harry Hilliard is the other party of the tragedy.

D. W. Griffith once made "The Clansman," now "The Birth of a Nation." Before it reached Chicago the Fox company sprung "The Nigger."

Lasky made a "Carmen," with Geraldine Farrar. On the heels of its production came a Fox "Carmen," with Theda Bara.

That is one of the reasons why publicity men are usually bottled up about a big production in the making nowadays until it is ready for launching.

THE TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

By JANE EDDINGTON

All recipes have been scientifically tested by Miss Eddington with current market materials and are indorsed by her.

Digestion is just a process of dissolving. If you think that reducing some of the stuffs you put into your mouth to a solution as thin as water is easy, just try doing it in a dish.

Concerning Baked Potatoes.

ONE of the newer cook books says put potatoes for baking into a 500 degree F. oven and let them cook forty-five minutes, if they are large. It calls this a "hot oven." Some of the biggest bakeries bake loaf bread at this temperature, but they could not if a great oven full of loaves did not give off so much steam as they are bound to do in baking. Baking is bound to be somewhat of a drying process.

And, by the way, cooks should read temperatures carefully for several reasons. One is because 100 degrees centigrade is a different thing from 100 degrees Fahrenheit, and they are written C. and F. only, which letters might easily be overlooked.

Stuffed potatoes are so pretty and popular nowadays that one must learn to bake the potato perfectly or this desirable garnish-like method of preparation will not be a success. Authorities agree that potatoes should be baked in a hot oven.

The inside of a baking potato should never be greatly above boiling point or it will burst, but yet must be enough above so that the water in the potato will turn to steam. It is for this reason that the starch in baked potatoes is more thoroughly cooked, and therefore more easily digested, than in potato cooked any other way. Also no mineral nutrient is lost when potato is so cooked.

Emphasis should be placed on scrubbing the skins of the potatoes, especially if they are to be stuffed, and more especially yet if they are to be eatable. It is a good thing to encourage any one who would eat this splendid roughage, which, if clean and thin, has a most agreeable flavor.

The potato is baked in a hot oven to keep it from being soggy, and when it is done it is quickly pricked or gashed to allow the steam to escape; also to prevent sogginess. Two gashes at right angles and a gentle pressure of the potato to let the steam from the innermost part of the potato escape is one of the best methods, but there are others.

To stuff the potatoes should be cut lengthwise with a hot knife and the inside carefully removed so as to have the shells perfect. The pulp is then mashed or riced, seasoned like any mashed potato, and put back into shells and baked again. Two or three tablespoons of cream to six potatoes is a good proportion and about the same amount of butter. They brown best if brushed with egg, and sometimes an egg is put in the mashed potato.

Doris Blake Says

Have you a perplexing love affair in which you need the counsel of a friend? Write to Doris Blake, care of "The Tribune." If you wish a personal reply send stamped and addressed envelope.

"Some husbands never realize how little their wives understand them until they open up their Xmas gifts."

Real Love Stories

One "Put Out" and "Assist."

JUST imagine a country town with two rival baseball teams, each with its set of loyal fans, playing for the championship, and you will have a pretty clear idea of how an incident I am about to relate can have such bearing on the mind of an uninterested spectator.

The score was 4 to 2 against us in the seventh inning, with a man on first and second and my turn to bat. I would have liked to have some one else bat in my place, being too tired of pitching to run the bases, but it had to be done.

The first ball pitched cut the heart of the plate without an attempt on my part to swing my bat at it. The second ball left the pitcher's hand and found my head with such force that I was put to sleep.

When I woke up I found my head in the lap of one of our loyal fans, and her soft hands bathing my bruised head. We lost that game, but what did I care? I won what is dearer to me than even a championship game. F. L. S.

Make Him Jealous.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 20 and went with a girl of 18 for six months and then left town for a few months. When I got back the girl was interested in another young man and she doesn't seem to care for me any more. I love her. How can I gain her love again? "CURLY."

Start right in being nice to some other attractive girl and don't pay any attention to your old love! Let her think that you have lost interest, no matter how hard this game may be to play. Sometimes this results in one getting interested in the other girl, but more often than not it makes No. 1 come to the realization of how much she really does care. Jealousy is a mighty good stimulant for love. Just you try my suggestion and let me know if it doesn't prove effective.

What Is "Postoffice"?

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl of 13 and would like to know if it is proper to go skating after 7:30 with a crowd of boys and girls if you come in before 9 o'clock. I have known the boys less than a year. Many of the boys of our crowd talk about postoffice. Will you please tell me what it is? NAN."

What does mother say? I suppose I would let you go if I approved of the crowd and the place, but I'd have to know them well to feel entirely comfortable. "Postoffice," I believe, is the misleading term applied to one of these impossible kissing games which many boys think is smart to play.

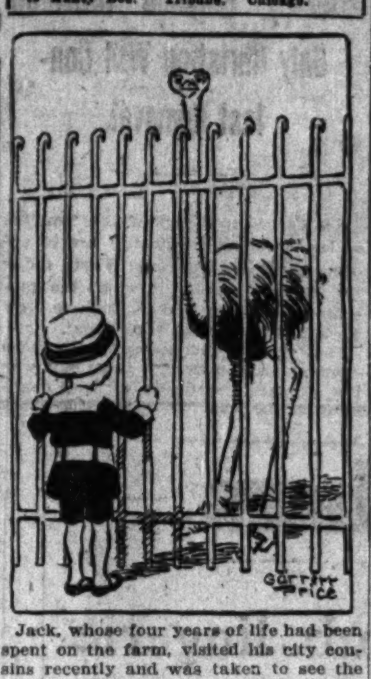
"Dear William" Might Do.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have a young friend who is going away to college. He has asked me to correspond with him. Will you please advise me as to what is the most proper salutation? We are both about 19. B. B."

If you know him well enough to call him Bill, I'd start my letter "Dear William," but if you are not on such familiar terms, then be prim and proper and say "Dear Mr. Smith." Is that what you want to know? I hope the affair progresses nicely. M. M.

BRIGHT SAYINGS of the CHILDREN

"The Tribune" will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The only condition is the story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. Write on one side of the paper only. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "Tribune," Chicago.



Jack, whose four years of life had been spent on the farm, visited his city cousins recently and was taken to see the strange creatures in a zoo. He insisted on running ahead of his elders, and when overtaken was brimming with questions about his discoveries. However, when he first saw an ostrich his amazement held him speechless. Then he turned and with a gasp exclaimed, "That's surely some duck!"

Uncle Carl paid his two little nephews 1 cent a day each for waking him at 7 each morning. One Saturday night he retired at a late hour, but was awakened at 7 Sunday morning by the boys. When asked why they disturbed him they said: "We need the money." S. C. S.

Erlan started to school in September and is enthusiastic about it. The first day or so after he had started he said to his mother, "Mother, I don't want anybody to give me toys any more, just books." A. E. H.

Gerald has a new boy scout suit and is trying to act the soldier in every sense of the word. While playing the other day he fell and hurt himself quite badly. The tears started to his eyes, but he immediately braced himself and said: "Boy scouts don't try." T. J. R.

"What is your address, John?" asked his teacher.

"Gee, I don't know. I always go in the back way."

Beauty Hints

by Antoinette Donnelly

If you missed the Antoinette Donnelly series telling how she reduced Mrs. Eva Lane thirty-six pounds in six weeks, or how she added twenty pounds in five weeks to Miss Helene Barnett's weight, or how she corrected a head of dry, thin, and falling hair and an oily scalp with dandruff, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and the information will be mailed to you. Any other questions pertaining to beauty and hygiene will be gladly answered. Address Antoinette Donnelly, Chicago Tribune.

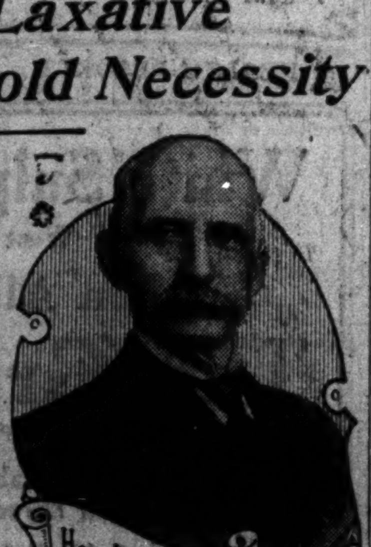
A. J.: YOU DID NOT TELL ME how tall you are, consequently I cannot tell you how much you should weigh. Over 200 pounds, however, is much too great weight for any one. I have recently reduced a woman thirty-six pounds in six weeks, describing the process of my work in a series of six articles, which I shall be pleased to mail to you if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope. However, I suggest your going to a physician and having him thoroughly examine you to see if you have fully recovered from your operation before starting in the exercises. From the tone of your letter I am afraid you are not in a normal condition.

MRS. B. R. H.: TRY DRINKING A glass of cold water the last thing at night and the first thing in the morning. At first the water may nauseate, but after you have taken it for three or four mornings or a week you will have overcome the nausea. There is nothing better for overcoming biliousness than drinking lots of water. Undoubtedly it is caused by constipation. A great deal can be done by diet in relieving constipation. The abundant eating of green fruit and vegetables, if persisted in, is a most efficient means. Ripe raw fruits and cooked fruits are particularly efficient; baked apples, stewed figs and prunes are good.

LOU B.: FREQUENTLY POOR CIRCULATION will make the hands red and unattractive. Avoid putting your hands in hot water or water in which a strong soap or powder has been placed. Hot soapy water will make the hands red. Rubbing them with glycerin will often counteract redness. Before you retire at night rub your hands with cold cream or olive oil. I shall be glad to send you my instructions for the care of the hands if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

MISS LORRETTA C.: THERE IS NO virtue in singeing the hair to make it grow. If the ends are split and broken, just clip them off. I am printing my formula for neck bleach for you: Lactic acid, one fluid ounce; glycerin, two fluid ounces; tincture of benzoin, two fluid drams, and water enough to make sixteen fluid ounces. If the skin shows slight irritation, discontinue for a day or two and use cold cream.

FREDA: CURLING THE HAIR with hot irons cannot be too deeply deplored. It makes the hair dry and brittle, causing it to split and break. It is distinctly bad for the hair. Sun baths for the hair are highly recommended. It needs sunlight just as the body needs it. Be warned, however, that continual exposure to the direct rays of the sun wall affect the coloring. Spread it out widely with both hands so that sun and air may get right at the scalp.



This Simple Laxative A Household Necessity

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin Should Have a Place in Every Home.

Constipation, or inaction of the bowels, a condition that nearly everyone experiences with more or less frequency, is the direct cause of much disease. When the bowels become clogged with refuse from the stomach, foul gasses and poisons are generated, and unless the congestion is quickly relieved the system becomes weakened and most susceptible to attack.

Various remedies to relieve constipation are prescribed, but many of these contain cathartic or purgative agents that are harsh and violent in their action and shock the system. The most effective remedy is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

The Hon. John D. Keister of Brandywine, W. Va., who has represented his district in the State Legislature for six years, writes that he uses Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and finds it a splendid laxative, easy to take and mild, yet positive in its action, and that it should be in every household for use when needed.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists in all parts of the United States and costs only fifty cents a bottle. It contains no opiate or narcotic drug, does not gripe, and is recommended as a family laxative, mild enough for the tiniest babe, yet sufficiently powerful to act easily on the strongest constitution.

To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes be sure to get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 455 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois, for whom this advertisement is published.

U. S. SEEKS TAX LAW EVASIONS AMONG BROKERS

Board of Trade Speculators May Be Forced to Pay High Stamp Levies.

Internal revenue collectors have been busy the last few weeks investigating trading accounts of speculators and commission houses on the board of trade and on the open board of trade, to discover any evasions of the stamp tax law.

As a result it is understood the government has received several good sized checks, in one instance $59,000, representing back taxes on board of trade transactions.

The special tax law, which was recently repealed, was in operation for nearly two years. Under this law all transactions in grain were subject to a tax, whether for the purchase and sale of cash grain or futures. While the taxes are no longer levied, the government agents have been decidedly busy in rounding up delinquents.

Some Dealers Hard Hit.

Some of the open board of trade houses as well as those on the big exchange have been hard hit by the recent department rulings.

One ruling especially has created consternation among the members of the exchanges. This is to the effect that what are known as transferred trades are subject to the same taxes as other trades. This ruling was received within a few days, and has caused much excitement among the room traders who transfer, or "scratch their trades," in pit parlance.

Runs Into High Figures.

With many traders daily buying and selling anywhere from 250,000 to 500,000 bushels of wheat and other grains, the amount of their tax for the period of nearly two years will run up to an immense sum, in some cases as high as $30 to $50 a day.

FIVE ACCUSED OF BLACKMAIL MAY TAKE STAND

Attorney Erbstein Intimates Only Christian Will Contest Removal.

Six alleged members of the "million dollar blackmail syndicate" are to appear before Commissioner Foote today for the final hearing, in which the government seeks to remove them to New York and Philadelphia for trial.

That five of the accused will waive examination and consent to go east was the intimation yesterday of their counsel, Charles E. Erbstein. Only Jimmy Christian will fight, it was said. Until yesterday it was believed that Buda Godman, accused of being the "lure" in the swindle which cost E. R. West $15,000, would also resist removal, but upon advice of Attorney Erbstein she is said to have changed her mind.

These Appear Today.

Those who will appear before Commissioner Foote today are Edward Donohue, Henry (Slick) Russell, Homer French, Helen Evers, James Christian and Buda Godman.

French and Christian are named in two complaints. One made by Mrs. Regina Klipper of Philadelphia and the other by E. R. West of Highland Park. The West case will be heard in New York and the other in Philadelphia. Special Prosecutor John Knox of the attorney general's office is in Chicago in charge of the prosecution.

Witnesses Arrive.

The arrival of several Philadelphia witnesses in Chicago yesterday was admitted by Hinton G. Clabaugh, but he refused to reveal their identity. The witnesses are here to identify the accused "blackmailer" and to testify in the event they contest the government's action in removing them from Chicago.

30,000 EAT SANDWICHES CELEBRATING CHEESE DAY.

Monroe, Wis., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Thirty thousand visitors from out of town ate free cheese sandwiches here today in the public square, in the second annual celebration of cheese day. Foreign purchasing agents for European armies were here also, making contracts for delivery of cheese for use in the trenches.

Monroe is the center of the Wisconsin Swiss cheese region, the county being largely populated by Swiss colonists, who have developed the Swiss cheese industry in Wisconsin until this county makes more than their entire native republic does.

Burt Williams, Democratic candidate for governor, was one of several speakers of the day. The visiting crowds came in from all over northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin by special trains, autos, and wagons.

Fines Salesman $19.

Judge Fisher of the Morals court fined Charlie Ernst, 1638 North La Salle street, who says he is a salesman, $19 yesterday on a charge of being an inmate of a disorderly room.

ROCK ISLAND 1917 CHOICE OF UNIFORM RANK, I. O. O. F.

Wins Next Convention Over Bloomington, Ill.—Chicago Cantons Participate.

Kankakee, Ill., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—In a spirited voting contest among the members of the department council, Patriarchs' Militant Department of Illinois, I. O. O. F., Rock Island was chosen as the meeting place for the next annual convention of the Uniform Rank over Bloomington.

Joliet took second prize in the team drills. Canton Bohemia of Chicago was a close contender for second place in the drills. Col. John J. Blattau of Chicago and Col. William B. Fritz of De Kalb were the recipients of the degree of Grand Decoration of Chivalry.

Chicago cantons, in charge of Col. Earl M. Rainey, Brig. Gen. Sven Windrow, Col. A. T. Roner, and Col. M. H. Spier, attended the convention.

After several witnesses had testified yesterday, the taking of depositions in the habeas corpus proceedings in behalf of Guy Biddinger, former Chicago detective, and wanted here on a charge of conspiracy, was continued until today by United States Commissioner Mason.

MARSHALL FIELD & CO

Two Special Values in Women's New Suits

The new models are so attractive every woman will find place for at least one such Suit in her Autumn wardrobe.

Smart Velveteen Suits, $50.00

Trim Woolen Velour Suits, $35.00

For the morning hours, for shopping and walking, the cloth Suit is practically indispensable. Extremely interesting with its irregular tunic line and upturned pockets, the Suit at the right has its double cuffs banded with Bisam seal to match its deep collar of this smart fur. Sixth Floor, South Room.

Women's Autumn Blouses

Wherein Novelty Is Combined With Moderate Pricings.

Surely, Blouses were never more attractive than these at their pricings. Two of the three illustrated are offered in suit colorings and, worn with suit or separate skirt, will give a smart costume effect.

At $8.75 comes the fine cross-tucked Blouse illustrated at the left, made of crepe chiffon in the suit shades, mounted over a chiffon lining. Vestee, collar and cuff trimmings are of lemon-colored crepe chiffon.

At $6.00 The crepe de Chine tailored Blouse in a new version—sketched at the center—and ornamented with smoked pearl buttons, box-plaits and hemstitching.

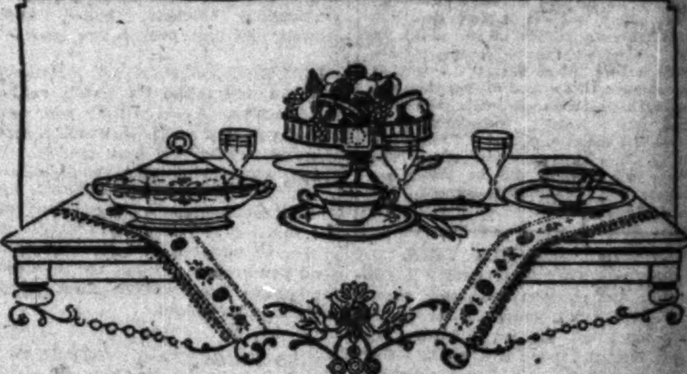
Ginori China—Specially Reduced in Prices



This world-famous China has a distinguished record for excellence and for classic purity of design, which extends well back into the eighteenth century. The sets and pieces now offered at exceptionally low prices express most favorably the distinction which a long line of artists has built up.

Owing to European conditions affecting the supply, we are closing out at substantially reduced prices the twenty-four patterns of this China which we have in stock. Included are complete Dinner Sets in classic and period designs, a few of which are listed.

Old Naples,	$100.00	Andrea Della Robbia,	$150.00
Jeweled Rope,	$100.00	Empress Josephine,	$200.00
Chantilly,	$135.00	Empire,	$200.00
Sevres,	$125.00	Fontainebleau,	$250.00
Faenza,	$135.00

Dozens of Plates, Cream Jugs, Soup Plates, Cups and Saucers, Demi-Tasses, Bouillon Cups, Ramekins and fancy pieces are in Byzantine, Old Chinese, Tuscan Garland, Adam, Grecian, Renaissance, Old Milan, Urbino, Tuscan, and other famous patterns.

COUNCIL TO HOLD ALL ITS SESSIONS IN THE DAYTIME

Passes Ordinance to Abolish Night Meetings—Wrangle Over Playground Bonds.

MERRIAM POINTS TO PERIL.

Chicago can now boast that it is truly metropolitan.

Daylight council meetings yesterday were officially established by the city council for the first time in Chicago's history. The night session, an inheritance of the day when the town was governed by a village board, was abolished, and hereafter all regular meetings will be held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoons.

Vain efforts have been made in previous years to bring about daylight meetings, but the change was made yesterday without much opposition, although a few aldermen sought to block it.

Utpatel Changes Front.

The measure was introduced by Ald. Henry D. Capitain as an amendment to the rules. Ald. Henry D. Utpatel, who has strenuously opposed the change in the past, was one of the first to come to its support.

"I am convinced that afternoon meetings will be conducive to better work," he said. "The alderman who comes here tired out after a day's work is not well fitted to pass on important matters that come before us."

Ald. Otto Kerner sought to block the amendment by asking its reference to the judiciary committee, but he was voted down, 55 to 9, Ald. Michael Kenna and John J. Coughlin leading the roll call in behalf of the amendment. The vote on actual passage of the amendment was 54 to 6, and later an ordinance making the change doubly sure was passed, 53 to 5.

Wrangle Over Playground Bonds.

The biggest wrangle of the afternoon concerned the proposed $3,400,000 bond issue for playgrounds, parks, and bathing beaches. In the end a recess was taken until 2 o'clock this afternoon after Oscar De Priest, Negro alderman from the Second ward, had injected into the discussion a proposal to add $400,000 for building public comfort stations.

Ald. C. E. Merriam declared the addition of this $400,000, which had the backing of administration aldermen, would carry the city beyond its bonded indebtedness and jeopardize all proposed bond issues, including the $2,000,000 for new garbage disposal equipment.

"If you want to install comfort stations, the people will demand definite plans before they will authorize a $400,000 expenditure," asserted Ald. John Richert, chairman of the finance committee.

Ald. W. E. Rodriguez observed that "comfort stations are badly needed because of the partly closed Sunday." Ald. John C. Kennedy said more time was needed for consideration of the question, and on motion of Ald. Merriam an adjournment was taken.

Michaelson Introduces Measure.

Earlier in the session Ald. M. A. Michaelson introduced an ordinance for the creation of a commission consisting of seven aldermen, a representative of the Chicago plan commission and Commissioner of Public Welfare Louise Osborne Rowe, to investigate the raising of funds for comfort stations. He asked its passage, but Ald. Nance succeeded in having it referred to the health committee.

"I'm for the whole program of playgrounds, recreation centers, bathing beaches, comfort stations, and garbage equipment if we can find the money," said Mayor Thompson.

Estimates as to the city's unused borrowing power were conflicting. One statement was that $5,946,000 would be available after the first of the year.

Wants Basic Law Convention.

Ald. Merriam introduced a resolution requesting the legislature to submit a call for a constitutional convention to the electorate of the state. Home rule for Chicago, according to Ald. Merriam, is one of the chief arguments for a new state constitution.

Ald. Richert, for the finance committee, had passed an appropriation of $7,000 to enable the health department to carry on its fight against infantile paralysis.

The council fixed Nov. 1 as tag day for several charitable organizations not affiliated with the Children's Benefit association, whose tag day occurs Oct. 18.

Ald. Rea introduced an order for redistricting the various wards in accordance with the distribution of the population. It was referred to the judiciary committee.

MAYOR AGAINST GARBAGE EXPERT WOMEN FAVOR.

Mayor Thompson yesterday took a wallop at Col. Henry A. Allen, head of the city's waste disposal bureau, whose retention in this position has been demanded by Mary McDowell and other members of the Woman's City club as the price of their support of the proposed garbage bond issue.

"My friends have criticized Col. Allen severely," the mayor said. "I am informed that he is impractical, very extravagant, and wasteful of the city's funds on theoretical schemes and ideas. I am also informed by the corporation counsel that the waste disposal bureau is illegal and that the city council cannot in any way dictate his appointment as the head of such a bureau."

At the morning session of the finance committee a program calling for a $2,000,000 bond issue to build garbage and waste incinerators was recommended.

Miss Sumayeh Attiyeh, a native of Syria, Turkey, will give a lecture on Turkish harems and other oriental institutions before the employés of Marshall Field & Co. at noon today as a farewell to her fellow employés.

Miss Attiyeh will leave Chicago next Monday for an eight months' lecture tour throughout the eastern states for a lyceum bureau, after seven years spent in the department store.

After she finishes her engagement Miss Attiyeh will return to Turkey to visit her relatives.

JUDGE ARRESTS PISTOL SELLERS

Perhaps David Weisbaum of 304 West Madison street and Curtis Mellin will not sell revolvers to minors for some time to come. Yesterday when they were summoned before Judge Pam in the Criminal court and explained that they had sold the gun with which Elmer Schuedter and Arnold Mesch killed Emiel Dupper they were promptly served with a bench warrant for selling deadly weapons to minors.

Last June Schuedter, 19 years old, and Arnold Mesch, who is 16, held up Emiel Dupper in his candy store in St. Louis avenue. Assistant State's Attorney James Quin traced the sale of the revolver to the store of Weisbaum & Mellin.

The hearing will be held on Saturday when the boys will be sentenced and the revolver selling settled. The maximum fine for selling deadly weapons to minors is $200.

EPISCOPAL CONVENTION OPENS TODAY IN ST. LOUIS.

Two Thousand Members of Clergy and Laymen Attend—Woman's Auxiliary Also Meets.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 10.—Approximately 2,000 Protestant Episcopal bishops, clergymen, and laymen, representing about 4,000,000 adherents in the United States and its possessions, were gathering in St. Louis tonight for the opening tomorrow of the forty-fourth triennial convention of the church.

With them were about as many women, here to attend sessions of the Woman's auxiliary, which also begins tomorrow.

The session of the convention will continue for three weeks.

HER MATE HELD IN TRUST.

Mrs. Myra Sandberg, However, Doesn't Like Two Years' Separation from Boy Husband.

Mrs. Myra Sandberg has a 18 year old husband who, in a manner of speaking, is being held in trust for her. By standing at the end of eternity and using a Lick telescope Mrs. Sandberg thinks she might be able to see the end of the two years prescribed for her to wait.

Therefore she wants him now. She applied yesterday for a writ of habeas corpus directed against Herbert Sandberg's parents alleging they are holding him prisoner at the family residence, 1418 Summerdale avenue. Judge Thomson issued the writ, which is returnable today.

The youthful couple were married in Michigan City, Ind., after they had been refused a marriage license in Crown Point because of their tender years. Upon their return the bridegroom's parents took action through the Juvenile court to separate them for several years.

TWELVE INJURED AS STRIKERS RIOT AT BAYONNE, N. J.

Policemen Pour Lead Into Mob and Four May Die—Standard Oil Closes Plant.

PATROLMEN ON GUARD DUTY.

Bayonne, N. J., Oct. 10.—Four policemen were shot in a battle late today with striking employés of the Tidewater Oil company after they had been attacked by a mob.

They returned the fire and eight of the strikers were wounded, four of them so seriously they may die. None of the policemen was dangerously wounded.

Clash with the Police.

The strikers, several hundred in number, assembled near the plant of the company and resisted the efforts of twenty or more policemen to disperse them.

The officers were under orders not to fire unless fired upon, but when they approached the mob one of its leaders began shooting and the battle became general. A volley from the policemen's guns soon dispersed the strikers.

The wounded officers were shot in the arms and legs and three of them continued on duty. Most of the injured rioters were shot in the head, and four of them are not expected to live. All the wounded civilians were taken to hospitals.

Standard Closes Plant.

The Standard Oil plant, which employs about 3,000 men, closed at noon today after the companies' refusal to grant the demands of the men for a wage increase ranging from 20 to 30 per cent.

The entire police force of Bayonne was on guard duty tonight.

EVANSTON POLICE HOLD FREIGHT THIEF SUSPECTS.

Two Men Believed Members of Gang of Seven Which Stole Copper Ingots from Northwestern.

Following a shotgun and revolver battle near Blodgett's station on the Northwestern railroad Saturday night two men were arrested. The men are Harry Ingals, 385 Park avenue, and Russell McGill, 220 North Clarkson court. It is said they have told the police the names of their five companions. They are believed to constitute a gang of freight car thieves.

Last Thursday night a freight train stopped for water at Blodgett's station. When it arrived in the Chicago yards a short time later it was discovered that one of the cars had been broken open and 368 copper ingots stolen.

Saturday evening an automobile and an auto truck drove up to the home of John Nichols, a short distance from the water tank. Mrs. Nichols granted permission to drive the auto truck across her property, then called up the Evanston police, who arrived shortly after a group of farm hands had captured two of the party after a number of shots had been exchanged. Some of the ingots had been loaded into the truck.

ANYWAY, HE WANTS PERMIT FOR DOG OR FOR A BRIDE.

While Young Man Applies for Permit to Wed Another Is Seeking to Get Divorce.

"I want a dog license, please," said a young man.

"You can't get it here," said a clerk in the county clerk's office. "We only issue marriage licenses here."

"Well, I want one of them, too," said the young man, bringing a pretty brunette to the window. "I thought I could get both licenses at the same place."

Early in the morning the procession starts and lasts until 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The merry, blushing couples get the coveted piece of paper with the large roses on it, and walk around the hall to visit Judge Franklin in the marriage court. More than thirty couples a day are married by Judge Franklin.

Brotherhood Republic Canvasses Loop Seeking Work for Youths After Class Hours.

The semi-annual "job day" of the Boys' Brotherhood Republic yesterday resulted in eighty-three jobs being found for boys who want to work after school. At the employment office of the republic at 1818 Republic building nearly 300 boys registered for positions.

Committees of boys called on employers in the loop and in the manufacturing districts asking for work for boys after school.

The brotherhood will continue its search for places until all applicants are given work, for many of them will be compelled to leave school if they can't make money to pay their way.

COURT FINES MIDWIFE $10.

Judge Sullivan of the Municipal court fined Rosa Atlas of 1102 North Ashland avenue $10 yesterday for failure to report a case of eye infection to the city. Mrs. Atlas is a midwife and took care of Mrs. Joseph Shafrau, 2124 West Dawson street, at the time a baby was born.

Bathroom Play Nearly Fatal to Three Children

DOCTOR SAVES THEM

At 4 years of age the bathroom contains more adventures than the Arabian Nights with pictures. For touring the world the wishing carpet is no more desirable than the bath rug that can be pushed all over the slickery tile floor.

Also there are spiggoty squirt-waters and such attractions as shiny knobs and a white bottomed lake to sail paper boats on. Obviously the bathroom is, of all places, the one to play, and its only drawback fearfully grown-up parents who won't permit you to do it.

Dorothy Has Guests.

Yesterday when little 4 year old Dorothy Cleveland of 319 North Pine avenue was visited by Grace and Evelyn West, who are respectively half a year her junior and senior, she apprised them that mamma had gone far away on the cars, forever and ever, and probably wouldn't be back for three or four hours. The forbidden bathroom was at last unguarded. The gates were open to the country of heart's desire.

Three little adventurers tiptoed surreptitiously upstairs and entered. They locked the door for an extra precaution, and some one discovered that the rubber tube connecting a gas jet to a small stove was as delightful to pull as the cat's tail and not so rough on the skin.

Mother Traces Gas.

When Mrs. Alice Cleveland came home at 5 o'clock she smelled gas. She traced it to the bathroom. After an ineffectual effort to open the door she ran to the street and called neighbors to help. The door was forced.

On the floor lay the adventurers with their dolls. Baby Grace had taken her largest doll in her arms for comfort when the room began to swim darkly. On the gas stove was a skillet with bits of paper "frying" in imitation of food, that the guests had not touched.

A call was sent in to the police of the Austin station and artificial respiration machines were rushed to the Cleveland home. Dr. Charles C. Jones of 327 North Pine avenue was called in, and with the police worked for two hours on the children before they were rewarded by signs of returning life.

Saved by Physician.

"We got sleepy and sleepy," said little Dorothy, after the doctor said the three little girls were all right. "We tried to unlock the door, but it was hard, and we were sleepy. So we lied down, and after we lied down we went to sleep."

Evelyn and Grace were returned to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William F. West of 329 North Pine avenue, but little the worse for their near voyage far beyond the cruising radius of wishing carpet or bath rug.

ACCUSED HEAD OF BASEBALL POOL TAKEN IN CINCINNATI.

H. D. Nabor Arrested After "Skipping" from Chicago Just Ahead of U. S. Warrant Servers.

Word of the arrest in Cincinnati of H. D. Nabor, alleged head of the baseball pool syndicate, with headquarters in Chicago, was received by local postoffice authorities yesterday. A warrant for the arrest of Nabor has been in the hands of the postal inspectors for a week.

Nabor's offices were at 20 East Jackson boulevard, but federal officers learned he had "skipped" immediately after Commissioner Foote issued a warrant. The extensive operations of the baseball pool gamblers were revealed when Judge Landis tore off the gambling lid in Chicago recently.

The offices of the baseball pool syndicate were raided several days ago by the city detectives and one man was arrested. Since then federal agents in various parts of the country have been looking for Nabor. The pool he is said to have operated is reported to have made an average of $50,000 weekly. He will be returned to Chicago.

TRAINING CAMP RECRUITS! PUT IN YOUR CLAIMS TO U. S.

War Department Ready to Reimburse You—Rules for Dependent Families of Guardsmen.

Washington D. C., Oct. 10.—The war department announced today that it was prepared to receive applications for reimbursement of civilians who attended authorized military training camps during the present year. Congress appropriated $2,000,000 for this purpose. The announcement says application should be made direct to the auditor of the department, and that the cost of transportation to and from the camps and of uniforms and subsistence during training will be refunded.

MRS. GRUBBS ASKS DIVORCE.

Says Urbana Tobacconist Had Former Mrs. Grubbs as Guest in His Home.

Too many Mrs. Grubbs caused Mrs. Minnie Grubbs to file a bill for divorce against J. Plummer Grubbs, a tobacco dealer of Urbana, Ill., yesterday, she says in the bill.

In 1914, Mrs. Grubbs avers, her husband brought a former wife home from whom he had been divorced, and she remained under the same roof for over five weeks.

The two Mrs. Grubbs did not speak, the bill explains, and subsequently the former Mrs. Grubbs ordered the present wife from the house.

Mrs. Minnie Grubbs alleges cruelty.

HYDE PARK GIRL ATHLETIC STAR EATS BEFORE BED

However, Miss Marion Leighton Goes to School Without Any Breakfast.

PRAISED IN SCHOOL PAPER.

Marion Leighton, the best all around girl athlete in Hyde Park High school, had her name inscribed in the school's Gallery of Notables this week:

"Because she is playing her fourth year on the girls' basketball team;

"Because she was twice captain of the girls' indoor baseball team;

"Because she is a member of all the girls' societies and many other clubs;

"Because in 1915 she won the tennis championship of the high school league;

"Because she is Hyde Park's leading girl athlete and one of the few girls ever to win a Hyde Park emblem."

How She Does It.

That is how the Hyde Park Weekly, the school paper, puts it, and it practically covers the story, all but the "how" of it.

"Any girl can become an athlete if she trains and diets," Miss Leighton said last night. "I never eat any breakfast, but still I eat three meals a day. The first is a heavy lunch at school, the second is evening dinner at my home, and I always eat again before I go to sleep.

"In one of his dog stories Jack London suggests that huskies are so strong and so physically fit because they are perpetually hungry. I am not always hungry, but I have found that my lessons come to me more quickly when I do not breakfast. I never eat between meals."

Abandons Swimming.

"I took one swim in the lake this summer and that was enough," she continued. "I contracted the hoof and mouth disease, just as a great many other people did, and now I have forsaken swimming for tennis and basketball."

This summer Miss Leighton was the runnerup in the city tennis tournament. She is secretary and treasurer of the Girls' Athletic association of Hyde Park and lives with her mother, Mrs. Jean King Leighton, at 5542 Prairie avenue.

CELESTIALS CELEBRATE "FOURTH" NOISELESSLY.

Chinese Observe Sane Fifth Anniversary of Republic of China's Founding.

The Chinese "Fourth of July"—the fifth anniversary of the Republic of China—was celebrated by Chinamen over all America last night. And there wasn't one "whoop" or a cannon cracker "bang" in the whole country because of it.

Instead of celebrating in the style set by their American brothers and going out and "hitting things up" the Chinamen gathered at various meeting places and discussed economic problems and social betterment questions. In fact, they made extra efforts to be "quieter" than usual.

One of the principal celebrations in Chicago occurred at the rooms of the Chinese Merchants' association at 225 West Twenty-second place. It began at 10 o'clock—the hour set by Chinamen all over the country to celebrate—and lasted until about 1. And to follow the custom of doing everything just "backwards" from the American way a dinner was served after the speeches were made.

MOLLYCODDLING A PERIL TO PRISONERS: WHITMAN.

New York Governor Says Penitentiary Reformers Should Not Swing to the Maudlin.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 10.—The so-called new way of treating prisoners in penal institutions was discussed by Gov. Charles S. Whitman in an address before the annual congress of the American Prison association here tonight. While indorsing much that has been done for the betterment of criminals during their incarceration and after their discharge Gov. Whitman uttered a word of warning. "In swinging away from the brutal," he said, "it is not necessary to swing to the maudlin. An extreme of punishment is no more dangerous than an extreme of mollycoddling. It is possible to think of the rights of the prisoner without forgetting the rights of society."

DOCTORS WATCH LABOR BILL

Will Fight Any Attempt to Fix Fees in Health Insurance Measure.

The council of the Chicago Medical society, composed of several thousand physicians and surgeons, at a meeting in the Palmer house last night, took steps toward placing the physicians on a plane with the plumber, bricklayer and policeman, who received "full pay for their work," as members put it.

It was suggested this bill might attempt to regulate fees of physicians in cases in which they might be called and that an attempt to fix the fees of physicians was arbitrary.

A committee was appointed to investigate the measure.

LABORER LOSES EYES IN BLAST

Four Others Injured When Pick Hits Dynamite Cap in Tunnel.

The explosion of a dynamite cap, hit by a workman's pick yesterday, blasted out the eyes of one laborer and seriously injured four others at work in the Wilson avenue tunnel.

Austin Coleman, a Negro of 3217 South Dearborn street, was nearest the exploding cap. His eyes were shattered by the force of the exposion and he was knocked unconscious. The other injured are: Robert Bird, 3820 Federal street; William Ambro, 456 North Carpenter street; Oral Maxwell, 3949 South Dearborn street, all Negroes, and Charles Long, 3359 Aberdeen street.

When rescuers reached the five injured men, Coleman was lying unconscious on the floor of the tunnel and the others were crawling dazedly away. Coleman was taken to the Lake View hospital, where it is said he has a chance for recovery.

None of the workmen is able to account for the stray dynamite cap on the tunnel floor. The accident occurred about half a mile out under the lake. The tunnel, which is being bored to furnish the north side with water, was not damaged.

COBBLERS WALK OUT TODAY.

Independent Shoe Repair Union Strikes for Shorter Hours and Higher Wages.

This morning 800 members of the Independent Shoe Repair Workers' union will walk out on strike against 600 "bosses." The strike was called when the "bosses" refused to sign an agreement with the union calling for a nine hour day and a $2 increase per week. The men, it is claimed, now receive an average of $14 a week for working ten and twelve hours a day.

Ruben Klebon, president of the union, says practically every one of the shoe repairing shops in the city will be affected. Klebon does not think the shops will be tied up, for the "bosses" usually mend shoes in a chair next to their employés.

"We expect to win because of the shortage of labor," he said. "Already forty-five of the bosses have signed our agreements."

JURY CALLS WIDOW A SUICIDE

Suicide while despondent over the death of her husband was the verdict returned by a coroner's jury yesterday which investigated the death of Mrs. Bessie Hicks, who was found dead Monday from gas in the bathroom of her home, 7148 South Chicago avenue.

Mrs. Hicks was the widow of Policeman Simeon Hicks of the Woodlawn station, who committed suicide April 3 in the same room.

Two children, a boy 10 years old and a daughter, 14, were in school at the time.

TEACHER SUED FOR ALIENATION

Miss Gavin of Ryerson School Named by Mrs. S. W. Roth.

Accused of having "wickedly debauched" with another woman's husband, Miss Gertrude E. Gavin, a public school teacher, was sued yesterday in the Circuit court for $50,000 on charges of alienating the affections of Salo W. Roth, publisher. Miss Gavin teaches the youngsters in the first grade of the Ryerson school, 620 North Lawndale avenue.

The suit was brought by Roth's wife, Mrs. Sarah F. Roth, who is living in Oak Park apart from her husband. She filed a suit for separate maintenance against her husband in September of 1914, charging cruelty.

Tells of Supposed Meetings.

In the declaration of her $50,000 suit filed yesterday, Mrs. Roth charges that Miss Gavin "wickely debauched" with Roth every Saturday afternoon from 1904 to 1906. The revels, the wife asserts, took place in Roth's office, at 186 North La Salle street, and in the apartment of Miss Gavin at 2961 Warren avenue.

Another rendezvous, according to Mrs. Roth, was in a building at Wabash avenue and Harmon court. Mrs. Roth also mentions other places and later dates, at which, she alleges, indiscretions were committed.

Except for the declaration of the bill, there was a paucity of information concerning the difficulties between Mrs. Roth and her husband. At the Gavin apartment it was said that Miss Gavin had gone "to the north side to be with some friends over night."

May Return Tonight.

A Mrs. Quirk, who answered some of the questions put, pleaded her age of "over 70" as an excuse for her inability to give further information. She said she expected Miss Gavin home tonight, but denied all knowledge of the friends to whom the teacher had gone.

Mrs. Roth in Oak Park disdained all telephone calls.

At Roth's home, 3521 Walnut street, a woman answered all calls. She denied knowing "this Gertrude woman at all."

BUYS STORE; CLAIMS FRAUD

Mrs. Anna Wendig, 1522 South Michigan boulevard, was arrested yesterday on a charge of operating a confidence game, on complaint of Mrs. Mary Brush. Mrs. Brush purchased a small grocery store for $450 from Mrs. Wendig a month ago. After taking possession, she said, she discovered stock missing. Her first sale, Mrs. Brush said, was a bottle of ammonia to a boy, and ten minutes later he returned and said the bottle contained only water.

ROYAL GREETING BY MONTANA TO HUGHES WOMEN

ADDRESSES WELL RECEIVED.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

On Board Woman's Campaign Train for Hughes, Billings, Mont., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Miles City, Mont., is on the map forever for all those on the women's campaign train. For unrestricted openheartedness it has no rival. It fulfilled every promise, was the realization of every dream we had ever had of the wild and woolly and big hearted west.

When we left more than one pair of eyes was just a little brighter than mere excitement made them. The whole town came down to see us off and bid us godspeed, and as the cowboy band played "The Star Spangled Banner" it seemed as if we were leaving home.

There was a heavy frost on the ground when we got into Miles City early in the morning. No one was at the station. We had been told that the plans for a cowboy celebration had been changed entirely, and though the butte encircled town was lovely to look upon the greeting accorded us seemed a bit chilly.

Surprise at the Start.

It was part of the plan, however, to burst upon the train in the full glory of unexpectedness. From the vacant places there sprang up, at half past 8, cowboys and cowgirls, real ones, gay with silk neckerchiefs, beaded Indian gauntlets, furry chapps, and sparkling boots with shiny spurs. With them there came a cowboy band with the first saxophones in it that we have heard since we left home.

The women from the train were bundled into automobiles and the rest of the town that wasn't driving us about stood on the street corners and cheered. After they were all settled on the steps of the Elks building the town had its parade.

First there came Larry Mott, who is mayor of the town, and Wert Newcomb, head roundup man. Back of them was the old Deadwood coach, with Bill Hawkins atop it. Behind the coach was Trapper Morrison in the outfit which he wore in 1874. He was a majestic figure on his white horse, with his long, Indianlike hair and leading a pony from whose saddle hung an eagle, a white fox skin, a buffalo robe, and a doe which he shot this morning.

Visit Mess Wagon.

Behind Trapper Morrison was a typical roundup mess wagon, in charge of Butch, a famous old roundup cook, who later proved his skill when he fed the crowd at the fair grounds. After that there were about a hundred cowboys and cowgirls, who rode by decorously at first and then broke into a racing gallop, shooting and screaming and cheering for the women of the train.

The street in front of the Elks' building was filled with people who listened attentively and cheered each speaker.

In the meantime Mrs. Raymond Robins went out to the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad shops, where the men had been given half an hour off to listen to her talk. They were almost to a man Democrats, but they listened attentively and thanked her individually for talking to them, and Mrs. Robins says that it was the best audience she has talked to for two years.

Roundup the Real Thing.

After the speeches were over we went to the great horse market and then to the roundup. It was only a small roundup, the officials explained, but it was all real stuff. The cowboys themselves came up and shook hands—Michigan Slim, Denver Sherman, the champion steer rider of Montana and the second champion of the world, who rode the steer bareback and backward, and twenty-five or thirty others.

Corda Houghlun, a great, rangy cowboy, with an orange silk shirt that bellied out in the breeze as he galloped by, spoke his mind to one of the women of the train, who begs that her name be omitted. She had asked him to write his name on the big silk kerchiefs which had been given to each of us, and he said: "I can't write much, and I can't read much, but I can work and I can love."

With such a proposal of marriage there wasn't a thing lacking to make the day the most romantic one imaginable. After the roundup we all went to the mess wagon and had delicious food, cooked by Butch's skillful hands.

Everybody talked to everybody else, the band played all the time, and we all began to wish we could miss the train.

The unknown quantity in the presidential election in Montana this year is the vote of the women. It will be their first use of the franchise. The brilliant reception in Miles City, our first stop in the state, seems significant in view of that fact.

WILL PROTEST CARNIVAL.

South Halsted Street Business Men Object to Permit for Unlimited Stay of Celebration.

Business men of South Halsted street are planning a protest to the city authorities against the issuance of a carnival permit to an organization representing itself as the "South Halsted Street Business Men's association." The organization obtained a permit for a street carnival to be held in Halsted, from Thirty-fourth to Thirty-eighth streets, yesterday for an indefinite stay. According to the business men the principal thing promoted at street carnivals is a variety of "catch penny semi-gambling devices." They will voice their complaint to the chief of police and the mayor.

VACANT AND FLAT SALES FEATURE REALTY MARKET

One Downtown Transaction Is Closed—Motor Company Takes Long Lease.

Outlying south side vacant, Sheridan road vacant, downtown business, and south and north side apartment house properties figured in yesterday's real estate market news. The south side acres comprised a strip starting at East Eighty-seventh street, extended, and running along the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railway to 370 feet north of Ninety-fifth street, and containing sixty acres. It was conveyed by the Calumet and Chicago Canal and Dock company to the Chicago State Line Railroad company, for a stated consideration of $45,000. The property is contiguous to the Nickel Plate right of way.

There was filed for record the transfer by Ruth B. Chase of Ocean Springs, Miss., to Charles A. Chase of Superior, Wis., of the property at the northwest corner of Sheridan road and Belmont avenue, 250x331 feet, south front, the revenue stamps on the document indicating a consideration of $30,000.

Downtown Property Sold.

The downtown transaction was the transfer by H. A. Hubbard to William J. Foster and Samuel B. Panama of the property in Lake street forty-three feet west of Franklin street, lot 20x100 feet, south front, with three story brick building. The consideration was nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $20,000, but the figure is said to have been $40,000. The board of review valued the property at $36,346.

The twenty-four apartment building at the southeast corner of Prairie avenue and Sixty-ninth street, lot 98x125 feet, was conveyed by Mary E. Flavin to H. F. Meyer, the consideration being nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $45,000. The grantee then conveyed to Finis L. Bates, consideration nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $55,000.

The eighteen apartment building at the southwest corner of Malden street and Sunnyside avenue, 119x150 feet, has been sold by F. A. Hastings to Christian R. Walleck for a reported consideration of $95,000, subject to an incumbrance of $49,500, the building, it is stated, having a gross annual rent of $12,000. The purchaser conveyed a tract of 100 lots between Twelfth and Sixteenth streets, Oak Park and Home avenues, Oak Park, at a reported valuation of $40,000.

Motor Sales Company Leases.

The Schillo Motor Sales company, located at 1452 Michigan avenue, has leased from the Centaur Motor Company of Illinois, distributors of the Jeffery automobile, the three story terra cotta front building at 2246 Michigan avenue for a term of years at a reported term rent of about $55,000.

The new location will give the company about twice the space furnished by its present quarters. The company is also erecting a large service station at 2931 South Wabash avenue. The company recently acquired the Hupmobile line and the Mercer and Milburn electric. Mark Levy & Bro. represented both parties.

There was filed for record a lease by the Western Plumbing and Supply company to Charles T. Weinshenker of the one story brick building at 3214-3228 Fillmore street, together with the use of the elevated switch track of the Baltimore and Ohio Chicago Terminal railway, for a term of ten years from Nov. 1, 1916, at a stated term rent of $33,0[illegible].

Deal in St. Louis Avenue.

Record was made of the transfer by Hiram De Camp to Joe Desplaines of the property in St. Louis avenue 158 feet south of Monroe street, 22x155 feet, and other property, for an expressed consideration of $38,500, subject to an incumbrance of $22,500. Desplaines then conveyed to John E. Crawford the premises 112-116 St. Louis avenue, 115 feet south of Monroe street, lot 66x159 feet, east front, with improvements, for an expressed consideration of $38,000, subject to existing incumbrances.

The property at the northeast corner of Peoria and Van Buren streets, 70x125 feet, with store and flat improvements, has been conveyed by Samantha E. Drake to Abraham J. Franks, the consideration being nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $26,000.

W. E. Meyers & Co. have sold for Jacob Bernstein to Precise and Rose Fabrini the six flat building at 119-121 East Twenty-ninth street, near Michigan boulevard, for a reported consideration of $20,100, subject to an incumbrance of $12,000. The purchaser conveyed in exchange the eight flat building at 907 North Franklin street, subject to $5,290.

$60,000 Loan at 6 Per Cent.

The Fort Dearborn Trust and Savings bank is trustee in a loan of $60,000, ten years, at 6 per cent, to John Haselton, secured by the Merchants Bank building at 4649 South State street, lot 78x161 feet.

The Chicago Title and Trust company is trustee in a loan of $55,000, seven years, at 6 per cent, to E. J. Stevens, secured by the Kenwood apartments at 6100-18 Kenwood avenue on a lot 97x166 feet.

Record was made of the purchase by Raymond G. Hancock from Mabel T. Merritt of a tract of 223x119 feet at the southwest corner of Mingo and Wabansia avenues, and other property, consideration nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $21,300.

At the "get together" luncheon of the Cook county real estate board at the Hotel Sherman yesterday Recorder Joseph F. Connery was handed a package. It was mysteriously wrapped in yellow and black tissue paper, decorated with pumpkin heads. Inside was a bird cage, from the top of which hung a likeness of Mr. Connery. Attached to the bars were devices like these: "Keep him in four years more and watch the Torrens system grow." "Gee whiz, Mister, what would happen if he got out." "Progress and Prosperity."

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Money was in better demand and discount rates were quiet today. The stock market was quiet and about the only feature was the weakness in American shares on possible complications arising from the submarine warfare. The declines, however, merely reflected Wall street, and owing to the absence of speculation, there was no excitement. The rest of the market was dull and uncertain as dealers are holding off pending statements in parliament in connection with a vote of credit. Nigerian tin and rubber and diamond shares were good features and oil stocks were steady. American securities closed easy. Bar silver, 32 5-16d per ounce. Money, 5¼ per cent. Discount rates, short bills, 5½@5⅝ per cent; three months, 5½@5⅝ per cent.

PARIS, Oct. 10.—Trading was dull on the bourse today. Rentes, 61 francs 60 centimes. Exchange on London, 27 francs 81½ centimes. Five per cent loan, 90 francs.

Missouri Pacific.

X., Peoria, Ill.—It probably will take some months to complete the foreclosure of the Missouri Pacific and take the property out of the receivership. Both old stock carrying the $50 assessment and new shares on which the assessment has been paid, are traded in. The former is quoted at about 5 and the latter at 23. The reorganization plan will reduce the fixed interest bearing obligations by $60,552,558. The amount of common stock will be unchanged, and there will be $76,751,635 of cumulative preferred. Gross earnings in the year ended June 30 last were $31,589,056; net, $5,422,237; deficit after fixed charges, $1,352,021. Evidently these earnings would be sufficient to pay the fixed charges of the new company and leave a substantial amount for the preferred stock.

Farm Loan Banks.

L. G., Waterloo, Ia.—The location of the new farm loan banks, the time when they will begin operations, and the rate that they will charge for loans have not been decided definitely. When and if they issue bonds under the law as it now stands, the bonds will be exempt from all taxes. They will naturally not be liable to sudden or wide fluctuation. The law has been discussed heretofore.

Brief Answers.

K. W. G., Rockford, Ill.—Improvement bonds in the smaller cities of Illinois have an excellent record. The soundness of any particular bond depends on the property adjacent to the improvement. Six per cent mortgages on farms in the eastern half of Oklahoma are good if the loan is intelligently and conservatively made. Similarly, Chicago apartment building bonds are good if the building is desirable and the margin of security ample.

A. B. C.—The early maturity bonds of a serial issue are more sought after because it is presumed that even if the property on which the bonds are a lien should not pay the owners will raise the money to meet early maturities in the hope of making profits later.

F. B.—The motor promotion you ask about has no general office yet as far as we know. Its only business now is the sale of stock and that is managed in brokers' offices.

Does Prohibition Prohibit?

—And, DOES Prohibition promote temperance, and, DOES it lessen court costs, and municipal expense?

We are not disposed to heap ridicule upon Denver because of its experiences with Prohibition, but we are constrained to utilize the following convincing testimony showing how Prohibition worked out in that city last month (September 1916): Our authority is the Denver POST.

From THE DENVER POST, October 1, 1916

"There were 87 disturbance cases tried this past month (Denver Dry) as compared with 72 a year ago (Denver Wet).

"The new system of the police in prosecuting all persons arrested for drunkenness resulted in 251 being haled before the police judge last month" (Denver supposed to be DRY) as NOW MARK THIS!—"as compared with only 25 in September, 1915" (DENVER WET).

"Twenty-one offenders were fined a total of $2,100 for 'peddling' liquor, and about 60 per cent of these paid fines ranging from $100 to $150 each."

So the record proves that after nine months' trial of Prohibition, Denver, experimenting with the "cure all" that prohibitionists prescribed for that city, is staggering from the effect of being dosed with a so-called remedy that has tended to aggravate conditions instead of supplying relief.

What the Chicago Brewers' Association suggested to the CHICAGO COMMISSION ON THE LIQUOR PROBLEM

"We believe that this problem (the liquor question) is too large to be measured by its fiscal side only. We chiefly wish to show what we sincerely believe to be the fact, that the public is not interested in curtailing its own liberties or restricting its own conveniences, further than to readjust certain present circumstances of the liquor traffic, and that Prohibition proceeds from the persuasion, which we think wholly erroneous, that these circumstances are inseparable from any open conduct of retail distribution.

"Among these circumstances may be mentioned the maintenance of saloons in excess of the natural economic demand; the consequent artificial stimulation of trade; questionable forms of entertainment; stalls, snugs, floor screens, and the like—as well as more definite and specific social evils, such as gambling and prostitution, whose relation to it is purely adventitious.

"With regard to these abuses, especially those related to vice and crime, we are in accord with a just public opinion. It is our belief that the saloon is a social convenience whose value is not to be lightly disregarded or thoughtlessly sacrificed. It is to our interest—our commercial as well as moral interest—that they should be decent places of reasonable refreshment, and social resort. We have no sympathy with any feature that stands in the way of this aim; and in furtherance of both our business interests and the moral interests of the community, we will gladly co-operate in eliminating them."

One page of prescribed, honest, reasonable regulation, strictly enforced, is worth more than a statute book full of Prohibition law which cannot be enforced.

U-BOAT FRIGHT IS SHORT LIVED; MARKET RALLIES

Quick Recovery from Crash Evidences Inherent Strength of the Bull Movement.

Disappearance for the day at least of the German submarine or submarines was sufficient to lead to the restoration of confidence in the market and substantially all issues advanced with a rather cheerful feeling throughout.

The course of prices at the close on Monday and the tone yesterday covered the essentials of a bull market. Ordinarily after such a crash as the market experienced on Monday there would follow a rally succeeded by irregularity and weakness. In the present situation strength has been shown of such a broad character as to suggest that the public is behind prices with confidence that higher market values are warranted.

There was much talk during the day of restriction of export trade because of submarine activity. Meanwhile the progress of a 1,000,000 share market continued little disturbed.

Possibilities of future submarine operations were ignored.

Decrease in Unfilled Tonnage.

The monthly statement of unfilled tonnage of the United States Steel corporation for September showed a decrease of 137,775 tons, compared with unfilled orders on Aug. 31. The total on Sept. 30 of this year was 9,522,584 tons.

The decrease was accepted as being due to the fact that the mills are working to capacity and in that position would be obliged to refuse new business.

The unfilled tonnage on Sept. 30, compared with 9,660,357 on Aug. 31, 9,593,592 July 31, and 5,317,618 on Sept. 30, 1915. The September unfilled orders show a decrease of 415,214 tons, compared with the record figures of 9,937,798 tons reported last May.

Southern Railway Annual.

At the annual meeting of the Southern railway at Richmond yesterday the action of the directors in deferring the dividend on the preferred stock was approved. The statement of the Southern railway for the year ended June 30 shows that the gross operating revenue increased $7,798,166, while the net after taxes had been deducted increased $7,609,090. The increase in other income was $188,108, making the increase in total income $7,787,059. The surplus increased $7,733,341, which is equal to 5.20 per cent on the outstanding $120,000,000 of common stock, after allowing for 5 per cent on the preferred stock. This percentage compares with 2.66 per cent earned on the preferred stock the previous year. The damage to Southern railway property occasioned by storms in July is estimated at $1,250,000.

Westinghouse Shows Gain.

Westinghouse Air Brake for the year ended July 31 shows a gain in sales of nearly 600 per cent over the previous year. The profits amounted to $9,393,105, compared with $1,575,834 in 1915. The surplus after dividend deductions amounted to $6,255,131, compared with a deficit of $1,564,822 in 1915.

Western Union Earnings.

Western Union in its statement for August shows an increase in gross earnings of $1,094,106 and in net of $411,619. The surplus increased $394,983. For eight months the gross increased $6,553,393 and the net $2,192,158, while the surplus increased $2,031,060.

Pullman Company Report.

President J. S. Runnells of the Pullman company yesterday issued the annual report, showing slightly different figures from the statements received two weeks ago from the east. Net income for the fiscal year ended July 31 was $12,380,367, which is equal to 10.3 per cent on the $120,000,000 outstanding stock. There were small changes in the balance sheet. The income account, with comparisons, follows:

New Tennessee Copper Stock.

The proposed issue of 200,000 shares of Tennessee Copper new stock probably will be underwritten by J. S. Rachend company and Adolph Lewisohn & Sons. Negotiations for underwritting are now in progress and if they are satisfactorily concluded it is expected Mr. Lewisohn will become president of the company.

It is proposed to offer new stock to present shareholders at $16 a share.

Canadian Paper Companies.

The unprecedented situation in the paper industry has occasioned considerable speculative enthusiasm in Canadian paper and pulp stocks. Trading in these issues on the Montreal and Toronto stock exchanges has increased materially and prices of the shares of different companies show advances of from 12 to 47 points.

American capital is extensively interested in Canadian paper mills. One company, the St. Maurice Pulp and Paper company, Ltd., is expected to prove the making of the Union Bag and Paper corporation, which owns about 75 per cent of the $5,000,000 stock outstanding.

Alaska Gold Mines.

Friends of the Alaska Gold Mines company do not expect improvement in earnings covering the next few months. There is said to be a large accumulation of low grade ore broken down in the upper level stopes, and this must be got out of the way and milled before opportunity is given for opening stopes in the lower levels, which are expected to yield a larger return.

Officials of the company are said to be convinced that the original scheme of opening up the stopes was a mistake in that it resulted in excessive caving and there are over 2,000,000 tons of this low grade ore that must be handled.

Large Spelter Orders Expected.

Preliminary negotiations have been entered into for what is expected to develop into large sales of spelter, a reflection of the big copper order.

The large zinc producers some time ago sold themselves into strong positions. This includes the American Zinc and Butte and Superior companies. It is claimed among producers that practically all supplies of spelter available before the end of the year have been contracted for.

NEWS OF THE FINANCIAL WORLD

Railroad convertible bonds are regarded in New York as affording possibilities for the investor who wishes a good degree of safety and a chance for a larger profit than can be derived from the ordinary bond. It is pointed out that railroad convertibles are still near their low levels of the year, while the railroad stocks have advanced.

The Italian government has made its reappearance in the New York copper market as an individual customer, an inquiry having been received for 1,000,000 pounds. Delivery is asked for in January of next year. This is the first indication of possible buying by Italy for next year's delivery.

Atchison, Anaconda, United States Steel, and Union Pacific issues are reported by specialists as being well bought. Several influential houses are advising their clients to buy Lackawanna, Steel, and Great Northern Ore, saying the feverish market is providing good buying opportunities.

The Rock Island earned nearly 4 per cent on its stock last year and for the first two months of the present fiscal year the gross increased nearly $2,000,000. On the basis of last year's expenses this figures above 12 per cent on the shares.

The McCrory Stores corporation reports for September sales of $556,281, against $418,980 for the corresponding month last year, an increase fo 30.27 per cent. From Jan. 1 to Sept. 30, sales totaled $4,392,655, a gain of 17.01 per cent.

In New York banking circles it is sai there is no menace in the sudden rise in call money rates, large sums being attracted to the market by the strength, which latter is expected soon to disappear.

The figures of the annual report of the International Agricultural corporation indicate that earnings for the last fiscal year were equal to 7 per cent on the preferred and 1.65 per cent on the common.

The New York Air Brake company's profits for the third quarter of the current year are estimated to be between $15 and $20 a share, making net for the nine months of 1916 about $70 a share.

Friends of the Sinclair Oil and Refining company assert the concern will show in its fiscal year to end next April 30 $10,500,000 net, or at the rate of $20 a share.

Predictions are made on the stock exchange that if the situation clears toward the end of the week pools will resume specialty operations.

Continued heavy purchased of zinc ore has put most grades at $10 a ton higher. The average now is from $55 to $70 for varying grades.

Considerable certainty that the dividend on Chesapeake and Ohio stock will be restored next month is being expressed.

A good demand is reported for the Erie stocks and there is said to be a resumption of accumulations of Reading.

American Sugar's Large Earnings.

The advance in American Sugar Refining shares appears to be based on earnings. In the first nine months of the current year the company earned not only the full year's 7 per cent dividend on the $45,000,000 common stock, but twice that amount in addition, or 21 per cent, with three months' earnings to come. The last quarter of the year is not usually so good as the preceding three.

The outlook for 1917 is not regarded as being as flattering as the results of this year. The price of raw sugars will be considerably higher.

Chicago Securities.

Normal activity characterized trading on the local stock exchange, and while prices were irregular, they were generally above the previous day's close, Swift & Co. shares were an exception, though this stock had practically regained on Monday its former high level. The close yesterday was at 174, the same as that of the previous day.

People's Gas on the execution of a market order advanced on the New York exchange to 113 from a previous close at 111⅞. The final quotation was 115½. There was a relatively small volume of buying.

A feature of the local market was a revival of activity in Chicago Elevated Railways common. It has been months since there was a movement in this issue and the sudden activity was taken to indicate belief in the general betterment of the local street railroad situation. The price advanced from 10¼ to 11⅞.

Chicago City and Connecting Railways preferred continued active, opening at 35, against the previous day's close at 33¾. Profit taking resulted in a decline to 34, the final quotation.

Stewart-Warner common and Sears-Roebuck common were firm, while Chicago Title & Trust had a 4½ point advance to 220 on small buying.

In the bond department Commonwealth Edison 5s were active and firm, selling up to 102⅜. Other issues were steady.

Money and Exchange.

Money rates in Chicago steady at 4 per cent on collateral, 3½ per cent on commercial paper, and 4½@5 per cent over the counter. New York exchange sold 15c discount. Chicago bank clearings were $77,051,258.

Dividends Declared.

Kerr Lake Mining, regular quarterly dividend, 25 cents per share, payable Dec. 15 to stock of record Dec. 1.

Reo Motor Car, 10 per cent cash, payable Nov. 11 to stockholders of record Oct. 15. The dividend which was to have been declared Sept. 28 was deferred on account of the consolidation of the Reo Car and Reo Truck companies, which necessitated a transfer of all Truck stock.

Railroad Earnings.

WESTERN PACIFIC—August operating revenues increased $84,005; operating income increased $50,377. From July 1 operating revenues increased $154,715; operating income increased $100,590.

Submarine Alarm Subsides; Technical Situation Held Strengthened.

BAROMETER OF THE MARKET

Average of Closing Prices of Twenty Leading New York Stocks

Tuesday, Oct. 10	94.92
Monday, Oct. 9	93.96
Net gain for the day	.96
Year ago, day of week	*89.14

The twenty stocks are: Anaconda Copper, American Car and Foundry, American Smelting, American Telephone, Atchison, Baltimore and Ohio, Brooklyn Rapid Transit, Chesapeake and Ohio, Erie, Great Northern preferred, New York Central, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Reading, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, St. Paul, American Sugar, Union Pacific, and United States Steel.

ORDER AGAIN RESTORED.

New York, Oct. 10.—The quakes and tremors experienced by yesterday's stock market were lacking today, trading proceeding in orderly fashion and for the most part to higher levels. The alarm occasioned by Germany's submarine operations seemed to have subsided, although an undercurrent of caution was indicated, especially in the final hour, when United States Steel and other leaders yielded a point or more of their best.

General or public interest in the market doubtless received a check in consequence of yesterday's enforced liquidation, but the technical situation, in the judgment of impartial observers, has been strengthened. Stocks have gone into stronger hands, thereby minimizing the danger of such reversals as accompanied yesterday's early trading.

Rail Issues Active.

A noteworthy feature of the dealings, which again attained a large total, was the activity and strength of many moderate and lower priced railway issues, embracing most of the roads traversing western, southwestern, and southern territories. Gains in these stocks ranged from one to four points and were accounted for in large part by the publication of the annual statement of the Southern Railway.

Other strong features included sugar and gas issues at gains of 2 to 6 points, American Hide and Leather preferred, which rose 7 points; New York Air Brake, Studebaker, and Maxwell Motors, International Paper common and preferred, Union Bag and Paper preferred, American Zinc, and leading coppers.

United States Steel Gains.

United States Steel made an extreme gain of 1¼ points and Reading, Lehigh Valley, and Union Pacific were better by as much as two points. Marines and allied stocks rose 2 to 3 points, but shaded at the close.

Bonds were strong with extensive trading in railroad issues, the feature being Southern Railway 4s, which rose five points on the company's favorable statement. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

BOSTON STOCK QUOTATIONS.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 10.—The local market opened strong today and ruled firm throughout with prices generally advancing. American Zinc gained 2⅛. Mohawk, 2¼; Old Dominion, 1⅜; Atlantic Gulf, 1⅜; Copper Range, 1⅜; Granby, 1¼; Tamarack, 1½; United Fruit, 1½; New Haven, 1⅛. Swift was active and strong. The initial transaction in the rights when issued was at $10. Call money ruled at 3 per cent. Time loans, short dates, 3¼@3½ per cent. Time loans, six months, 3⅞@4 per cent; time loans, year, 4¼@4½ per cent.

Argentine news was the big feature in wheat yesterday, and overshadowed the submarine developments. With the continued good demand reported there was little pressure on the market and prices advanced sharply, closing ⅜@2⅜c higher for the day, the December gaining on both the May and July. The fear that ocean traffic from this country would be restricted did not appear to be a big factor in the market, and exporters were of the opinion all the wheat this country has to spare will be wanted.

The English government has taken over entire control of the purchase and distribution of breadstuffs in the United Kingdom, according to an official announcement yesterday. What the effect of this will be is not known, but it was thought the action was to conserve supplies and keep prices down abroad by restricting operations of speculators.

Liberal Export Flour Sales.

The cash demand was fair, and export sales of 40,000 brls of flour from Omaha were reported as well. Local sales of wheat were 30,000 bu, and there was some business via the gulf. Cables were ½d off to 1d up. Buenos Aires was 2½c up, and private cables said drought conditions were serious, with prices advancing.

The Canadian visible increased 3,757,000 bu. The European visible increased 5,700,00 bu. Receipts here were 90 cars, with primary receipts 1,849,000 bu. Northwest arrivals were 964 cars and Winnipeg had 1,256 cars, against 1,691 cars a year ago. Clearances for the day were 529,000 bu.

Armour Leads Corn Buying.

Corn showed a good deal of strength. December led in the advance with prices ⅝@⅞c higher, while the May was ⅜@½c higher. Armour was the leading buyer. Reports from Argentina are bullish, and Europe is said to be buying more corn as a substitute for flour. Receipts were moderate at 103 cars and primary arrivals were 627,000 bu. Cables were ½d up to ½d off.

Weather conditions were favorable throughout the belt. Offerings of new corn continue strong. Cash prices were firmer and there were sales of 375,000 bu, part for export. Commission houses were fair buyers early, and there was some covering by shorts.

Oats Close Is Higher.

Oats were strong in sympathy with corn and wheat. There was little pressure, and the big receipts do not seem to cause much selling. Resting prices were ⅜c to ⅜@½c higher. The cash market was firm with the futures, sales being 100,000 bu. Receipts were 282 cars and primary receipts were 1,810,000 bu. Clearances were 352,000 bu.

Provisions were irregular. Deferred deliveries were a little firmer, with fair commission house buying. Packers were credited with buying nearby stuff. There was some realizing by longs on the big receipts of hogs, which were 21,000, with 32,000 the estimate for today. Western receipts were 83,000, against 71,900 a year ago. Hogs were a little lower at the yards. Liverpool prices were 6s up on cash lard; 2s on shoulders, 1s on hams, and 6d on backs and Cumberlands. The shipping trade was fairly active. Receipts of products were 29 cars and shipments were 77 cars.

Rye Firm; Barley Lower.

Rye was firm, with sales of No. 2 at $1.26½@1.27 and No. 3, $1.26½. Receipts were 16 cars.

Barley ruled 1c lower. Malting was quoted 86c@$1.14 and sold 86c@1.12; feed and mixing quotable, 73@85c, with sales at 80@82c; screenings were quoted 55@80c and skimmings 60@68c, with former selling at 78c. Receipts, 108 cars.

Timothyseed was quiet. October sold at $5.35 and March closed $5.82½ bid and $6.00 asked; cash lots sold $3.25@4.75. Cloverseed held steady with cash lots quoted $12.00@16.00.

Duluth flax closed 4½@5½c higher, October, $2.46½; December, $2.43¼, and May, $2.48⅜. Receipts, 34 cars. Minneapolis was 5½c higher, with cash on track, $2.45¼@2.49¼. Receipts were 67 cars. Winnipeg closed 3⅝@4c higher. October, $2.28; December, $2.24⅜. Receipts, 7 cars.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE

A late message from the seaboard said Lloyds had increased insurance rates on Atlantic shipping 100 per cent. This indicated there was considerable anxiety abroad over the situation. Bull leaders expressed the opinion that, while the submarine attack doubtless would induce more caution in shipping circles, there would be no less demand for wheat. Exporters here reported a good inquiry, with prices well maintained, while it was said to be more difficult to buy in the west and southwest. No material change was noted in premiums. Most of the local exporters were of the opinion that the export movement of grain would suffer little interruption.

Export sales were reported of a few loads at Omaha with a little gulf business. The congestion at gulf ports is being relieved to some extent. Local sales were 30,000 bu. Omaha reported sales of 40,000 bu. In the northwest milling grades of wheat were in good demand. Cash corn was firm to ½c higher with sales of 375,000 bu. Oats were steady to ½c up and sales were 100,000 bu. Part of the corn sold was for export. Country sales of corn were moderate.

The possibility that corn meal will be more extensively used to mix with wheat flour is being used as a bull factor in corn. In some quarters it is said that the increased export buying of corn is the result of the demand for a cheaper substitute for wheat flour. This would be natural in view of the high price of flour. The greater use of corn in Europe would be a big factor in stimulating the demand. Corn generally is of good quality this year.

Canadian visible supply of wheat increased 3,757,000 bu for the week, while oats increased 689,000 bu, and barley increased 239,000 bu. Comparative totals follow:

	This week.	Last week.	Last year.
Wheat, bu	14,140,000	10,383,000	13,809,000
Oats, bu	12,055,000	11,366,000	1,344,000

Receipts inspected yesterday: Wheat, 90 cars; corn, 103 cars; oats, 282 cars, rye, 16 cars, and barley, 108 cars. Hogs estimated for today, 32,000 head.

New members elected yesterday were: J. R. Pickell, Lewis F. Gifford, A. R. Taylor, Walter H. Murphy, Heath T. Byford.

Last sales of board of trade memberships were at $7,300 net to the buyer, the highest price so far paid.

The United Kingdom visible supply of wheat showed an increase for the week of 4,700,000 bu.

Argentine freights are now about 80c for wheat and 75c for corn.

SUGAR.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—SUGAR—Following prices were quoted by wholesale dealers per 100 lbs: Cut loaf, H. & E., $8.63; powdered, standard, $7.71; standard cane granulated, $7.43; beet granulated, $7.33; extra C, $7.18; canary, $6.83.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The local market for raw sugar was strong and prices were ⅛c higher on sales of 5,000 bags of Cubas to a local refiner for prompt shipment at 5 1-6c cost and freight, which is equal to 6.08c for centrifugal and 5.18c for molasses. Yesterday and early today sales were said to amount to about 200,000 bags of Cubas centrifugal for prompt and various shipments at 5c cost and freight, equal to 6.02c for centrifugal. The market closed firm with holders asking 5⅛c for Cubas, although refiners were not inclined to pay above 5 1-6c. In refined there was a pretty fair business reported, and withdrawals on old contracts were moderate, although refiners were still said to be behind in deliveries. Prices were unchanged on the basis of 7c for fine granulated, except one refiner, who advanced prices 25 points to basis of 7.25c. The advance in raws led to quite an active buying movement in futures and closing prices were 7 to 11 points above last night's quotations. Shorts were good buyers and there was a little better demand from outside sources with final prices only a point or two below the best point of the day. Sales were 15,750 tons. October sold from 5.15c to 5.22c, closing 5.17c; December, 4.77@4.85c, closing 4.83c; January, 4.39@4.48c, closing 4.46c; March, 4.12@4.18c, closing 4.16c; May, 4.24c, closing 4.22c.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—COFFEE—The market for futures opened at unchanged prices to a decline of 7 points under scattered selling which was probably inspired by reports of an easier tone in the cost and freight situation late yesterday. Offerings did not seem to be particularly heavy, but there was very little support in evidence and after some little irregularity the market eased off to 8.70c for March and 8.75c for May, or about 8 to 10 points net lower. The close was a point or two up from the lowest on covering, with prices showing a net loss of 4 to 8 points. Sales, 21,250 bags. Closing bids: October, 8.75c; November, 8.73c; December, 8.60c; January, 8.59c; February, 8.69c; March, 8.70c; April, 8.74c; May, 8.78c; June, 8.82c; July, 8.87c; August, 8.91c; September, 8.95c. Spot coffee steady; Rio 7s, 9⅝c; Santos 4s, 11⅝c. Cost and freight offers were unchanged to a shade higher. Sales of well described 4s were reported late yesterday at 10.25c London credits, but the day's offers ranged from 10½c to 10⅝c. The official cables reported no change in the primary markets, but an advance of 1-16d in Rio exchange on London. Brazilian port receipts, 76,000 bags; Jundiahy, 43,000.

OILS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—OILS—Wholesale price on carbon and other oils: Standard white, 10c; perfection, 10½c; headlight, 175, 12⅝c; elaine, 19½c; V. M. Showing general losses of 5c in the early trading, the hog market at Chicago yesterday rallied and finished strong. Last sales were slightly better than Monday's average, and the top price was 5c higher, being $10.05. Receipts were larger than expected at 20,000 head and early trade was slow. A brisk packing demand developed and prices were quick to respond. Pigs were generally 10c lower under liberal supplies.

Good steer cattle held steady, but weakness was shown in the balance of the list. Range stock comprised half of the receipts of 10,000 head and packers gave preference to this kind, which ruled steady to firm. Prospects of a liberal run today curtailed trade in the plain grade steers. Cows and heifers as a rule were 10@15c lower, while bulls were weak to 10c lower. Calves declined 25@50c, with best bringing $11.25. Stock and feed cattle were also weaker.

Sheep and Lambs Weaker.

Most of the native lambs were 25c lower, although fancy ones were higher early, topping at $10.65. Native ewes ruled steady, many selling at $7.25. Range sheep and lambs were uneven, many of them showing a decline. Receipts were 28,000 head.

DREXEL DOINGS
A Bulletin of Up-to-Minute Facts

It is one thing to make a blue-print of a car, have a skillful artist make a drawing of it, and then—organize a company to build the car.

¶ It is quite another thing to develop a real organization, produce a practical automobile, and build it in quantities that permit a fair-sized profit. This we have done—and we have a factory with over $250,000 worth of paid-for machinery and materials in it right now. Go out to the factory—76th and Wallace Sts.—and see what we have done—are doing. Prove to yourself that this stock is safe.

We cordially invite all men and young men particular about the clothes they wear to this exposition of clothing, shoes, hats and haberdashery now known as the

AUTUMN OCCASION
For Men and Young Men

Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week

THIS PERIOD marks the authentic presentation of clothes styles for fall as styles concern the precise requirements in such matters of the man of affairs and his son—and it also offers most emphatic proof of the successful preparations accomplished by this Men's Store to be in an enviable position to serve men and young men who appreciate the real qualities which make for value in things material.

Among other lines—Stein-Bloch clothes for men and young men are presented exclusively in Chicago by this Men's Store.

Hats Designed and Trimmed in Our Own Workrooms

True to our idea of specializing for women of every type, we now present a complete display of matronly millinery. So carefully selected as to style and becomingness, so beautifully made and such variety of trimmings, that the most fastidious taste will find ample selection.

$5.00, $7.50 and $10.00

Draped turbans with brims, draped toques, hats draped to give height, some trimmed with fur, some with gold motifs, others with breasts and wings. A complete display and a special section devoted to this showing.

The Gordon-Detwiler Institute announces that a New Course for Beginners in Conversational French will be given this Fall, commencing this week.

The instruction, using the noted Gordon-Detwiler Conversational Method, will be under the direction of one of the world's foremost professors and French scholars—

BARON ALBERT DU VIVIER

The course consists of thirty lessons, to be given twice a week, commencing this week, Thursday. The cost is nominal, being only ten dollars for the whole course.

Conversation is guaranteed in this course. You will acquire a vocabulary of about a thousand words, and the ability to use them, as well as nearly two hundred everyday idiomatic expressions. A man is as many times a man as he speaks languages. If you would learn this most beautiful of modern languages do not let this opportunity escape you.

Today, at the various hours shown above, the first lesson of this great course will be given for the benefit of those who would like to see a lesson before enrolling. Come without obligation.

The Social Life at the Moraine Offers Many Attractions

There is always something doing socially at the Moraine. The very nicest people in Chicago live here by the year, and the vicinity of Fort Sheridan, with its coterie of army officers, adds to the interest in the dances, teas, dinner dances and other gaiety of the winter season.

Large, Airy Rooms, Single or En Suite, At Most Reasonable Rates

Rates at the Moraine are MOST reasonable. The rooms are delightfully airy, large and luxuriously appointed. The air you breathe here, in the heart of the big woods, is clean, pure and free of dirt, smoke and dust. You'll enjoy dreamless nights of perfect rest. The table is unapproachable. Our representative will be glad to call on you and explain about our special winter rates now in effect.

Only 34 Minutes to Chicago on De Luxe Trains

In Chicago most people spend longer than that on dirty, smelly, overcrowded street cars or "L" trains. On the C. & N. W. R. R. you get fine trains, always plenty of seats and the run is just long enough to give you time to read your paper in comfort. Trains all day and good theater train service.
